Figures and Facts Cited in Favor of Main, Washington, Columbia and Jefferson Highways for Span Landing.

VANCOUVER, Wash., March 3 .-(Special.)—The question of where the Washington end of the interstate bridge is to land was discussed at a meeting called by the County Com-missioners in the Superior Court room at 10 o'clock this morning. Reports of four committees representing Main committees, representing Main, Washington, Columbia and Jefferson streets, were made, but no decision was reached. Standing room was at a premium. Many who attended were from the country. The reports of the committee re-solved into a contest in oratory with an imposing array of facts and figures.

An attempt to get a straw vote and sentiment of those present brought on an outburst of objection from the various committees.

ous committees. Edson M. Rowley, chairman of the Jefferson-street committee, was first to speak before the Commissioners. He reported that no waivers had been ob-tained, though he believed from good authority that the site for the bridge on Jefferson street would cost almost nothing, and that the City of Van-couver while it would not contribute couver, while it would not contribute toward obtaining the site, would al-low any reasonable changes to be made in the streets, paving and such necessary alterations. Mr. Rowley gave many other arguments in favor of Jefferson street. John Buchanan is the other member of the committee for Jefferson street. S. P. White, the third mamber, is out of the city.

Mayor Makes Argument. Henry Crass, Joseph Webber and G. R. Percival formed the committee for Columbia street, and Mr. Crass, Mayor of Vancouver, spoke. He showed two plans for building the bridge at Colum-bia street and made a strong argu-ment for having it located at one of the two places. A. H. Fletcher, E. R. Schofield and Dr. C. S. Irwin formed the Washington-street committee and Mr. Fletcher was the chairman, who spoke. Protection Against Bronchitis and Pneumonia How I Darkened My

Gray Hair.

Lady Gives Simple Home Recipe That She Used to Darken Her Gray Hair.

For years I tried to restore my gray hair to its natural color with the prepared dyes and stains, but none of them gave satisfaction and they were all expensive. I finally ran onto a simple recipe which I mixed at home that gives wonderful results. I gave that gives wondertain results. I gave the recipe, which is as follows, to a number of my friends, and they are all delighted with it. To 7 oz. of water add a small box of Barbo Compound. I oz. of bay rum and 34 oz. of glycer-ine. Use every other day until the half bacomes the required shade then every becomes the required shade, then every two weeks. It will not only darken gray hair, but removes dandruff and gray hain, but reinforces us a tonic to scalp humors, and acts us a tonic to the hair. It is not sticky, grensy, does not rub off and does not color the scalp. You can prepare it at home at a very little expense.—Adv.

A Recipe

Into a pitcher put a tablespoonful of butter, one-quarter cup light brown sugar, an ounce of fresh, whole all-spice and a pint of Duffy's pure mait whiskey. Let it stand for half an hour then add one-half pint boiling water. Let it stand again for a short while. and before serving stir well and add the juice of one orange and one lemon.

This is to be served in a wine glass. It is very wholesome, appetizing and strengthening, especially for fever and chills in stormy and blustering weather. Prompt action on such occasions will ward off many a serious and oft-times fatal situck of bronchitis and pneumonia, as well as irritating coughs and colds. - Adv.
