What "Pure Food" is

Doing for the Millions

The country - wide campaign for pure food has been one of the great. est events of this decade. Its effects will reach far into the future, but already there have been marvelous results.

The sheep and the goats have been pretty well separated.

One manufacturer of food-stuffs, after having been thoroughly inves-tigated and pronounced above reproach, has almost doubled his output in a year. He tells his story in his advertisements in the daily newspapers. He knows he prepares wholesome food and does not hesitate to guar-antee it in every way. The public knows it now and responds by demanding his product from retailers

The manufacturers who adulter-ate their food products do not dare come out in the open and adver tise

By watching these advertisements in newspapers like The Oregonian millions of people throughout the country are able to find out who are honest manufacturers, and buy ac cordingly. The demand for food-stuffs of known quality is universal.

Retailers must read the signs of the times and stock their shelves and display in their windows the kind of foods that an educated pub-lic demands.
