

GIRL, NINE, AT PLAY, IS KILLED BY AUTO

Ruby Pearl Myers Victim of Car Driven by Youth Past Dark Intersection.

DRIVER TAKES CHILD HOME

Daughter of R. L. Myers Dies Within Hour After Being Injured. Robert Story, in Charge of Car, to Appear in Court Today.

While playing in the street at the corner of East Pine and East Twenty-ninth streets last night, Ruby Pearl Myers, 9-year-old daughter of R. L. Myers, was struck and killed by an automobile driven by Robert Story, son of ex-Sheriff Story.

After the accident Mr. Story carried the child in his arms to her home at East Twenty-ninth and East Oak streets, where she died in less than an hour.

Young Story is 17 years old. He says he was going 15 miles an hour.

The front of the chassis struck the child in the head, breaking her jaw and causing a compound fracture of the skull. She was thrown from the path of the automobile.

"I was driving the car from my father's home at Buchtel avenue and East Pine street, to the garage at East Twenty-eighth and East Burnside streets," said Mr. Story. "I had trouble with the engine and coasted down the grade to start it. The engine started as I approached East Twenty-eighth street. I was going about 15 miles an hour.

"It was a dark corner. There was no street light. Some children were playing near the left-hand side of the street. As I approached the corner one child ran out into the street. Her companions shouted for her to come back. She stood still.

"I put it in the brakes, but it was too late. I jumped from the car after it had struck her, and carried her to her home. Then I took the car to the garage. I returned home, where the police found me."

The child's body was taken to the coroner.

Patrol Driver Evans and Patrolman White brought Mr. Story to the police station. He was not arrested, but a hearing will be given him in the Municipal Court today.

OFFICIAL BAD FAITH CHARGE

Sam Krasner Arrested on Eve of Alleged Graft Testimony.

Within a few hours of his arrival in Portland to testify before the grand jury concerning alleged graft in Portland's underworld, Sam Krasner, the center of the underworld fights of the past four years, was arrested at the Clyde Hotel yesterday by Police Sergeant Harms and Patrolmen Long and Wise. He was charged with vagrancy and taken immediately into Municipal Court. His case went over until today.

Seneca Fouts, his attorney, told Judge Stevenson that agents of the District Attorney's office gave him an infernal guarantee that Krasner would not be arrested if he would come to Portland to testify in the investigations of the grand jury, there being no law which would compel Krasner to appear before the body unwillingly.

Mr. Fouts charged a violation of faith on the part of the District Attorney's office in causing Krasner's arrest, which he said he had traced to that source.

MAN DENIED JAIL ENTRY

Frank Richet Has Difficulty Starting to Serve Sentence.

It took two attempts on the part of Frank Richet, convicted in United States District Court of using the mails to defraud, to get into the County Jail to begin serving his sentence yesterday.

Richet went to the Courthouse and told the jailer he was ready to begin serving the 30 days which was imposed as a sentence, with a $4000 fine, by Judge Bean. The jailer told him he could not get in without proper commitment papers. These were issued by Judge Bean later in the day.

J. E. Conway, convicted with Richet, is serving an eight months' sentence in the County Jail.

New Bills Open at the Vaudeville Houses

Pantages.

WIERD music, elaborate stage setting and the dancing of pretty girls are some of the features that make "The Priestess of Kama," which headlines the bill at Pantages, one of the finest vaudeville offerings of the season.

Miss Frances Burr takes the part of Bessie, a high priestess of Kama, to whom love was forbidden. In spite of this, she prays for the sight of the great lovers of the world. She holds them in tableaux and is about to meet her love when she is struck dead. The play is spectacular, tragic, full of the mysticism of the East and the costumes are in keeping. The girls who dance are all lovely. All have excellent voices.

is strong and has an appeal and a lesson. Miss Nelson's tango gown is one of the surprises of the number.

The Misses Weston and Leon, a merry little singer and a gifted pianist, have a number that is one of the most popular on the all-round good bill. Miss Weston has some dialect songs that are unusually bright.

A family of six clever performers are the Spanish Goldinos. They keep things whirling and have some brand new and lively songs. A young girl, who is whirled around at startling speed as a finale, is the best of the family.

The Gabby Trickster, E. J. Moore, and his mirth-inspiring assistant, the messenger boy with the marvelous laugh, are favorites. Moore does some tricks that make the audience gasp, and his line of talk is irresistibly entertaining.

The pantomime contains some laughable farce and other pleasing features.

Lyric.

"THE MERRY MONARCHS," a one-act musical comedy, is being presented at the Lyric this week, under the personal direction of Arthur Harrison. The name of this little farce tells the story. Mike Brady (Billy Osnowski) and Adolph Schultz (Tommy La Rosa) are quarantined at Kings to live at the hotel. They are found out by the bellboy, Tommy Deane, played by Joe Kemper, who in turn exposes them to the manager of the hotel, Mr. Freedman. But the "pep" of Mike and Adolph is not to be dampened, and they surprise everybody by proclaiming themselves not kings, but detectives.

Miss Dorothy Raymond, who plays the part of Violet De Vere, the actress, takes her part exceptionally well. Her singing is good, as usual.

Miss Edna Marble, as Dolly Deane, nee Verne, makes a hit in the song "My Dear." She wears a stunning gown of tango colored satin and shadow.

Miss Carrie Godfrey, as Sarah Heartburn, an emotional actress, brings a storm of applause by her clever interpretation of her part.

Mr. Harrison takes the part of Mr. Freedman with pleasing vigor.

The special added feature is the Royal Hussar Ladies' band.

William A. Brady Will Write for The Oregonian

William A. Brady has made and lost fortunes. Often he has staked every penny he had on one turn of fate. Wall street knows him as one of its most reckless and cheerful plungers.

He married Grace George and made her one of the country's greatest stars. He has produced every kind of play. Anything looks good to him if he thinks the public wants it. He is strong equally for melodrama or comic opera.

Mr. Brady as a street gam in New York City learned to fight. He has been a fighter ever since. He likes to fight. That's the reason he became a trainer of fighters and the greatest authority of the age on the fight game. He was the first man to see there was big money in exploiting pugilists.

Now he is writing his reminiscences.

GIRL STRIKERS' ANGEL

YOUNG WOMAN GIVES UP COMFORTS TO AID MINERS.

Intense Cold and Danger Braved, Cash and Time Spent for Wives of Copper Miners in Michigan.

CALUMET, Mich., March 7.—Surrendering the luxuries of a home of wealth, Miss Maria Baca, a New York girl, for two months has braved the intense cold and practically buried herself in a colony of foreigners in order to alleviate the sufferings of families of striking copper miners in the Calumet district.

A college graduate and student of good character, Miss Baca has traveled time on a Mexican ranch. She read of the strike while in Los Angeles, and 10 days later arrived in Red Jacket with letters of introduction to the officials of the Western Federation of Miners.

In eight weeks, with a Croatian woman, who acts as interpreter, as her sole companion, Miss Baca has traveled every road in the strike district. She has made 15 journeys by sleigh with the mercury 25 degrees below zero. Out of her own pocket she has paid more than $1000 to buy shoes and clothing for the children and mothers of the strikers.

"This sort of work is not in my line," she said today; "I wanted to do it quietly. Really, I just came up here because I know the bracing air would do me good. I have picked up wonderful things. The women and the children are the ones who are suffering in this strike."

Miss Baca continued. The women tell me that they are sick of it all, but there is scarcely one of them that would not die fighting for the union's cause."
