

STEAM SERVICE IS HISTORY SOON

Gasoline Car to Be Operated Twice Daily Between Eugene and Corvallis.

BRIDGE IS RECONSTRUCTED

Crossway Over Willamette River Between Eugene and Springfield Fixed to Bear Heavier Trains.

WEDDING 'BULLET' TO RETURN

EUGENE, Or., March 2.—(Special).—Three new angles in local railroad circles appeared today, when it was announced, unofficially, that the present steam service between Eugene and Corvallis will be discontinued.

In its place a gasoline car will be operated twice a day between Eugene and Corvallis, and a crew of bridge carpenters, under G. W. Stewart, Portland, Eugene & Eastern bridge superintendent, today commenced the reconstruction of the bridge across the Willamette river between Eugene and Springfield to bear heavier trains.

The latter work will cost $1000. The gasoline car for the Eugene-Corvallis run on the Portland, Eugene & Eastern passed through Eugene yesterday from the south. It has been announced for several weeks by the Southern Pacific, and was supposed to have been inaugurated before this. The proposed schedule will double the service on the Portland, Eugene & Eastern line to Corvallis. The car, when re-installed, will enter the city by Eleventh avenue and make the station uptown its terminal. At present the train becomes a Southern Pacific train when it arrives in Eugene and proceeds to Wendling.

The Wendling "Bullet," discontinued when this change was made, will be restored.

The installation of the gasoline car is but temporary to handle traffic on the Portland, Eugene and Eastern until electrification, now expected during the summer. A contract for power for this line has been signed with the Oregon Power Company, whose plant is at Springfield.

COOS OFFICE IS SOUGHT

Sheriff Gage, Many Times Winner, to Have Active Opposition.

MARSHFIELD, Or., March 2.—(Special).—The Sheriff's office in Coos county pays $2400 a year and it is expected that several candidates will appear. W. W. Gage has been opposed by several Republicans in the past six years, and although the county has a normal majority of about 1000 Republican votes, he has been elected each time by majority ranging from 500 to 1200 votes.

As he will be a candidate again this year, it is expected that perhaps a progressive and a Republican candidate opposing him.

Besides the Progressive and Republican candidates, the Socialists probably will nominate a candidate by petition. This would more effectually distribute the opposition to Sheriff Gage. George W. Starr, a good actor, will appear, the only candidate who has announced himself as yet.

ST. JOHNS CANDIDATE EYED

Campaign Committee to Make Recommendations Before Primaries.

ST. JOHNS, Or., March 2.—(Special).—The St. Johns campaign committee from the churches and W. C. T. U. held a meeting yesterday at the home of Dr. H. O. Brown to discuss the political situation. No action was taken, and no candidates were endorsed. It was decided to hold a meeting Wednesday night to decide, finally what the committee will recommend for next Saturday.

The "inquiry" committee, which was appointed to interview the candidates as to their standing on the enforcement of prohibition and other laws, probably will be submitted at the meeting Wednesday night. Rev. W. E. Ingalls, of the St. Johns Methodist Church, is chairman of this committee and W. Scott Kellogg, secretary. All the churches have representatives on the committee.

PASCO IS HIGH IN DEBATE

Oakdale Only Other School in District to Make Straight Wins.

PASCO, Wash., March 2.—(Special).—The Pasco High School won the fourth and last debate from the Pomroy High School here Saturday night. This makes the fourth straight victory for the local school in the series of debates which have been held for championship honors under the auspices of the State Association for High School Debates. Oakdale is the only other high school in this district that has won four straight debates. If neither of these schools has a plurality of votes, the contest will be declared a tie and they will have to debate for the championship.

The contest is to be decided by the number of winning votes cast by the judges, and not by the number of victories.

IDAHO CITY WINS POINT

Ex-Mayor's Injunction to Restrain Bond Issue Is Dissolved.

PAYETTE, Idaho, March 2.—(Special).—This city won its first point in the injunction, brought by Ex-Mayor Coughanour to restrain the City Council from proceeding with the cement walk and curbing bond issue, when Judge Bryan, of the District Court, handed down a decision Wednesday dissolving the injunction.

Judge Bryan held that a City Council is clothed by law with absolute power to provide for and make such improvements without submitting the same to a vote of any persons interested.

It is understood the case will be carried to the Supreme Court by W. A. Coughanour, N. A. Jacobsen and other large city property owners.

TACOMA, Wash., March 2.—(Special).—After hearing reports on hospitals and educational matters, the Columbia conference of the Swedish Lutheran Church held here listened to a report on the proposed construction of a new hospital in Portland. Renhard, superintendent of a hospital now maintained, but rented, at 209 Tenth street, Portland, said that plans are being made for the erection of a $250,000 building on lots owned by the church at Graham avenue and Commercial street.

250 HEAR SHORT COURSE

FARMERS COME 60 MILES TO ATTEND PRINEVILLE SESSIONS.

Unusual Interest Indicated in Lectures on Agriculture and Domestic Science by Attendants.

PRINEVILLE, Or., March 2.—(Special).—The first annual short course of Crook County conducted by the Oregon Agricultural College has just closed, with a registration of 250. Many attended who did not register, and the average attendance was about 180 people at each session. Farmers came in from all parts of the county, some riding 60 miles, and remaining throughout the week.

The courses in agriculture and domestic science were popular with the numerous students taken and by the constant fire of questions put to instructors.

Dean Calvin and Professor Robbins presented the work in home economics. The agricultural work was in charge of Professor Hyslop, of the agronomy department, and Professor Fitts, of the department of animal husbandry.

The college representatives feel that the efforts of the Crook County High School and of the Prineville Commercial Club in getting the work started have been very successful and several Crook County towns are expected to appoint courses next year.

Fall courses in soils, crop, dry farming, irrigation, breeds of stock, livestock management, dairy work, domestic science and art were offered.

RECENT AND UNLAME WATERERY ERUPTION

On Child's Ear. Itched and Burned Badly. Cross and Fretful. Could Not Lie on Ear at All. After Using Cuticura Soap and Ointment No Trace of Trouble Remained.

R. F. D. No. 17, Owensville, Ind.—"When my little girl was about two years old small watery pimples came on her ear. They got worse all the time. They itched and burned so badly she would scratch and cause them to spread until her whole ear was one large sore. Small pimples came all over her head. This trouble caused much itching and burning and she could not sleep and was very cross and fretful and she could not lie on her ear at all. The places broke out all through the hair which caused it to fall out by the handful. The spots were very red and inflamed and watery."

"I sent her a sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and decided to try them. After using the sample her ear and scalp did not cause so much pain and itching and did not look so inflamed so I bought the full-sized cake of Cuticura Soap and the Cuticura Ointment. In a short time it began to heal and the inflammation was entirely gone. She was asleep at night and in a week's time not a spot or pimple or trace of the trouble remained and not since then has it returned." (Signed) Mrs. Lulu Reed, March 26, 1913.

Cuticura Soap 25c, and Cuticura Ointment 50c, are sold everywhere. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 25c Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

central enterprise and the water will be piped to the city park and natural springs. The city will be advised to decide the tourist into the belief that they were always there, thus defying the anger of the mountains. And a sanitary city park, with the city planned to which the sick may come and be bathed in the hot sulphur waters.

We had not finished luncheon and were waiting for the afternoon mail when the Greer came up in his car and found us there eating chicken at the side of his discovery. With him every one in the country is planning to pour some sulphur in upon our lithia and chicken. And that was our last impression of Ashland, the bad taste of sulphur, the chewing of a mouthful of matches.

But the impression that lasted after the taste was gone, is that quaint, unexciting little town, really a beautiful town, as we left, promised us we should find a population of 50,000 should we come to visit the sulphur springs and the same promise. So did Grants Pass. So did Coos Bay. So did Roseburg. May they all keep their promises!

My wife and I are sitting beside Emigrant Creek that tumbles out of the mountains and races through the Oregon meadows a few miles southeast of Ashland. It is noon and our luncheon of fried chicken and cold-baked potatoes we are drinking lithia water which we have dipped with our tin cups from a running spring beside the river. Behind us cattle are grazing. Up the creek two men, in hip boots, are casting for trout in the few silent pools. Over toward the east on the green sides of the mountain, sheep and goats, nature's mowers, are moving slowly.

"This spring," I said to my wife, "and that hot sulphur spring back there, have been here as long as those mountains, and yet not until now have the people down here known of their tremendous commercial value."

"And now?" asked my wife.

It was then that we formed our last impression of Southern Oregon. I didn't have a note book to put it down, but here it is:

New Spirit Catches Hold.

There's a new spirit in Southern Oregon. It has caught hold everywhere. It is a spirit founded on an idea. And the idea didn't originate in Southern Oregon. It came from the east. There are three candidates for the Republican nomination for County Judge. They are Julius Eudemann, of Pennington, who is the incumbent, and George W. Gross, of Athena, and Louis Hodgens, Ferndale.

Sheriff T. D. Taylor and Assessor C. P. Strain will be candidates to succeed themselves.

N. Berkley will seek the nomination for Justice of the Peace.

The Republicans, with a normal majority of about three to one in past years, will not only endeavor to hold the offices now in their possession, but will also put forth a strong effort to capture the three positions held by Democrats.

PASCO BOND ELECTION POSTPONED.

PASCO, Wash., March 2.—(Special).—The city bond election which was set for March 17 has been postponed on account of irregularities in preparing the ordinances for the election. The attorneys for the bonding companies notified the city that the procedure had been irregular and that they would be unable to pass on the legality of the bonds, so the City Council ordered the election postponed until the irregularities drawn in accordance with the demands of the attorneys for the bonding companies. The election will now be set for some time in April.

COOS FOLK DEPORT MAN

GEORGE BAKER FORCED TO LEAVE ON FINDING OF STOLEN GOODS.

Citizens' Committee of 42 Loads Undesirable's Belongings on Launch Leaving South Inlet.

MARSHFIELD, Or., March 2.—(Special).—Another episode in the deportation of George Baker occurred near here today when George Baker was ordered by a committee of residents of South Inlet to pay his belongings to the Citizens' Committee. A quantity of stolen goods were found cached in the sand near Baker's houseboat on Coos Bay. The goods had been taken from a warehouse at South Inlet Saturday night and many citizens charge they had been missing property for two months, since Baker returned there, following the fall term. Baker maintains that someone had placed the provisions there to direct suspicion toward him, but his plea had no effect on the committee. Baker's belongings were put aboard a launch bound for Marshfield, and he left in his private launch, with orders to stay away from South Inlet.
