Home Run, Double and Triple Aid Jess Garrett's Team to Score Off Eastley.

'Chief' Fans 'Em or Fools 'Em During Brief Time in Box, Smiling All the While-Reams Brings In Portland's Run.

One home run, a three-bagger and double perpetrated by the Helena Union Association club, coupled with a spicing of singles, gave Jess Garett's club a 7-to-1 victory over the Northwestern Colts, at Recreation Park sterday afternoon yesterday afternoon.

This game, coupled with the 17-inning 4-to-4 game of Tuesday afternoon, easily leads to the supposition that Garrett has a club which ought to carry Helena high up in the percentages of the Union Association.

Pat Eastley pitched seven innings for the Colts, and though he never seemed in hot water, the runs were garnered just the same. Battiste, the deaf and damb Sioux Indian, finished the game. The first man against deaf and damb Sioux Indian, finished the game. The first man against "Chief" was Bogart, who had singled and flied twice before. Bogart fanned by a good margin. The next two went out on files. In the next iming. Sigsby, who had touched the bail on each occasion before, only to be thrown out at first, struck out. He missed as far as Bogart. Blanchard flied and Gleason seemed doomed to strike. He passed two of them, but singled to short on the third. He went out trying to take second on a passed ball.

Baitiste's Smile Valuable.

The short time in the hox was not conclusive, but Battiste looked pretty on his introduction to the Fortland first was not conclusive, but Battiste looked pretty on his introduction to the Fortland first was not concentrate the first might have been different, as only two runs and two hits were made off him in the last four finings.

His smile, alone, amounts to something.

BY PORTUS BANTER

SEATTLE, Wash, April 8.— (Special.)—'Let'er go! We're ready!" Just such an attitude does Tealey Raymond, manager of the Seattle Giants, take of the now fast-approaching opening day of the Northwestern Baseball League. 'With a strong pitching staff, three "live" catchers, an outfield that compares favorably with any in the league, except that it is off on hitting at present, and the best infield that has represented Seattle in years, fans are chuckling at the possibility of a pennant hanging from the new flag pole in Dug's Rainler Valley Park.
