

WOMEN HELP PROHIBITION

Opponents of Suffrage Say It Is Time Sex Was Put in Its Proper Light.

'COLD FIGURES' PRESENTED

No Suffrage State Ever Has Been Voted Dry, One Had Gambling 40 Years After Women Voted, Is Official Statement.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—(Special).—The National Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage issued a statement to-night declaring that suffrage and prohibition do not go hand in hand. The statement is in part as follows: "In no state in which women have voted on the question has state-wide prohibition ever been adopted and nine states where men alone vote have state-wide prohibition. This is a statement of cold figures that cannot be controverted. It shows how woefully the suffragists have misled many people on the liquor question. "Pasadena, Cal., for many years, in fact practically for its entire history had been a dry city. Soon after the franchise was given to women the sale of liquor was legalized. Pasadena had in 1910 2688 more women over 21 years old than men.

Chance Missed in Colorado. "November 5, 1912, Colorado, the banner suffrage state, voted on state-wide prohibition; 75,877 votes were cast for the measure and 116,744 against. If 58 per cent of the women over 21 years old in Colorado had voted for prohibition the measure would have become a law by 6014 majority. Without a single male vote being cast for prohibition. "Wyoming legalized gambling for about 49 years after woman had the ballot and it had neither state-wide prohibition nor local option laws. "About six years prior to the adoption of woman suffrage in California Los Angeles voted on local option and the measure was defeated, two to one. About a month after woman had the ballot in Los Angeles the question was again voted on and the saloons won by nearly three to one.

Mr. Chaffin Disappointed. "Eugene W. Chaffin, former candidate on the Prohibition ticket for President, said at Long Beach, Cal., February 15, 1914, that the support expected by Prohibitionists in California from women had not yet developed. "In the face of the active facts, it is about time for the suffragists to give up their false claims on the subject of prohibition. These are the facts that the suffragists, when they have had opportunity, have done nothing to aid prohibition and a great deal to injure it."

SOCIETY CIRCUS PLANNED

Seaside Civic Club Will Raise Money for Promotion Work. SEASIDE, Or., April 5.—(Special).—Under the auspices of the Seaside Civic Improvement Club, a society circus and burlesque county fair will be held here next week for three days. One of the special features of the entertainment will be a Better Babies' contest with prizes for the leaders in the different classes. The proceeds of the entertainment will be used in the general publicity and civic welfare promotion work of the club. The free restroom which was established last year and which was so highly appreciated by Summer visitors has proved an excellent all-year attraction. Gymnasium apparatus has been installed in the room that was used for a nursery during the Summer and classes of boys and girls are being instructed regularly.

Speakers Will Meet University of Puget Sound April 27. PACIFIC UNIVERSITY, Forest Grove, Or., April 5.—(Special).—In the annual tryout last night, Howard Taylor, Samuel Grathwell, Lester Moroney and Edward Burns were chosen to represent Pacific University in the debate with the University of Puget Sound April 27. Egbert Bishop and Alva Patten were chosen. The question was "Resolved, That the coastwise ships of the United States should pay the same tolls as the ships of other nations going through the Panama Canal." Two teams were chosen, as the question will be debated at both places the same night, the home team upholding the affirmative.

OLD CANDIDATES ARE OUT

Competition for RecorderShip of Linn County Same as Before. ALBANY, Or., April 5.—(Special).—Exactly the same candidates who appeared on the ballots of both the Republican and Democratic parties in the primaries for the last election for the office of Recorder of Linn County will compete again this year. Grant Froman, of Albany, the present Recorder, and Marlon F. Wood of Tangent, will contest in the Republican primaries and E. M. Miller, of Halsey, will be the lone candidate for the Democratic nomination. This will be the third successive election in which Froman and Wood have competed for the Republican nomination for County Recorder.

Douglas Timber Value $45,000,000.

ROSEBURG, Or., April 5.—(Special).—According to information received today from the Immigration Commission of Oregon, Douglas County leads all other counties in the state with regard to its standing timber. The report says Douglas County possesses about one-sixth of the timber of the state, with a value of close to $45,000,000, or about $3,000,000 more than its present assessed valuation.

Mrs. Medill McCormick, Wife of Influential Publisher, Says Sex Will Hold Balance in Electoral College by 1916.

NEW YORK, April 5.—(Special).—The suffrage cause is to take a big leap in the next two years, according to Mrs. Medill McCormick, daughter of the late Mark Hanna, Senator from Ohio, and for years right-hand man and political adviser of the late President McKinley. Mrs. McCormick caused a sensation at the annual campaign rally of the National Woman Suffrage Association here recently, when she asserted without qualification "that by 1916 the believers in woman suffrage will hold the balance of power in the electoral college, and the women now look to the Democrats to solve the question of equal rights, which will be brought about in the next two years."

ST. JOHN'S, Newfoundland, April 5.

At sunset tomorrow the sealing steamer Southern Cross, missing since Tuesday's blizzard, officially will be posted as lost with her 173 men. Hope for the safety of the steamer and her crew was almost abandoned today when the stricken survivors of the sealer Newfoundland told their stories of the disaster, which cost the lives of 77 of their comrades. The colony, plunged into mourning by the greatest tragedy in its history, has waited in vain, hoping that the wireless search might bring some word from the missing vessel whose crew would be able to give details of their breadwinners and make more than 10,000 women and children dependent upon charity. First hopes, based on the stoutness of the ship, faded when survivors of the New Foundland told of the two days' blizzard and the condition in which it caught the Southern Cross. Captain Martin said he parted company from her a week ago when the Southern Cross turned homeward with 17,000 seals. She was so deeply laden that all her provisions and part of the bunker coal were stored on deck so that every available space below could be filled with the catch. Captain Bartlett, of the Terra Nova, said the last he saw of her was a week ago Friday, when she was wallowing slowly down the coast. Other ships of the fleet sighted the steamer driving before the gale last Tuesday morning. By noon all but five of the 69 bodies of the Newfoundland's hunters brought in yesterday by the Bellevue had been identified. Attendants at the Greenfell institute, which was turned into a morgue, said that the scenes accompanying the identification of the bodies were almost beyond endurance. Father and Son Clashed Together. One woman found two bodies clasped so tightly in death that they could not be separated. They were her husband and son. The lad was wrapped in his father's arms, as if the man had been trying to shield him from the pitiless cold. The hand of another man was missing. One of the survivors who had lain helpless near the body for nearly 48 hours said his comrade, unable to stand the agony of frost bite, had sliced off the hand with his seaman's knife. A gray-haired mother, supported by her two daughters, passed down the long rows looking for her sons. Attention was suddenly drawn to them, when the woman fell to the floor in a faint. They had found not only four sons, and brothers, but two cousins among the dead. Of the thirty survivors in the hospital none is expected to die, but most will never be fit for active service again. Three lost both hands and feet. Five lost both feet. Eight others lost a foot and 11 will lose a hand or fingers.

SALEM BEER is brewed in one of the most modern plants on the Pacific Coast. It is aged in steel glass-lined tanks. It is conveyed by modern pipe line system direct to the bottle house, bottled under pressure and therefore never comes in contact with the air from the time it leaves the fermenting tank until the bottle is opened by the consumer. The consumer is absolutely assured a beer of ideal effervescence, snap and purity. A trial will surely convince any one of the excellence of Salem Bottled Beer.
