

EARLY DRAFTS OF TRUST LAW READY

Committee Ready to Consult Wilson.

THREE SUBJECTS COVERED

Greatest Emphasis Placed on Interlocking Directorates.

PRICE - FIXING IN MIND

Special Effort Made to Prevent Gentlemen's Understandings and Secret Agreements So Far as Is Possible.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—General outline of the tentative draft of anti-trust legislation prepared by majority members of the House committee on the Judiciary for action by the full committee, subject to a conference with President Wilson, became known today. The proposed bills so far have not the Administration stamp and they will be discussed at a conference between the President and the committee on the President's return.

The bills, drafted as a result of the conferences between Chairman Clayton, Representative Carlin, of Virginia, chairman of the trust committee and Representatives Floyd of Arkansas, McCoy of New Jersey and others, cover these three main points:

- First—Interlocking directorates.
- Second—Trade relations and prices.
- Third—Injunction proceedings and damage suits by individuals.

Individual Penalties Provided.

In every case President Wilson's idea of providing penalties for individuals as well as for corporations in case of violations has been followed. It was decided that it would be better to insert several bills instead of incorporating all the anti-trust propositions in an omnibus measure, supplementary to the Sherman act. An attempt to define combinations and conspiracies in restraint of trade as far as possible has been made in the bills already prepared. The bill to inhibit interlocking directorates is regarded by the committee members as the most important of the three. It deals not only with banks and trust companies, but applies to every industrial corporation engaged in interstate trade. The tentative draft of this measure provides:

"After the 23d of December, 1914, an officer or director of a Federal reserve bank, a branch bank, National bank or banking association or any state bank, banking association or trust company admitted to membership in the Federal reserve bank shall not be an officer or director of any other bank, banking association or trust company or of any financial corporation, institution or association engaged in the business of banking. Nor shall he engage in the banking business individually or as a member of a firm or association engaged in such business, nor shall he be an officer or director of any other corporation, organization or association, the principal part of whose authorized or actual business is to buy or sell or to hold the stock, bonds, securities or evidences of indebtedness of corporations, organizations or associations or to finance the sale of such stock, bonds, securities or evidences of indebtedness or to negotiate loans to corporations, organizations or associations; nor of any other corporation, organization or association owning stock or an interest in a corporation, organization or association connected with any such authorized or actual business."

"A director of class A of a Federal reserve bank may be an officer or a director of but one member bank."

Industrial Feature Sweeping.

The other two classes are prohibited in the currency law from holding the other offices.

This part of the measure was drafted by Representative McCoy, of New Jersey, and is understood to have the approval of Chairman Clayton, Mr. Carlin and other Judiciary members.

The effect of the industrial corporation feature of the interlocking directorate bill, the committee say, would be of the most sweeping character, cutting out the interlocking arrangements and enabling the directorships and control to pass to a large army of new men, instead of keeping the industrial control of various lines of activity in the hands of a few.

Under the terms no officer or director in any industrial corporation engaged in interstate trade would be permitted to be an officer or director in another industrial interstate corporation in allied business. Manufacturers of railroad cars, locomotives, railroad rails and structural steel, or men engaged in mining or selling coal, would be barred from becoming directors or other officers or employees of railroads engaged in interstate commerce.

Two Years' Delay Allowed.

The bill would not become effective until two years after passage, in order to allow adjustment of business arrangements. The other measures would take effect immediately upon passage. The bill designed to stop agreement for regulation of prices is designed to stop the controlling by wholesalers of the prices at which the manufactured articles shall be sold to the public and

GARMS AND CREW MAY HAVE SUNK

Schooner Reported in Dire Straits Off Cape Flattery.

Crescent, in Trouble Also, Unable to Render Assistance, and Tatoosh Is Dispatched.

SEATTLE, Wash., Jan. 9.—(Special.)—Dismasted and leaking badly, the four-masted American schooner William F. Garms is helplessly adrift 100 miles southwest of Cape Flattery and Captain J. Peterson, her master, and the crew of ten men are in grave danger of being lost. The powerful tug Tatoosh, which rescued the passengers of the steamer Washington, in peril at the mouth of the Columbia two years ago, was ordered to sea from Clallam Bay at 6 o'clock P. M. today.

News of the plight of the Garms was brought to Clallam Bay by the five-masted American schooner Crescent, which returned today in distress. Both vessels were in the recent gale which caused havoc along the coast and drove a score of ships to shelter.

The Crescent spoke the Garms last Wednesday. The vessel had been badly battered by the storm and only about 20 feet of her foremast was left standing. She was leaking and in grave danger of foundering. The Crescent, in her damaged condition, could render no aid. She had lost her own deck load in the storm, had her cabin stove in, when part of her cargo of timbers was carried away, and was leaking. The best the master of the Crescent could do was to promise to report the condition of the schooner as soon as he reached port.

The William F. Garms is owned by Olsen & Mahony, of San Francisco. She put to sea on December 28, bound for Santa Rosalia, Mexico, with a cargo of mining timbers loaded at Coupeville, Wash.

PARIS STYLES BOLDER YET

Brick Red Hair, Green Coats and Corkscrew Skirts Profer Mode.

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—(Special.)—Brick red hair, to be worn preferably with green coats and corkscrew skirts, is what the ladies of Paris are wearing, according to Charles C. Kurzman, a man milliner who has been abroad style-hunting. He arrived on the Lusitania today.

The corkscrew skirt can only be done by the fair wearer of the garment whirling round and round like a music-mad Dervish. Once safe inside it, she drapes a few yards of lace around in corkscrew style, and there you are.

With the brick red hair of the women and the sky blue locks of the more aesthetic of the Parisian dandies, Mr. Kurzman said that fashionable Paris looked like a futurist picture of a railroad yard on a rainy night.

TEACHERS LOSE BY FIRE

Belongings Found Destroyed on Return to Their Apartments.

Discovery that they had lost all their personal belongings by fire was made yesterday by Miss Steffen, Miss Neilson and Miss Foster, schoolteachers, when they returned to their apartments at 433 East Main street, between 4 and 5 o'clock yesterday. The place was conducted by Mrs. W. B. Fox, and the blaze, which was due to an overheated furnace, ate its way through two floors of the frame structure.

The building is owned by J. H. Rheelhart, of the Fred A. Jacobs company. The loss, not including personal property lost by patrons, amounts to about $1000, partially insured.

CAIRO, Ill., Jan. 9.—Mrs. John P. L. Glynn, wife of a wealthy warehouse owner, captured a negro burglar early today, marched him to the police station at the point of a revolver, and then fainted.

Mrs. Glynn, with her daughter, were alone in their home when they heard someone trying to get in the house. Mrs. Glynn picked up a revolver, opened the door and faced the negro. Taken by surprise, he obeyed her command to hold up his hands, and marched obediently to the police station.

In the event of the death of King Charles of Roumania, who is childless, the throne would revert to Prince Ferdinand, of Roumania, son of Prince Leopold of Hohenzollern-Sigmaringen and a nephew of King Charles. Prince Ferdinand was born August 24, 1865, and married Princess Marie, daughter of the Duke of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha.

Several arrests were made.

LYMAN SENTENCED TO TERM IN PRISON

Prisoner Begg Court for Mercy.

Plan for Reform is Made

Life to Be Devoted to Aiding First Offenders.

OWN STORY IS REVIEWED

Promoter Says Wife Left Him, Mother Died With Broken Heart, Friends Have Faded Like Snow Before Spring Sun.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 9.—Dr. John Grant Lyman, the Panama land promoter, received a penitentiary sentence of 15 months in the United States District Court here today for having used the mails to defraud. He announced tonight that on the completion of his term he would devote his life to trying to help first offenders.

His efforts in that line, he said, would be in Los Angeles, where before his arrest in 1911 he mingled in exclusive social and business circles and where afterward he was a prisoner for nearly two years in the county jail before he received his penitentiary sentence.

PHILANTHROPIST OFFERS TRACT

Lyman said that a tract of 70 acres, within 15 miles of Los Angeles, already had been offered by a philanthropist for the purpose of reclaiming first offenders and that he would do all in his power to further the work.

The court directed that sentence be carried out in the penitentiary at Florence, Ariz. Lyman himself addressed the court before sentence was passed and made misfortune a plea to temper justice with mercy.

"Twenty-eight months ago I had a devoted wife and a worshipping mother. I was a member of many clubs and had a high social standing," he said. "In an evil moment I broke my marriage vow. My wife had forgiven much, but when I was arrested as a felon she obtained a divorce. My mother died of a broken heart; my friends faded away as snow before a Spring sun and, alone in this court today, I ask that justice be tempered with mercy."

Stay of Execution Allowed.

The sentence was imposed on Lyman after Judge Wellborn, of the United States District Court, had overruled a motion for a new trial. Fifteen days' stay of execution was granted, however. (Concluded on Page 2.)

Leaders of Railway Workers Declare Entire Rail Service Will Be Stopped Today — Martial Law Is Expected.

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa, Jan. 9.—Attempts to dynamite three passenger trains and the arrest of principal strike leaders put a serious aspect on the strike situation of the South African Railways today.

Sticks of dynamite were exploded under the Cape mail train between Denver and Johannesburg tonight but no passengers were injured. The wheels of the engine were blown off and the track damaged. A second explosion occurred on the railway tonight between Johannesburg and Cleveland.

Track Walker Averts Wreck.

Another attempt to wreck a train was made between Witpoortje and Lupaardsville, but the charge of dynamite was found by a track walker just before the arrival of a crowded passenger train from Zierust.

The government is credited with a desire to fight the trades federation to an end.

The principal strike leaders arrested today are Toutsman, secretary, and Nield, assistant secretary of the Railwaymen's Society; Waterman, secretary of the South Africa labor party, and Conlin Wade, a labor member of the Germiston Town Council. They had been prominent in the last Rand strike. All were held without bail and charged with sedition.

Martial Law Expected.

It is declared that martial law will be declared in Pretoria tomorrow.

The Federation threatened to call a general strike unless the men arrested were liberated.

Three proclamations were gazetted in Pretoria today calling out the citizen forces throughout the Transvaal and the citizen reserves in many districts and prohibiting the sale or transportation of arms in the districts of

IRVINGTON HOME IS ROBBED OF JEWELS

Thousand-Dollar Loss Not Discovered For Hours.

Burglar Believed to Have Entered Residence of E. M. Whittle as Bulldog Guards.

Theft of more than $1000 worth of jewels and precious stones was reported Thursday to the police by Mrs. E. M. Whittle, wife of the superintendent of the coast division of the American Express Company. Mrs. Whittle reported the robbery Thursday, saying it must have occurred Wednesday night, when she and her husband and son attended a moving picture theater, leaving the valuables hidden in their home at 560 Schuyler street, Irvington.

Mrs. Whittle said she did not discover the theft until shortly before noon Thursday, when she prepared to take luncheon with friends. She went for her purse, which was in a drawer, and discovered that the money, a small amount, had been taken out and the drawers ransacked. Immediately going upstairs she further discovered that her jewel case, hidden with linen in a laundry bag, had been emptied. She then called the police. In the meantime Mr. Whittle had departed on a business trip to Denver, Colo., and knew nothing of the theft.

The police found marks of a heavy shoe on the stairway and also at one of the windows.

The stolen gems included diamond rings, brooches, amethysts, pearls and bracelets, all gifts from her husband. Mrs. Whittle saved 12 valuable settings, which she wore to the theater the night of the robbery.

A bulldog was in the house at the time the robbery is supposed to have occurred.

Taft and Eliot Differ

Compulsory Teaching of English in Philippines Becomes Issue.

BOSTON, Jan. 9.—A difference of opinion as to the merits of the policy of compulsory teaching of English among the Filipinos developed tonight between ex-President Taft and Dr. Charles W. Eliot, of Harvard. They were speakers at a banquet given to W. Cameron Forbes, ex-Governor-General of the Philippines.

After Dr. Eliot had said he was doubtful of the value of the plan, Mr. Taft remarked that compulsory teaching of English was necessary, because 12 or 13 different dialects were spoken, none of any great value.

"The natives are eager to learn English, and today English is spoken more than Spanish, the language which it has supplanted."

AIR LIFE PRESERVER TRIED

Girl Steps From Acroplane 850 Feet Up, Descends Safely.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 9.—One of two women passengers carried today by Glenn Martin, an aviator, stepped from his machine when it was 850 feet in the air. She reached the ground safely and demonstrated, to Martin's satisfaction, the practicability of an aerial life-preserver.

Spectators saw the girl, Miss Tiny Broadwick, fall 75 feet like a shot, with a parachute attachment on her shoulder, unfurling and she descended gradually and with no apparent effort at balance.

Martin said tonight he had been working on the idea two years.

MOYER SAYS HE'LL STAY IN DISTRICT

Union Leader Demands State Protection.

Governor Ferris Leaves

Fruitless Effort to Settle Industrial War Ends.

GRAND JURY IS ATTACKED

Miners' Federation Objects to Attorney-General's Presence During Proceedings — Course Warmly Defended.

HOUGHTON, Mich., Jan. 9.—Declaration of Charles H. Moyer that he intends to remain in the copper strike district as long as he pleases, intimations from union sources that the grand jury proceedings are to be attacked on legal grounds and the departure of Governor Ferris without making an effort to settle the trouble marked the progress of the local industrial war today.

Moyer appeared before a mass meeting of strikers and sympathizers which crowded the largest hall in Hancock beyond its capacity. Other speakers included Seymour Steadman, of the investigation committee of the Socialist party; J. W. Lord, of Peoria, Ill., and several local men of the same political faith.

Moyer explained that under the advice of physicians he could not make an extended absence.

Protection of Law Demanded.

"I came back here because I had a right to," he said. "Under the laws of Michigan and the Constitution of the United States I am entitled to protection. Those responsible for my leaving on December 26 violated the laws of the state and Nation by taking the law into their own hands and committed a crime for which they must be punished if there is any law at all in the State of Michigan."

"When the shot was fired into my back it was not into Moyer alone, but that shot reached every miner on the continent. It was a shot in the back of the working class, and especially into the back of all organized wage-workers."

Moyer said there had been no change in the policy of the Western Federation of Miners and referred to a statement made by Governor Ferris earlier in the day that "advice of outsiders would do more than anything else to prolong the strike."

Direct Conference Proposed.

The union leader said he had telegraphed to the Governor that he accepted the state executive's opinion that a conference between the men and employers would settle the difficulty and had asked him to propose such action, "to bring about a settlement and get the men back to work."

Interest in grand jury proceedings was intensified by the Governor's declaration that he would take no executive action while the judicial machinery of the state was in motion. Intimations came from the union's attorney that the presence of Grant Fellows, Attorney-General of the state, in the jury room had voided the body's legality and that there was no Michigan rule that would permit the county to hire George Nichols as special prosecutor under the circumstances in force here.

Grand Jury's Action Defended.

Mr. Fellows was quick to defend his course, saying that he not only was in the grand jury but had questioned Moyer. "No statute on the Michigan books prohibited this action and as chief legal officer of the state I had a right to be present," he said.

The allegation of the grand jury's illegality because of Mr. Nichols' part in the proceedings was defended from other sources. It was pointed out that many special prosecutors had been used in the state.

Mr. Fellows, James Cunningham, State Commissioner of Labor, and Edward J. Minock, the latter's attorney, left late today for their homes. The intention of Mr. Cunningham was to collect information for the Governor and check the testimony brought out at his public hearing. Others immediately concerned in the state executive's inquiry into strike conditions left with the Governor at noon.

ORE TO BE SENT BY MAIL

Offer of Three Carloads Worries Rural Mailcarriers.

SPOKANE, Wash., Jan. 9.—Postoffice inspectors received today telephone calls from worried rural delivery carriers, asking aid.

The carriers who ride horseback from Paradise, Or., to Anatone, Wash., 18 miles, notified the inspectors that a man at Paradise is ready to ship 3500 pounds of timothy seed by parcel post.

The carrier at Elk City, Idaho, telephoned that mineowners had three carloads of concentrated ore ready for shipment by parcel post to the smelter, a distance of 60 miles over mountain roads.

The inspectors have put in a requisition for teams to help out the Idaho carriers.
