who died June 20, 1911, leaving holdings of the present value of approx-imately $89,000, appeared yesterday, represented by 14 sets of attorneys, as represented by 14 sets of attorneys, as defendants in the escheat proceedings brought by the State of Oregon against Agnes Butts, administratrix of the Winters estate. Judge Morrow, before whom the case is being heard, has set aside one week for the trial, but some of the attorneys in the case say that it cannot be tried in less than a month.

Depositions from claimants in almost Depositions from claimants in almost every state in the union, represented in the trial by attorneys from other states, have been filed and will be introduced at the trial. Attorney Idleman, counsel for the administratrix, at the morning session read a telegram from a woman in Auburn, N. Y., who asked that the escheat proceedings be postponed until she could submit new evidence, which she said would establish her claims beyond all doubt.

Will E. Purdy Pirst Claimant, Will E. Purdy First Claimant.
Litigation over the Winters estate has been carried on almost continuously since his death in June, 1911. The first claimant to assert his alleged interest was Will E. Purdy, who averred he had received a deed to the property at Grand avenue and East Davis street from Winters before his death, but which, because of an agreement with Winters, he had not recorded until after his death.
Purdy was defendant in a suit

Attorneys Are Many.

Among the attorneys who appeared in court representing one or more of the claimants are Ganoe & Chmart, Hall & Lepper, Annel R. Clark, William M. Gregory, Will E. Purdy, Manning. White & Hitch, Barge Leonard, U'Ren & Scheubel, of Oregon City; Angell & Fisher, Emmons & Webster, Lanyan & Mendenhall, of Oakland, Cal.; Samuel Griffin, of Kanass; George W. Gearhart and Roscoe Hurst. Attorney Ralph Citron, who has been engaged in the case for several years, District Attorney Evans and John F. Logan, appeared for the state and C. M. Idleman for Agnes Butts.

Up to that moment I had not given the coming Easter Sunday as much as a thought. I knew in a general way that when eggs got cheap in the Spring of the year the Easter festival came along; I also knew that eggs were now down pretty low considering, just considering. down pretty low considering, just considering. But I attributed the low price to the invasion of the Chinese with ancient eggs.

I had hardly landed in the chair and had a scalding towel applied to my countenance than I was reminded of Easter. The big blonde remarked that the following Sunday would be Easter, and she hoped, it would be a charming day. "Not," she continued, "that it makes any difference to me, none in the least, for I will have no new bonnet to show, and what does Easter amount to without you have a new bonnet?"

ladies' headgear, who has an establishment up near the big stores. I told her I had heard Madame Paree was great on style, also on prices.

"I admit her prices are rather steep, but think of having an Easter bonnet from Madame Paree's! Not that I can afford such a luxury; why, I have been there several times during the last two weeks, and for the bonnet I want she asks $35." She rolled these words off her tongue as if they meant a regular Rockefeller amount. "But it is such a lovely love of a bonnet. And it is so becoming to me. Why, it makes me look only 20 instead of the 25 I really am."

STARVING SCHEME FAILS

"Really, that was the blow that almost killed father; but I silently argued that looks are deceptive, especially in blondes, so I allowed her to go on with her face massaging, having finished the haircut, shave and shampoo. "I really do not know what to do about it. I really can't afford it, I really and truly can't. My business is not very good. Some of these cheap lady barbers, who have no reputation to maintain and work apprentices as full barbers, they cut into my trade fearfully, until the gentlemen know. by Dr. Robert Wahl, President of the Wahl-Henius Institute of Fermentology. We reprint from his letter.

> "Our observations, extending over the last twenty-five years, have convinced us beyond a doubt that exposure of beer to light has a very detrimental in-fluence on its quality generally, but es-pecially upon the flavor of the beer

We have tested beers repeatedly in this direction, placing the bottles into direct sunlight, and testing the same after one, two, three and five minutes exposure, found that the beer with three and five minutes exposure became undrinkable, on account of the peculiar odor developed.

The detrimental effect of light upon beer scan be successfully counteracted by the employment of brown or dark colored glass bottles, and such bottles are therefore recommendable."

He quotes famous authorities to corroborate his opinion

Authorities on the subject of the detrimental influence of light on beer are: C. Lintner Lehrbuch der Bierbrauerei 1875; S. 343. Beck, Zeitschrift-für das gesamte Brauwesen 1882, 3. 370. V. Huth, Der Bierbrauer 1876. S. 127.

So the same people keep on coming here and buying and using them until they are real chronic dyspeptics. When anyone really asks my advice. I swear by and recommend ordinary bisurated magnesla, which doesn't digest the food at all but just acts as an antacld and sweetens the sour, fermenting contents of the stomach. That stops the pain, heart burn, sour rising, wind, bloating fullness, etc. in just a few minutes, and the stomach digests its food without help or trouble, which is the proper way."

In the treatment of Rheumante Fever many physicians employ purgatives, but Dr. M. P. Greed thinks that a mild laxative is better. When the patient is billious he gives calomed in small doses, one-fifth of a grain every hour until a grain has been taken. Then after four hours he gives the patient a half ounce of citrate of magnesia, with syrup of lemon to disguise the teste, or he keeps the bowels open with the mild lazative "Actoids." The diet should be light, and all animal food should be excluded as far as possible from the distary. For the pain and fever he has found nothing equal to Anti-Kammia Tablets, giving two tablets every 2 to 8 hours as required. These tablets may be obtained from all druggists in any quantity desired.
