

SUFFRAGE WARNING IS SENT TO SENATOR

Mrs. Belmont Tells Mr. Ashurst He Would Better Not Force Vote on Bill.

DEBATE IS NOT LIMITED

Mrs. Medill McCormick Says Mrs. Belmont Holds No Office in Association and Cannot Speak for 462,000 Members.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—Mrs. O. H. Belmont, serving notice on Senator Ashurst today that the suffragists would declare war on him if he permitted the woman suffrage constitutional amendment to go to a vote in the Senate at this time when there is doubt that it might command the necessary two-thirds vote.

"If you allow the woman suffrage amendment to go to a vote now," Mrs. Belmont telegraphed, "I shall consider you false to our interests and shall not hesitate to make the fact known in important places."

Sentinel Told "Beware."
"Those who have asked you to push the amendment to a vote now are not genuinely interested in its immediate success. They are using you. Beware of their advice. We expect you to represent us, not them."

"Mrs. Belmont is one of the leaders, if not the leader, of the whole movement," volunteered Senator James. Senator Ashurst added she was an excellent woman.

A prolonged but futile attempt was made to obtain unanimous consent to limit debate on the resolution and take a final vote next Tuesday. The discussion will be resumed Monday.

Mrs. McCormick Comments.
Mrs. Medill McCormick, chairman of the Congressional committee of the National American Woman Suffrage Association, in a statement commenting on the remarks of Mrs. Belmont to Senator Ashurst, said:

"Mrs. Belmont holds no office in the National American Woman Suffrage Association and cannot speak for its 462,000 members. As representing the National association, we deem it for the best interests of our cause to have a vote on the pending amendment immediately on the close of the discussion in the Senate."

LINEN SWINDLE ADMITTED

Millions of Names, Including Thousands of Ministers, on List.

NEW YORK, March 6.—Samuel E. Findley, one of eight defendants on trial for defrauding investors in the stock of the Oxford Linen Mills, interrupted the taking of testimony today to plead guilty. Findley and others were indicted for misuse of the mails. Through the Sterling Debenture Company, which handled the stock of the Oxford Linen Mills, it is alleged they obtained $1,500,000 from investors by representing they had a new process for making linen. The company had a list of 1,000,000 names, including thousands of clergymen. The mailing department, he said, had at times as many as 500 employees and sent out 20,000 circulars a day.

HEARING ON MEAT STORMY

as inspectors. And now you want to make still more.
"This is an age of hysteria, an age of laws. The multiplicity of laws breeds contempt for all law. This meat ordinance is one of those measures that seems to have the element of fairness. But you cannot see the other side until you see who is behind it."

Woman Favors Ordinance.
Alice Nugent gained the floor and spoke in behalf of a number of women's organizations.

"This is the same sort of fight we had when we started a few years ago to get milk inspection," she said. "It was a cry of killing the small man. The milk law passed and no one was hurt except the dealer who did not want to do right. Yesterday, with a number of friends, I visited one of the slaughtering places and found the most horrible of conditions. In one place we found meat that was absolutely spoiled which was to be made into sausage."

"This woman is mistaken," declared a man in the back of crowd.

Mr. Mickie Accuses Man.
"That man's conscience bothers him," shouted State Food and Dairy Commissioner Mickie, jumping to his feet and pointing at the man who had spoken. "His place is rotten and he knows it. I, A. Bell, representing the commission merchants, declared that his clients were satisfied with the measure. He said their interest was in seeing that the farmer would be allowed to ship meat into the State Food and Dairy Commissioner Mickie took the floor and explained the necessity of the ordinance."

"Our state laws are defective," he declared. "They ask why the present laws are not enforced. They can't be, because there are too many laws and too many good lawyers. In a year I've condemned 35 slaughtering houses. I had to use public opinion as my weapon. If I could show the people of Portland some of the things I've seen in slaughtering houses, there wouldn't have been any need for a meeting of this kind. The Commission would pass this ordinance without further consideration."

Health First, Says Mrs. Hidden.
"It is a case of health," declared Mrs. M. L. T. Hidden. "It is much more important to protect our health than to protect the small dealer. If the trust is all that remains for us to get pure meat, let's follow that course."

"They talk about this Government inspecting meat," said E. H. Derry, a butcher. "I was sold a tongue one time that was Government stamped, and when it was cut into it was so rotten it would have disgusted a yellow dog. This is a case of competition in the meat business. Don't place the small dealer at the mercy of the beef trust."

Mrs. Dunaway Urges Measure.
Mrs. Abigail Scott Dunaway, who was present without speaking, was given the floor and spoke in favor of the measure. "We women hold our Commissioners for these slaughtering houses," she declared. "It is up to you to see that they are cleaned up. That is what we pay you for. We should not have to take our time to probe into the proposition."

H. W. Snashall, president of the declared that the expense of the inspection service would have to be met by the consumer.

"Pass this ordinance and you will have to pay more for meat," he declared. "Some people would be better off if they had to pay more for their meat," said Mrs. Nugent.

Professor Torrey Makes Plea.
Professor H. B. Torrey, of Reed College, said he was one of those who went out Thursday and found rotten conditions in the slaughtering houses near the city.

"I am not interested in the butcher," declared Professor Torrey. "I don't care what he does with the money I pay him, but I do care what he does with me. Maybe it will cost something for clean places to comply with this ordinance. It's worth it. The idea of dealers refusing to adhere to inspection is the fact that it will cost something to the auditing of his books to see how he spends public money."

Dr. Joss, a Federal meat inspector, declared that the work of inspecting meat is usually impossible to detect diseased meat when it is in the butcher shop. "The best-looking meat is sometimes diseased," he said.

At Club Men Favors Law.
E. Lundberg, of the meat inspection committee of the Portland Ad Club, spoke in favor of the ordinance. "I question the motives of those men who oppose this ordinance," he said. "Meat conditions in Portland are rotten. I think it is wrong for the city to spend millions of dollars for pure water and not a cent for meat. It isn't a question of hurting the small packer, but one of protecting the health of the public. The opposition to this measure does not come from the fact that it will cost something to clean up the slaughtering places, but that it will make it impossible for people to sell diseased and unmarketable meat."

The committee announced that the measure will be taken under consideration and will be acted upon as soon as possible.

OFFICER IS SUSPENDED

KNOWLEDGE OF ATTACK ON GIRL POLICE CHIEF'S CHARGE.

Deed Declared Committed in Patrolman's Apartment by Roommate; Woman Official Criticized.

Patrolman Charles E. Hewston was suspended by Chief of Police Clark yesterday, who says the officer confessed that he had knowledge of Robert A. Walker's alleged attack on a 15-year-old girl, Walker and Hewston are roommates in the Grand Oak Apartments at Grand avenue and East Oak streets, where the alleged attack took place, February 28.

Richard Deich, Deputy District Attorney, charged that Lola G. Baldwin, head of the department of public safety for young women, kept from him material evidence against Walker, and transferred the case of the young girl to the juvenile court, thus temporarily embarrassing the prosecution of Walker, by having the girl adjudged a delinquent and locked up in an industrial school. The delinquency charge against the girl will come up for trial today. The Walker trial will be held Monday in Municipal Court.

Walker is charged with keeping the girl in the apartments occupied by himself and Hewston from February 28, until March 2.

Patrolman Hewston's connection with the affair became public when the girl told her mother that while she was with Walker a policeman was also in the apartment and she thought everything must be right if the officer did not interfere.

Chief Clark criticized Patrolman Hewston severely. "Under any circumstances his knowledge and failure to report would have been unmanly," said the Chief. "Not to be a member of the police force, hired to protect people, and to act as he has acted, is abominable."

"Everyone about the station knew about this before I did, and no one told me, until I heard from the girl's mother."

JURORS ADMIT READING

"Misconduct" Alleged in Effort to Win New Trial in Fuel Cases.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 6.—Affidavits from two of the jurors who convicted James B. Smith, general manager of the Western Fuel Company; F. C. Mills, superintendent, and E. H. Government, of defrauding the Government, saying that they read the daily accounts of the trial in the newspapers, will be presented before United States District Judge Dooling tomorrow in support of a motion for a new trial. Attached to the affidavits will be clippings of the articles published in the San Francisco newspapers during the two months trial.

The new trial has been asked because of alleged misconduct on the part of some of the jurors, the alleged misconduct consisting of reading the newspapers.

ELLIS ACCEPTS SENTENCE

Wife-Murderer Hopes for Pardon After Two or Three Years.

CHICAGO, March 6.—William Cheney Ellis, of Cincinnati, convicted yesterday of the murder of his wife in a Chicago hotel last October, may start serving his 15-year sentence in this state penitentiary next week. George Remus, Ellis' counsel, said today that he would not press his motion for a new trial and that Ellis would accept sentence.

It was understood that Ellis is satisfied to begin life once his sentence is over. However, that he has an excellent chance to be pardoned after serving two or three years.

"I want to get through with my prison life," said Ellis, "and I don't want to be in there again," he said repeatedly.

DISTRIBUTION IS ARRANGED

Alaska Man Says Chance to Quit Seattle Business Welcome.

That Portland, instead of Seattle, will be the distributing point for about 2500 barrels of salt fish each year, and all the fresh fish the market can handle, as a direct result of the new Portland-Alaska steamer line, was asserted last night by John Hadland, of Johnson & Hadland, dealers in fresh and salt fish at Petersburg, Alaska. Mr. Hadland has employed a Portland broker to handle the output of his firm.

"All Alaska is against Seattle," said Mr. Hadland. "She has misused our trade. They cut our fish to the point of ruining our business. Our people are well pleased that Portland is entering into competition."

Mr. Hadland arrived in Portland yesterday.

Pope Not Ill as Reported.

ROME, March 6.—Erroneous reports were current in Rome today that the Pope was ill and had fainted shortly after rising. The condition of His Holiness was absolutely normal.

YOUNG DYNAMITER TELLS OF ADVENTURE

Explosions Declared Paid For by Miners to Men Also on Company's Payroll.

STRIKE BENEFIT PAID, TOO

President of Local Union Quoted as Saying as Soon as Inquiry Is Ended Strikers Will "Start Things Again."

DENVER, March 6.—Arthur Langowski, 21 years old, swore today before the Federal strike investigating committee that he received $3 a day from the coal operators while exploding dynamite for the United Mine Workers of America.

The youth stoutly denied that he was a spy in the ranks of the union, although he admitted that he was "watching both sides," and receiving pay from each party to the labor war. Langowski testified that he was secretary and treasurer of the Sopris local of the United Mine Workers. "They consulted me about everything they planned to do," he added. "I tried to prevent them from doing things which would have caused loss of life. They tried to get me to help blow up bridges with dynamite, but I said, 'What's the use of trying to dynamite bridges where there are guards? You'll just be found dead the next morning with the dynamite on you.'"

Plot Made to Scare Guards.
"So we decided to explode the dynamite out in the prairie to scare the guards. There were explosions in the neighborhood every night for a week before the soldiers came. I helped to pull off several of these explosions and was paid two or three dollars each time for my work," he testified.

"One time we put four sticks of dynamite in a keg. It made a big noise, but did not do any damage or bring the guards down where we could shoot them."

"Did you have guns with you?" asked Mr. Sutherland.

"Of course we had," replied the witness.

The youth said he heard all the plots of the strikers and revealed them to Montgomery Mesingale, Town Marshal of Sopris.

Strike Benefit Also Paid.
"I make me $3 a day," he added. "Where did the money come from?" "I suppose the company furnished it."

The witness explained that at the same time he was receiving $3 a week strike benefit from the coal company. The boy asserted he had played his self-proclaimed dual role until a few days ago, when the union men said he was a spy and threatened to hang him.

"I decided I would give them something to hang me for."

SALARY TO BE TREBLED

CRITICISM AND $5000 WILL BE EXCHANGED FOR $15,000 POST.

P. J. O'Garra, Pathologist for Jackson County, Goes to American Smelting & Refining Company.

MEDFORD, Or., March 6.—(Special.)—Annoyed by criticism and the recent adverse report of the grand jury which recommended his removal, P. J. O'Garra, who six years ago left the department of Agriculture to become pathologist at Jackson County, has accepted a salary of $5000 a year, has resigned to become chief in charge of agricultural investigation for the American Smelting & Refining Company. His new salary will be $15,000 a year. His headquarters will be at Salt Lake City, but he will have charge of all experimental laboratory work connected with the plant and animal diseases ascribed to smelter and smoke injury and will conduct exhaustive investigations at various smelters operated by the company.

Professor O'Garra is recognized as the leading authority in the Northwest on orchard and plant diseases and is the author of numerous books on blight, frost prevention, horticultural and agricultural subjects, and was honored for the position by the scientists of the Department of Agriculture as the best qualified man in America for the work in view.

The County Court will start at once to obtain a successor, as the approaching fruit season makes the office peculiarly important.

'FAILURE AT 35' SUICIDE

MAN WHO "AIMED HIGH, HIT LOW," DRINKS ACID.

In Note Agrees World Is Stage, Says Life Is "Bum Show" and All He Wants Is Buriel.

LOS ANGELES, March 6.—Describing himself in a suicide note as "one who aimed high, but hit low—a poor marksman and a failure," a fashionably dressed man stepped into a doorway downtown early today and drank fast working poison. His clothing was made in Europe, but all marks of personal identification had been removed. Two notes were found. One was an epitaph, an epitaph.

"Here lies a failure, aged 35, 1914." In the other note was written: "All the world's a stage, we the actors, life the people—and it's a bum show. Please don't trouble about my identity. Just bury me and accept my thanks."

The man later was identified as Jacob Isselhard, formerly an employee of the Adjutant-General's office in the Philippines. Isselhard came here recently and nothing is known of him.

AMBULANCES TRAVEL FAR

Chicago's Hospital Vehicles Cover 40,100 Miles in Year.

CHICAGO, March 2.—The size of the City of Chicago is made strikingly apparent by a study of some of the figures from the report of the Bureau of Hospitals for the year 1913. Health Commissioner Young said in a statement made public yesterday.

The three ambulances in service (only two a portion of the time) made 1973 trips, aggregating 40,100 miles, an average of 20.6 miles each trip. On these trips they carried a total of 2887 cases of contagious diseases, made up of 1620 cases of diphtheria, 12 measles, 1174 scarlet fever, 45 smallpox and 26 toxoid infections.

The department has just added a new ambulance to its service and expects in the near future to add two more, so that it will be able to minimize the delays which heretofore have been unavoidable in moving cases of contagious diseases.

"The Froquois Memorial Hospital in 1913 admitted 1081 accident cases and 10,845 were attended at the dining room."

"Although two of the baths were under reconstruction during part of the year, 718,734 baths were given in the public baths during 1913."

ANGER IN NUDE THREAT

APPEARANCE OF 6000 DOUKHOBORS SONS ATTIRE IS PROSPECT.

British Columbia Community to Show Unclothed Resemblance of Birth Registration Order.

NELSON, B. C., March 6.—Declaring that the members of the British Columbia Doukhobor community must be more than 600 people have decided to take off their clothing and appear on the streets of British Columbia towns, if the government enforces the law in respect to the registration of births and deaths. A letter signed on behalf of the members of the Doukhobor community has been sent to the provincial government. The letter explains the motives of the Doukhobors and declares "the government of Canada has barbarously taken away improved land from the Doukhobors in Saskatchewan. The cost of labor on said land is estimated by us to amount to $7,000,000 or $8,000,000. The military service is also denounced in the letter."

They object to schools because children who attend are taught to eat flesh, smoke and chew tobacco and drink whiskey.

"There are," says the letter, "hundreds of millions of bushels of grain turned into whisky and often people by the millions starve to death." Other extraordinary reasons are given for refusal to comply with the order regarding registration of births away from the community. "We are citizens of our Almighty Father, but your citizenship of Emperors and Kings disappoints the people and compels them to fight."

STUDY OF LIFE ADVISED

REED COLLEGE PROFESSOR SPEAKS AT NEW HAVEN.

Leaving of Social Matters to Casual Influences Depreciated—Labor's Rewards Are Increasing.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., March 5.—"The task of a college education," said Professor B. C. Ewer, of Reed College, Portland, Or., before the Religious Education Association today, "is to foster citizenship and its aim is to produce the best type of American citizen."

"How shall this result be accomplished? Not by leaving social matters to the casual influences of the fraternity house and the athletic field, to college journals, college politics and college vice. In the past the college has failed to take up the problem by its proper method of instruction. Besides the customary courses in sociology, economics and political science, there should be a study of college life within itself as a social organism. "In the new appraisal," said President Wood of the Pullman Training School, Pullman, Ill., in pointing out changes taking place in the education of the world, "labor is getting such recognition as never before. The bricklayer is getting as much as the college instructor in mathematics, because his path is a social one. The forms of education are giving way to the useful, practical and efficient."

TARIFF REBATE UPHELD

CUSTOMS APPRAISERS SAY CONGRESS' INTENT IS CLEAR.

Bored Rules Treaties Are Not Impaired and That All Nations Are Treated Equally.

NEW YORK, March 6.—A 5 per cent discount on all imports carried by ships of American register, as provided for in the new tariff law, was granted today by the Board of United States General Appraisers in an opinion given by Judge Waite.

The board held that the favoring of American ships was the plain intent of Congress in framing the statute and that the allowance to American shipping did not impair the treaties with foreign countries.

The board further says that this is not a statute extending favor to any particular country, but rather an offer to all importers of all nations to make use of the reduction allowed to American shipping.

POSTMASTERS ARE NAMED

President Makes Nominations and Other Offices Are Filled.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, March 6.—The President today nominated the following Oregon postmasters: Russell H. Sullens, Prairie City; C. E. Holloman, Haines; Paul C. Bell, Victoria; Victor F. Moser, Corvallis; J. H. Young, Hermiston; Archie Parker, Monmouth, and M. M. Fitch, Sherwood.

Fourteen postmasters were appointed today as follows: Washington—James F. Brown, Bay City; vice E. J. Gaudin, resigned; James A. Betchum, Copiah; George Hunter, resigned; L. W. Curless, Grand Dunes; vice Carl G. Fulton, resigned.

Idaho—Charles E. Davidson, Churchill, new office.

Evangelistic Service Ends.

COQUILLE, Or., March 6.—(Special.)—Rev. and Mrs. George W. Taylor, their son Paul, and C. E. Lane, chorus director, have closed a month's series of revival meetings. A subscription of $3000 for expenses and a freewill offering of $375 for the party was raised. Monday night Mr. Taylor delivered his "Booze" lecture to an audience of 1000. The party left Tuesday for Grants Pass.

SACRAMENTO GIVES IDLE ARMY NOTHING

1150 Marchers Go Unfed Into "Stockade" and 900 More Are Expected Today.

CITY WILL REFUSE TO AID

Neither Food Nor Transportation Will Be Authorized—40 Police and 10 Under-Sheriffs Keep Vigil but 200 Scale Walls.

SACRAMENTO, March 6.—(Special.)—The first installment of the army of unemployed, the "insurgents," arrived in Sacramento today from Davis 470 strong. Piling off the train which had carried them from Yolo County they marched to an enclosed tract near the Southern Pacific station.

Four hours later the vanguard of General Kelley's army poured into the city. There were 180 of them. In two hours more 500 more of the regulars arrived. Nine hundred more are expected on the first morning train, making the total about 2000.

The armies are camped under the eyes of a squad of 40 policemen and ten Deputy Sheriffs. The authorities have made no attempt to disperse the men. Chief of Police Johnson's only orders were to prevent them from escaping from the enclosure, which is surrounded by a high board fence.

Help Will Be Refused.
Despite the vigilance of the police 200 scaled the fence and got into the city tonight.

The City Commission of Sacramento will take no steps toward feeding the men, and probably will refuse them transportation farther. The determined stand was made late today when the governing committee of the "insurgents" called on the Commission. The City Commission told the "insurgent committee" it would do nothing but provide for the safety and health of the men and maintain order. The visitors were told the city had no indigent fund and were advised to go before the county authorities.

Scanty Supper Eaten.
"We need supplies as soon as possible for our supper," said the committee.

Aid was again refused and the committee left. The provisions which were left over from morning served as an excuse for a scanty meal tonight and shortly before the arrival of the second division of the "insurgents" the stomachs of discontent caused by hungry stomachs were manifested.

The "insurgents" have been orderly since their arrival and the governing committee said it did not approve of violence. The committee said it was not the intention to "demand" anything.

Sheriff Ahern and District Attorney Wachhorst said they could do nothing and the supervisors had not been approached for aid.

BENICIA PAYS 1376 FARES

Railroad Refuses Reduced Rate and Citizens Raise Full Amount.

BENICIA, Cal., March 6.—Benicia handed its unemployed problem today by transporting 1376 jobless men of the rank and file of the factions headed by "Major" W. A. Thorne and "General" Charles F. Kelley to Sacramento by the expedient of paying full fare for each man on trains of the Southern Pacific Company.

The last contingent departed tonight in seven cars, and as the tall lights of the stars shined brightly in the direction of Sacramento the entire population of this town gave a sigh of relief after a day fraught with various complexities.

With the task confronting them of providing necessities of life to the large number of uninvited guests, citizens of Benicia, awoke prepared to meet an unusual situation. Food was gathered in quantities and sent to the camps, while city and county officials conferred. The State Railroad Commission was appealed to for permission to grant a reduced railroad rate in order that the visitors might be sent a part of their way toward the goal at Washington, D. C.

The Commission declared its willingness to grant the lower rate, but the Southern Pacific Company refused to be any party to an agreement that would place the burden of feeding and clothing undesirable visitors into the community of another county.

The only alternative of the city and county was accepted and full railroad fare for the two unemployed companies was paid.

HOLY ROLLERS ARE FINED

Punishment Imposed for "Beating Devil" Out of Epileptic.

MURPHYSBORO, Ill., March 6.—Three members of the "Holy Roller" sect, Adam Cripps, Myrtle Cripps and Ruth Hickman, were fined $50 each here today on a charge of assaulting Noah Hickman, an epileptic.

They said his epilepsy was the work of the devil, and they attempted to beat the devil out of him.

MANNING'S COFFEE STORE

JONES MARKET FOURTH & ALDER

Lipman Wolfe's Good Morning!

MILLINERY FIRST THIS MORNING

—An endless showing of perfectly adorable trimmed hats are ready for today's selling. Chic, perky hats, tilted perilously to the side; quaint, picturesque chapeaux that proclaim their intention of making one look her best; plain tailored hats, with the severest trimming, are all assembled in a bewitching pot-pourri.

—There are hats for every woman, and hats at every price. The inexpensive models are correct in style and line because they are copied from hats that came directly from Paris, stamped with the approval of the finest milliners of that city.

All of the hats are remarkably low in price.

A New Sports' Hat

—It is built of white felt, faced with straw of a contrasting shade, and trimmed with a narrow, soft straw band. The brim rolls gracefully, and there is an adjustable elastic inside the crown to hold it firmly on the head. It is an amazingly attractive hat and its price is $5.00.

Second Floor

SATURDAY IS ALWAYS BOYS' AND GIRLS' DAY

—The fourth floor shops are full of treasures for them. Over on one side is the boys' shop, completely enclosed, and with nothing in it but the clothes that boys like—snappy, good looking hats; neat, manly looking suits and reefers, and regular "Jim Dandies" of ties and scarfs.

—And the splendid quality of the materials, the style, the variety and the careful, strong workmanship appeal to the mothers.

Here are some of the items:

BOYS' "FUR FELT" HATS FOR EARLY SPRING

—They are for boys from 2 to 14 years. Wide shapes are for the little folks, and regulation and college styles for the "ligger fellows. There is a wide variety of material, colors, shapes and sizes. All at 75c instead of $1.25 and $2.00.
