

CARD THREAT SENT MINISTER'S ACCUSER

Case Against Methodist Clergyman Grows Apace as Witnesses Testify.

KISS TURNS TO TRAGEDY

As Parishioner Is About to See Hopes of Religious Conversion of Her Husband, Dr. Jacob Price Spills All.

NEW YORK, April 6.—A threatening postal card to Mrs. Hilma Dohl, advising her not to press her charges, was today's contribution to the incidents which have attended the secret ecclesiastical trial of Dr. Jacob E. Price, the Methodist clergyman who is charged with misconduct by nine women members of his congregation. Mrs. Dohl said on the stand that Dr. Price had made improper proposals to her and "treated her as no man had ever treated her before."

"Your accusations against Dr. Price," read the postal, "are false. I suppose you are another suffragette clamoring for newspaper notoriety. Better let this matter drop."

Mrs. Dohl told of a visit paid her last Friday by Ephraim Hill, who appeared for Dr. Price as character witness. Hill, said Mrs. Dohl, on occasions expressed the belief that the accused clergyman was guilty of the charges against him, but he advised her "to let up on a man when he is down."

Mrs. Dohl also said that Hill had previously told her that he thought Dr. Price was guilty.

It became known that during an examination today Dr. Price denied categorically the charges made against him by the witnesses.

Mrs. William Moore, a witness, told how a kiss from Dr. Price had led to what she called a tragedy in her home.

Kiss Grows to Tragedy.
"A kiss is a small thing, sometimes," she said, "but in my home it grew into a tragedy." The witness broke down as she talked, explaining that the incident caused the failure of an attempt which she had long been trying to fulfill, the religious conversion of her husband.

"I had just managed to get him interested and he was on the point of beginning regular church attendance when this awful episode happened," she said. "Dr. Price came to console with me in the affliction which had visited my mother-in-law. As we rose from prayer he kissed me on the cheek, afterwards saying it would be wise not to tell my husband about it. As a matter of fact, he found out, of course, and a storm followed."

Here she asked the jury if they thought she was justified in keeping the fact from her husband. One jurymen said her motives at least were honorable. Counsel for Dr. Price asked if she had made any movement that might have been interpreted as an invitation, but on the protest of Mrs. Moore the question was stricken out.

Pastor Smiled Greeting.
Mrs. Moore said she and her husband went to the passage together. "Dr. Price greeted us with outstretched hands, smiling," she said. "Mrs. Moore told the pastor not to touch him."

She further testified Dr. Price continued to be suave during the whole interview, which ended with his request that the Moores kneel in prayer. During the prayer Mrs. Moore asked the pastor why he had kissed his wife while he himself was visiting his sick mother. The pastor said that it was because his "sympathies ran away with him" now and then. Mrs. Moore, according to his wife, then told the pastor that in the future she would better keep his sympathies where they were wanted.

W. E. Holloway, superintendent of Dr. Price's Sunday school, testified for the defense. He denied having approached Mrs. Moore for the purpose of dissuading her from testifying for the prosecution. John Thorsen, another witness, said he had heard Hill express the belief that Dr. Price was guilty of improper conduct toward women members of his congregation.

BANK CHANGE DESIRED

STATE SUPERINTENDENT ADVOCATES AMENDMENT TO LAW.

Alleged Injustice Pointed Out, Including Requirement of Postal Deposits in National Banks.

SALEM, Or., April 6.—(Special.)—Because of numerous complaints by state banks regarding the capital requirement for state banks under the new currency law, State Superintendent of Banks Sargent said today he would ask the banking commission of various states to assist him in trying to get Congress to amend the law.

"There seems to be no objection to the minimum requirement of a section of the new measure, but many bankers think that state banks complying with all the requirements of the state laws, having capital of at least $25,000, should be eligible for membership," said Mr. Sargent. "The bill also provides that postal savings funds shall be deposited in member banks only. Many state bankers feel that this is an injustice and that the state banks are entitled to the postal deposits just as much as National banks are entitled to the State funds. As National banks are not so widely distributed as State banks, this provision may work quite a hardship upon certain communities in times of stress by reason of the transfer of local funds to other districts through postal savings banks."

"I think the capital requirements should be amended to read: Any State bank or trust company complying with the state law and having an unimpaired capital of not less than $25,000, should be eligible to membership."

W. C. T. U. HEAD IS DEAD

MRS. LILLIAN M. N. STEVENS' LAST HOURS CHERISHED BY DANIELS.

Secretary of Navy's Order Abolishing Liquors From Officers' Quarters "Splendid," Says Dying Woman.

PORTLAND, Me., April 6.—Mrs. Lillian M. N. Stevens, president of the National Women's Christian Temperance Union, died today. She had been ill several weeks with kidney trouble. Mrs. Stevens, who was born in Dover, Me., 70 years ago, continued to the last the temperance work to which she devoted most of her life.

Mrs. Stevens was informed a few hours before her death of Secretary Daniels' order barring alcoholic liquors from the Navy.

"It is splendid," she exclaimed. "It is another step forward toward National prohibition for which we are so earnestly striving."

Her last words to those outside her home were:

"Give my love to all white-ribbon friends in the state, the Nation and the world."
Funeral services for Mrs. Stevens will be held Wednesday.

OREGON WORKERS MOURN

Double Memorial Proposed but Date Is Not Fixed.

The local members of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union are sharing with the representatives of the organization in all parts of the Nation in mourning the loss of the National president, Mrs. Lillian M. N. Stevens, whose death took place yesterday in Portland, Me. At the headquarters deep regret is expressed in the passing of the leader of the white-ribbons. It was only a few weeks ago that a large meeting was held in the library celebrating the birthday of Mrs. Stevens.

"We feel the loss keenly," said a prominent worker, "for it has come so soon after the death of Mrs. Edith Hill Booker, the president of the Oregon W. C. T. U. We will undoubtedly hold a memorial service in the near future, but so far no definite plans have been made."

Mrs. Stevens was in Portland in October, 1912, when she presided at the 29th annual convention of the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

Mrs. Stevens was born in Dover, Me., on March 1, 1844. She was married at the age of 21, and soon after began to take an active interest in temperance work. On the death of Frances Willard, in 1898, Mrs. Stevens was elected president, and has since been repeatedly re-elected. She has presided at many notable gatherings, among which was the world's W. C. T. U. convention held in Geneva in 1907.

Payday Regulation Aim.

WASHINGTON, April 2.—Representative Hill, of Cairo, Ill., has introduced a bill requiring all interstate railroads, steam or electric, to pay their employees "as often as semi-monthly."

The bill would forbid interstate roads holding back the earnings of their employees longer than 18 days in addition to requiring semi-monthly pay days. Some railroads pay their employees only once a month and hold back their earnings for a full month or more.

Wedding of Stage Celebrity to Former Husband of Lady Randolph Churchill Is Within Hour After Latter's Decree.

LONDON, April 6.—(Special.)—The marriage of George Cornwallis-West to Mrs. Patrick Campbell at the Kensington Registry today took everybody by surprise. In fact, the decree obtained by Lady Randolph Churchill against Mr. Cornwallis-West last July had only been made absolute a little more than an hour when the marriage was announced. Few, even of the bride's most intimate friends knew the ceremony was to take place and those to whom the news was confined were enjoined to maintain secrecy and were requested not to be present when the marriage took place.

The ceremony, at which only two witnesses attended, was over within a quarter of an hour. After church the couple left for the country, but it is understood they will return at the end of the week, as Mrs. Campbell is to take the part of Eliza Doolittle in Mr. Bernard Shaw's play "Pygmalion," which will be performed for the first time at His Majesty's Theater next Sunday.

ASSESSORS TOO TALKATIVE
Lovely Women on Force Cannot Keep Secrets Found in Work.
CHICAGO, April 4.—Because women assessors have been talking too much, the Board of Assessors yesterday issued a warning that deputies will be discharged if they make public information regarding their work.
Chicago newspapers printed stories regarding the work of women assessors in several fashionable homes on Lake Shore drive.
These stories told of onyx bathtubs, expensive tapestries, hydro-aeroplanes and rare paintings.
Many complaints were made by families a detailed description of whose household effects had been made public.
"I conduct an ethical drug store," said Haas. "I sell nothing on Sundays but necessities."
"Would you sell a piece of soap?" asked Chief Justice Russell.
"No, sir," replied Haas. "I consider soap a luxury."
He won.
