For God—for Community—for Self
Go to Church SUNDAY

Throw off the spirit of carelessness and the thought of "Let the other fellow do it."

Take hold of your moral, physical and spiritual responsibility—assume the obligation you owe to God, community and self—Go to Church Sunday.

You owe it to the God from whom all things come—the past to remember, the present to be thankful for and the future to look forward to.

You owe it to your city and community, which, through man-made laws, born in the breasts of your fellow beings, gives you protection from danger, gives you safety for your families, in a city you are proud to call your home.

You owe it to yourself to take into consideration all things, to help, to co-operate, and to put your shoulder to the wheel—be one of those who through a little time spent in church each Sunday keep this little old world as good as it is.

Lighter hearts, brighter eyes and happier thoughts will come to you after this great Go-to-Church Sunday is past.

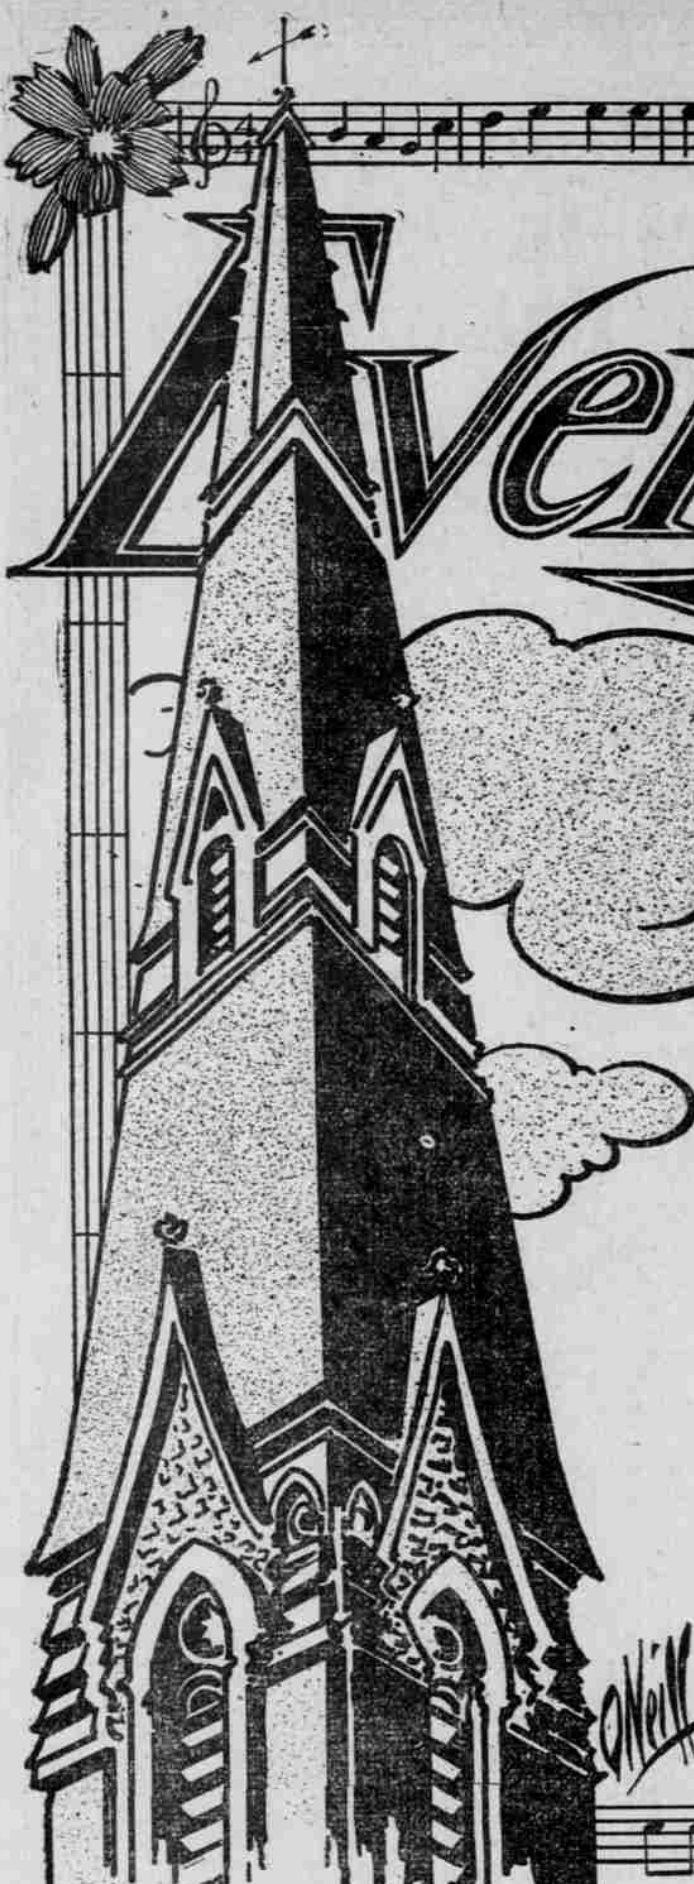

Man, woman or child, for the sake of all things as they should be, go to church this day. Strangers, for the sake of the home you have "somewhere," join us.

Go to church Sunday (tomorrow) and cast away all thought of everything but what you knew when you were a child. You will come out a different being—bigger, broader, cleaner and with a RESOLVE to do it again.

For God—for Community—for Self, Go to Church Sunday. It makes no difference where you go—but go—anywhere, your nearest church or the one of your choice. Go in the morning, if possible; take your family, or, if you are alone, drop into the morning service of some church. Decide to go—AND GO.

New Thought Declared Agency by Which Pastor Sought to Get Her Property.

COURT PHOTOS FORBIDDEN

Warm Denial Is Made by Divorce Defendant When Extravagant Taste in Dress Is Insinuated During Cross-Examination.

TACOMA, Wash., April 17.—(Special.)

"Everything has been done in the past year to destroy my affection for Mr. Barnhisel, but I still love him," was the low voiced declaration of Mrs. Olive M. Barnhisel today closing her direct testimony in the suit her husband, Rev. A. H. Barnhisel, has brought against her for divorce. It brought an excited buzz through the courtroom crowded with women from all strata of society, each asking the other what it was she said. Cross examination by her husband's attorney was then begun and following it, Mr. Barnhisel himself was recalled to the stand and produced a more detailed statement of household expenses. A night session of court was held by Judge Mitchell, but to hurry the case along. Incidentally an order was issued forbidding taking of pictures in the courtroom, Judge Mitchell remarking the case was getting all the publicity it needed. Teachings of the New Thought cult played a more important part in the day's proceedings. Mrs. Barnhisel telling of the influence brought to bear upon her minister husband by Mrs. Scovell, a local New Thought teacher.

Legal Papers Served on Both.

Papers in a mortgage foreclosure suit for $3000 were served on the Barnhiseles during the trial today. Mrs. Barnhisel testified that Barnhisel had repudiated all of Mr. Barnhisel's statements as absolutely false in regard to her suicide threats. She denied her husband's statement that the three "tragedies" of her life were her not being able to go on a long trip whenever her friends did so; being disconsolate when Kathryn, the little daughter, did not get an invitation to every exclusive dance and not being able to live in a fine house.

Dress Declared Single Luxury.

Asked on cross-examination as to how she had bought from the Shogreen sisters, of Portland, Mrs. Barnhisel recalled with some heat: "Mr. Barnhisel never paid 5 cents to the Shogren sisters. I paid those bills out of my own money. I considered them the one luxury I enjoyed during our married life." "Were your bills not $850, not including traveling expenses, during the years of Mr. Barnhisel's business life?" "They were not," answered the witness.

"Can't you make an estimate of what the bill was?" asked the attorney. "I should say not over half that," she answered.

"I had four gowns, a suit and an extra coat," she continued. In answer to further questioning Mrs. Barnhisel testified: "The suit and coat cost me $125. Ninety dollars was the cost of the gown I wore to the Snell reception. No one gown cost in excess of $125."

HARMONY IS SOUGHT

Republican Session at Tacoma to Choose Secretary.

SEATTLE MAN MENTIONED

Members of State Committee to Make Effort to Mend Breach and Concessions to Those Disaffected Are Suggested.

SEATTLE, Wash., April 17.—(Special.)

Unusual interest is attached to the meeting of the Republican State Central Committee at the Tacoma Hotel, Tacoma, at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, when a secretary will be elected to succeed C. E. Johnson, who resigned a few months ago, and organization will be perfected for coming activities. Committeemen who could be reached today stated their belief that James A. Wood, of Seattle, would be selected for the secretaryship, though E. J. Koors, secretary of the State Tax Commission, is also deemed a possible choice, and is supported by influential committeemen. The name of Lucius McGuire, of Seattle, also is suggested as a candidate.

Much interest also centers in the reported intention of Chairman Werner A. Rupp, of Aberdeen, to resign. Mr. Rupp refuses to deny or confirm the rumor, but his friends say that if it is desired to put into effect reorganization plans he will be glad to make way for the selection of a new chairman, otherwise he might be content to head the committee until the beginning of the Fall campaign.

The coming election of a Senator and five Representatives in Congress, the latter to be elected by districts, will give importance to the Tacoma conference, both from the standpoint of the party and that of the individual candidates. A large East Side delegation is expected, and among these will be a number who will assert their influence to mend the breach within the party, after having failed to bring about complete harmony at the Spokane meeting. There is a disposition among many to concede the importance of making concessions to the disaffected brethren.

Mr. Polson was added to the committee this morning at a meeting of the general committee of the Aberdeen Chamber of Commerce and of the Hoquiam Commercial Club. Mr. Delanty will go in the interests of his company. Work by the eight sub-committees which have been gathering facts and figures concerning various Chehalis Patterson, chairman of the general committee, by tomorrow night. The committee will leave early next week. The date of the hearing of the Grays Harbor jetty has been set for May 5.

SHOWERS DELAY PLANTING

Frequent Rains About Chehalis Tend to Delay Farm Work.

CHEHALIS, Wash., April 17.—(Special.)

Owing to the frequent showers that have fallen locally within the past few weeks, farmers are considerably delayed with their work. Most of the plowing has been done, but it has been almost impossible to get the seeding done. The amount of rain that has fallen is about 2.54 inches below the average, but even the showers that have come of late have little effect in evening up the average owing to the fact that they are so light in character. Farmers who were so fortunate as to get the seeding done before the Spring rains are greatly pleased, and their grains and other crops are coming on at a wonderful rate.

CLAGSTONE SEEKS OFFICE

Idaho Progressive to Make Race to Be United States Senator.

SANDPOINT, Idaho, April 17.—(Special.)

At a Bull Moose rally here tonight Paul Clagstone formally announced his candidacy for the Progressive nomination to the United States Senate and G. H. Martin, who ran for Governor on the ticket in 1912, declared he would be a candidate again this year.

Mr. Clagstone criticized the records of United States Senators Borah and Brady, and Mr. Martin scolded the State Legislature for repealing the $500 exemption on improvements, for enacting the present tax law and for refusing to enact initiative, referendum and recall laws.

MASS MEETING CALLED

INTERSTATE BRIDGE PROBLEMS WILL BE DISCUSSED. Charges Are Made Against Road and Impression Prevails That Rights Must Be Guarded.

VANCOUVER, Wash., April 17.—(Special.)

To discuss the Columbia River interstate bridge situation, a public meeting has been called here at 3 o'clock Saturday, April 18, at which time George M. Hyland, of Portland, will be the principal speaker. He will have data concerning the approaches. Farmers particularly are invited to be present. The place of meeting will be chosen tomorrow.

There is a general impression here that the Portland Railway, Light & Power Company is attempting to secure a franchise free across the bridge, to have the bridge commission build the track for it, and to be in a position to dictate the terms as to what company could be granted a common user clause over its tracks on the right of way it owns on the Union avenue extension.

In fact, at a meeting of the Vancouver Commercial Club, held last night, W. G. Drowley, an attorney of this city, read letters said to be from President Griffiths, of the Portland Railway, Light & Power Company, to J. Fred Larson, of Portland, stating these terms. The president was authorized to appoint a committee of five members to investigate the matter.

HOQUIAM STATION OPENED

Railroad Men and Large Crowds See Dedication of Building.

HOQUIAM, Wash., April 17.—(Special.)

Fully 600 persons gathered last night at the new union passenger station to hear the programme of addresses arranged as a formal opening ceremony for the $40,000 structure. A large party of prominent officials of the three transcontinental lines having terminated here and using the station attended the ceremonies, and all of the addresses except one by H. C. Heermans were made by railway men. Senator Alex. Polson presided at the ceremony.

Judge George T. Reid, assistant to the president of the Northern Pacific Railway, was the principal speaker. He praised the new building and spoke of the resources and future of Hoquiam and Grays Harbor and then turned his attention to "freak" legislation. The mania to make laws, many of them of a freakish character and tending only to hamper business rather than keep it along proper lines, has grown and has had a great part in the present financial depression, he said. He spoke hopefully of the future and of the spirit of greater confidence between railroads and the public.

PENDLETON, Or., April 17.—(Special.)

It took the trial jury just six minutes to acquit Editor John P. McManus, of the Pendleton Tribune. He had been indicted on a charge of stealing wheat. Sam Barlow was the complaining witness. The evidence showed the grain had been left in
