2 OUTLAWS KILLED, 3 HURT IN BATTLE

Two of Wounded Caught, Third and Sixth Man Escape After New Hazleton Robbery.

Fleeing Robb vs Carry Away $1100 of Bank's bunds in Raid That Resembles That Made by Gang at Elma, Wash.

Gang May Be Elma Outlaws. The band of robbers may have been the one which had in the past year robbed the hanks at New Hazleton, B. C., Granite Fall - Wash, Abbotsford, B. C., and Elma, Wash, It was the custom of the gang to appear suddenly at a bank during business hours, compel the bank during business hours, compel the tellers to hand over all the money in their cares, and then disappear. The robbers were always unmasked and were dressed like loggers or railroad laborers, with slouch hats, boots and rough coats. After the four robberies no one who saw the robbers could give a good description of them, or even be sure of their number. Some said there were five, others six or seven. The team work of the robbers was wonderful. Each one knew just what to do. Heretofore a great show of firearms was made, but shooting was avoided. After each of the four robberles the men took ostensibly for the woods, but it is evident they had a means of flight carefully arranged, for they were never intercepted. Instead the posses were soon besiegting and even firing at one another, as was notably the case after the Elma robbery last month, when the robbers escaped with $4280.

The robbers were not more than half a minute in the bank. As they backed out, the clerks began to reach for their platols and in reply to this movement, the robbers fired several shots through counters and walls. The only man hit was Fenton, a ledger keeper, who suffered a scalp wound from a splinter knocked out of his desk.

The shooting alarmed the town and neveral cowboys who happened to be in a hardware store got their pistols into play at once. The Provincial police, who have been on the watch for just such a robbery, also began shooting from cover at the outlaws.

Immense Possibilities of Fisheries and Mines Cannot Be Estimated.

Jolly Mike Martin, Former Portland Citizen, Pioneer in District-Other Oregonians Live in "Southern Gate of Awakening North."

The first thing that attracts the attention of the newcomer is a vast concrete building near the wharf. It is something like 50 by 100 feet, five stories, but not a window above the first story. It is a new cold storage plant, just getting ready for business. Another large plant of the same kind is in the upper part of town. It handles a large amount of salmon and halfbut, two important industries here; in fact, the most important at present.

kan slogan. I cannot as yet vouch for its full truthfulness, but from present observations it seems no great flattery. Anyhow, they are doing things here. This may never be a great agricultural region, probably never will be. The soil is not suitable. But the fisheries and mines may have possibilities beyond our dreams.

Two prospectors, U. S. Rush and George E. Brown, have opened a mine 49 miles from here, on Prince of Wales Island—would that we could change it to a good American name—have opened a "prospect" from which they have taken ores valued at $509,000 and have another half million in sight. They are down only 147 feet. These mountains are full of copper and gold, with Ketchikan as the center.

Two other specifications, one accusing Dr. Price of "immorality in conduct in violation of the moral law," and the other of "induigence of sinful tempers and words" were not sustained.

It was the judgment of the select committee, which reported to the conference, that Dr. Price "should be and hereby is admonished" as a result of his confession on the first specification.

Report Received in Silence

Bishop Wilson, presiding at the conference, directed the conference to re-ceive the finding of the committee without any expression of approval or disapproval. The committee's report accordingly was received in silence accordingly was received in silence.

The court did not find Dr. Price guilty of acts sufficiently flagrant to demand a change of pastorate, for in the list of changes for the year, as read by Bishop Wilson, Dr. Price retains his Washington Heights pulpit.

Mrs. Claud B. Dore, wife of the actorney who prepared the charges of unministerial conduct against the pastor, was recalled to the stand today. that tor, was recalled to the stand today no and said she was quite sure Dr. Price had kissed her twice.
