Town of 1913 Contenders Invaded by Champions for Renewal of Old Feud.

FISHER'S ARM IS IN FORM

Klawitter and Possibly Krenner to Oppose Hig on Mound—Sacramento to Have Holiday—Colts May Get Coast Men.

BY ROSCOE FAWCETT. SACRAMENTO, Cal., March 29.—(Special.)—In race-horse condition, lean and sinewy, trained to the minute, the Portland Coast League champions swooped down upon Sacramento this afternoon ready for the league opening two days in the offing.

Rain caused the cancellation of the two-games series between the Beavers and the Stocktonites at Stockton, and also put a crimp in the Sacramento-Portland Colt practice skirmish. But Manager McCrede, of Portland, says his athletes are in good physical condition and perfectly tuned, even without their dress rehearsal.

So, if weather permits, the Sacramento-Portland feud of 1913 will be resumed Tuesday at Buffalo Park. McCrede's Beavers worked out for 20 minutes yesterday at Stockton, and Gus Fisher cut loose a few pegs to the bases. "My arm is right at last," said Gus upon his arrival with the gang at the Sacramento Hotel. "My week's lay-off has fixed me out."

Derrick Is Afflicted. Fred Derrick has been troubled with boils the last three or four days, but expects to be ready Tuesday.

No ninth-hour switches were announced today in either camp. The teams will report Tuesday at 2 o'clock practically as the regular field; dryrobe rehearsals have found them in the preliminaries.

This is how the Senators will line up in batting array: Shinn, right field; Young, shortstop; De Forrest, second base; Tennant, first base; Moran, center field; Schwitzer, left field; Hallman, third base; Hannah, catcher, and Klawitter, pitcher.

If Klawitter sends out the "S. O. S." sign for any of the various and possible reasons, Ray Krenner, Oakland bushier, will relieve him, says Wolverton.

Pitching "Rubber" Due. Higginbotham and "Dutch" Klawitter, teammates on the 1912 Portland squad, hooked up against each other just twice last year, according to Hig. The result was one victory each, and Tuesday will furnish the rubber.

Aside from Klawitter, Wolverton has only two absolutely known pitching quantities, Stroud and Arellanes. Gregory, Kilroy and Slagle are expected to put on their "come back" duds, and Cann has a record, but all these last-mentioned ones must show something more tangible than the Spring campaign has under the rain.

The City Commission has adopted a proclamation declaring one-fourth of Tuesday a city holiday. So the City Hall will close earlier than Chinatown at 2:45 o'clock.

Managers McCrede and Williams, of the Portland league clubs, conferred tonight, and an announcement was made that two transfers of Beaver surplus material to the Colts is expected within the week.

WET GROUNDS KEEPS COLTS IN Sacramento Game Called Off—Beavers Next Pae.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., March 29.—(Special.)—Missing their first day of the training season today on account of bad weather, the Sacramento Wolves took a rest when Captain Wolverton decided that the morning rain had left the grounds too wet for the scheduled game with the Portland Northwesters.

The real test will begin Tuesday when the Portland afternoon game against the Wolves. With the exception of a bad leg that is slightly handicapping the regular second baseman, Forrest, but which is rapidly mending, the Wolves are in the pink of condition.

Sailor Stroud, Tabey Arellanes, Walter Slagle and young Ray Krenner will each take care of one game against the Beavers this week. Dutch Klawitter will probably work in two games of the opening series, returning to the mound for the Sunday afternoon game before what should be the biggest crowd that ever saw a baseball game in Sacramento.

Walter McCrede and his hand of Beavers will arrive here tomorrow and get a short workout on the local grounds and a good rest before the big opening tomorrow. Captain Wolverton will have his boys out for a short workout in signal practice and other lines of teamwork but the work will be light and of short duration.

Agricultural College to Send Tennis Team to Berkeley.

DANCE PROVIDES EXPENSES

Anna Rutledge and Esther South Expected to Represent Corvallis, Though Ruth Shepard Will Try for Position.

OREGON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, Corvallis, March 29.—(Special.)—In order to complete the fund provided by the Pastime Club of the University of California for sending champion co-ed tennis players from the Agricultural College to Berkeley for the tennis tournament the last of April the Waltons gave an informal matinee dance in the gymnasium March 21. Music for the event was furnished free by the band and their share of the bargain men with the Waltons girls in the 1915 Oregon contest, in which the girls did effective subscription work.

Although the coming tournament is chiefly Miss Ruth Shepard, Miss from the Oregon college have been invited to contest and have been offered $75 to defray expenses of the trip. There are a large number of California students in the Oregon institution, especially in the domestic science classes. This fact has led to close and friendly relations between the two schools, resulting in this case in the invitation to join in the tennis tournament.

Just who will represent the college has not been positively announced, but the selection is regarded rather as a formality, since the honor has been practically won by Anna Rutledge and Esther South. Miss Rutledge was the principal factor in winning the championship from the university last Fall. Always a skilled and vigorous player, she is said to be in exceptionally good form this Spring and is universally conceded to be sure of a place on the team. Miss South is a new contender for championship honors, but is said by Miss Ruth Shepard, Miss Rutledge's former teammate, to be a "wiz." "I shall try for a place," continued Miss Shepard, "but realize that Miss South has it already won. I am glad of this, since it means a stronger team. I think we stand an excellent show to bring back first honors."

HELENA DEFEATS OPPOSITE TEAM

Jess Garrett's Players Take Heavy End of 19 to 0 Score. Japanese Are Promising.

LOCAL BOY PITCHES WELL "Chubby" Arthur, ex-Star of Jefferson High School, Allows Three Hits in Seven Innings Before Typical Northwest Crowd.

International baseball at Vaughn-street Park yesterday afternoon led to a 13 to 0 defeat of the Mikado club by Jess Garrett's Helena club before a typical Northwestern League Sunday crowd.

In spite of the one-sided score the game showed that the Japanese can play baseball. The team which faced Jess Garrett yesterday has been handling the gloves and balls for a much longer time than the other team. Occasional flashes of real baseball showed that when the Mikado club does know a bit more about the National game, it's going to be hard work leading them.

One factor which will have to be credited them is their speed at getting rid of the ball—the snap and "pop" with which they put on every movement. That, coupled with a little better stick work and more knowledge of the game, will make Japanese real contenders in the amateur field.

Game Rout of Japanese. As for yesterday's game, it was a rout. In the first inning Jess Garrett's club piled up five runs when every man got a chance to bat.

That start showed the Japanese to be a little on edge, for one run was let in on an error and another man was placed on first through lax handling of the ball.

Steppe pulled through with a three-sacker that got down to the fence and had the Japs going for the timber. Pitcher Harada was hit on the end of the finger trying to get a "burner."

Seki then took the mound and matters settled somewhat. The rest of the runs did not come in bunches, but were scattered through the remaining innings.

"Chubby" Arthur, the ex-Jefferson High School star, again was used by Garrett. "Chubby" looked mighty "sweet." In his seven rounds he allowed the Japanese not a run and but three hits.

Deliverly Is Easy. The beauty of "Chubby's" style is the ease with which he handles the pellet. He did not burn out a fuse against the Japs in any instance, but the ball seemed to be beyond reach.

Jess' expected delivery of stars did not take place, but they will be on hand today.

The week will show the Helena club in several games. Columbia University will be playing on Wednesday afternoon.

Next Saturday Karl King will be here from Salem with his Baker team. Two games will be played, one Saturday and one Sunday.

When comes the series with Nick Williams and after that Jess expects to play the University of Oregon and the Oregon Agricultural College. Dr. Stewart, of the Aggies, was in town the fore part of the week, but no dates were set.
