QUAKES ARE DUE TO SUN Solar Spots Responsible for Earth

been forecast weeks and months in advance by the Santa Clara Meteorological Observatory, it was said Saturday. The forecasts have been made by Dr. Albert Porta, associate of Rev. Father J. S. Ricard, but it has been decided that they shall not be made public. Dr. Porta predicted the Japanese earthquake, the Reno shakes, the recent temblor in New York City and those recorded at St. Ignatius School, Cleveland, and St. Louis, Thursday night.

The forecasting of earthquakes is directly related to the position of sunspots on the surface of the sun, it is explained. When the revolving sun brings a spot within a quadrilateral 70 degrees square on the side of the sun facing the earth, there is a danger period, which increases as the spot nears the solar axis. When it crosses the solar axis there is invariably an earthquake.

Dr. Porta is said to be engaged in the preparation of a book dealing with the science of predicting earthquakes by the position of spots on the sun. Predictions are now being made as far ahead as next December.
