SAN FRANCISCO, April 17.—Harlem Tommy Murphy went the full 20 rounds with Champion Willie Ritchie at the Eighth street arena, taking severe punishment but showing great sticking powers. Several times the champion had Murphy groggy, but the Easterner came back strong near the end, taking the nineteenth round.

Ritchie won the decision of the judges.
Round 1—The fighters rushed quickly to close quarters with Murphy the aggressor. He landed several right punches to the face and the champion countered with telling right and left chops to the jaw. After a siege of wrestling and clinching, Ritchie planted a powerful right to the stomach. The Harlemiter fought back viciously and they went to a heart-breaking clinch. Ritchie peeping his opponent on the face with series of short-arm left and right smashes. Ritchie's round.

Round 2—Murphy rushed in and they fought to the ropes, Ritchie catching his man with two right stomach drives. He varied it with two lefts to the body, stopping the champion. Ritchie displayed great generalship and again met the on-coming Irishman with powerful right and left wallops to the jaw as they went to a clinch. Murphy started a fierce rally as the men fought to the ropes, both administering severe punishment. The champion, however, landed the more telling punches and had the advantage of the round.

Round 3—Ritchie met Murphy with a terrific left hook to the body, which started the Harlemiter fighting like a demon. After Murphy had swung a hard right to the jaw the Californian planted his right hand on the jaw and they went into a clinch. Ritchie battered head to head, exchanging hard short-arm punches, and as the men separated, Ritchie landed a powerful right to the lefts to the face, again taking a lead.

Round 4—Ritchie punched with great accuracy and there was a world of power behind his blows. Time and again his right found his opponent's body and quickly lefts followed to the face, bringing the blood from Murphy's nostrils. Ritchie worked the right work, driving left and right to the stomach with tremendous force. Ritchie dazed his man with clinch-cut right hooks to the face and stomach and Murphy tried rapidly. The gong rang with the champion smiling and landing almost at will, with Murphy backing against the sheltering ropes.

Murphy Shows Pluck.
Round 5—"Take it easy, Willie," yelled the crowd. Immediately Murphy electrified the spectators by fighting the champion against the ropes and landed a fusillade of short-arm blows. The local fighter promptly proved a trio of rights to the body and followed this with a half dozen lefts to the face. Murphy fought doggedly, but the round ended with the honors in favor of the Harlemiter.

Round 6—Both came up full of fight and several rallies featured the early round fighting. As the belligerents were separated, Ritchie drove three lefts to the body and stomach and two solid rights to the jaw. This slowed him up and Ritchie landed repeatedly. Murphy showed a fight back with consummate gameness, only to receive a couple of staggering facers. Ritchie by a wide margin.

Round 7—Murphy rushed, landing a powerful left on the head, after which they fought desperately against the ropes. Exchange followed exchange, each landing telling punches on the body and the Harlemiter scored two terrific rights on the body and followed it up with two to the jaw and Murphy went against the ropes. A fierce midring rally followed. Murphy giving blow for blow and the crowd was on its feet yelling for the "underdog." Ritchie's round, however.

Round 8—Ritchie started out with great vim, upcutting on the jaw time and again with right and left. Ritchie drove in right and left to the body with great force, but the Easterner never lost an inch. Ritchie forced the fighting, getting his man against the ropes, where he landed two right hooks to the jaw. Murphy never breaking ground. Murphy's infatigable fighting spirit was the well-known. Ritchie flayed him with right and left, but when the round ended Murphy danced to his corner. Ritchie's round.

Round 9—The men shook hands smilingly and then went at each other with the ferocity of panthers. Ritchie drove his man against the ropes, smothering him with lefts and rights and every assortment of punches on the jaw, head and body. The champion did all the fighting and found no difficulty in landing. Murphy, however, always came back full of fight. A right cross almost floored Murphy and his mouth bled profusely. The champion smashed away at his face and body. Murphy went to the floor from a right punch and almost through the ropes, but came back.

Murphy was groggy, however, and Ritchie flayed him on the jaw and body until the bell ended the round and fight. Referee Griffin quickly raised Ritchie's right hand and proclaimed him the winner, amid great cheering.

OREGON 6, WASHINGTON 2

Varsity Baseball Team Outplays
Students at Seattle.

UNIVERSITY OF WASHINGTON, Seattle, April 17.—(Special)—The University of Washington was completely outclassed this afternoon on the local field by the varsity baseball team, which won the first conference college game by a score of 6 to 2.

There, the Oregon twirler, blanked Washington until the sixth inning, when Graham, Washington's second baseman, hit out a home run, followed by Coughlin, who hit a two-bagger. Oregon's infield played fast ball, while Washington's did ragged work throughout the game. Oregon erred only once. Washington's error column was marked six times for the opening game.

Tuerck got six strikeouts, and Leader, of Portland, for Washington, five.
The Oregon team shows up far stronger than the 1913 aggregation. Both teams play tomorrow morning. Summary:

and was forced to break ground owing to the superior strength of the champion. Ritchie drove two rights to the body forcing the Easterner against the ropes from one side of the ring to the other. The champion peppered his man about the face and body. He repeated this performance several times, and finally all but sent Murphy through the ropes with a succession of right and left punches to the jaw. Groggily Murphy fought back and his case appeared all but hopeless at the intervention of the gong.

Round 14—Murphy toed the scratch smilingly and appeared to have regained some of his lost strength. Murphy kept close, realizing he was clearly outclassed at long-range sparring. Ritchie essayed to beat him off and finally landed a succession of right to the stomach, but Murphy never faltered. Again a right found the stomach and they battered each other at close range, Ritchie excelling. Murphy covered up and Ritchie found difficult ty in reaching a vulnerable spot. Ritchie again had the honors.

Round 15—Ritchie opened with left hooks and right and left to the face with great rapidity. The blows, however, were light. Ritchie volleyed with left and right time and again and his punches staggered the Harlemiter. Murphy was not to be denied, however, and refused to give ground. Ritchie again brought boos from the crowd by planting his right on the bleeding right ear, and the bell rang with the odds his.

Round 16—Ritchie laced out, landing without opposition on the body and face. Murphy waded in, but a right caught him flush on the jaw, staggering him. Murphy, for the first time, appeared bewildered, but he was still strong, and the champion was unable to land a finishing punch. He sepiented about his antagonist, seeking a knockout blow from every angle, but Murphy only fought back the harder. The round wound up with Ritchie landing at will, but without the strength to land a finishing punch.

Round 17—Murphy's face had lost most of its contour as he came gamely to the center, apparently full of fight. He clinched repeatedly, covering up the body of the Harlemiter and attempting to dodge. Suddenly Murphy landed a right swing to the jaw and a moment later swung right and left to the same place, with Ritchie crowding him ceaselessly, landing on the body with telling effect. Ritchie drove left and right to the face, but Ritchie, however, fought a succession of facers, making it practically an even round.

Round 18—Murphy rushed, landing a powerful left on the head, after which they fought desperately against the ropes. Exchange followed exchange, each landing telling punches on the body and the Harlemiter scored two terrific rights on the body and followed it up with two to the jaw and Murphy went against the ropes. A fierce midring rally followed. Murphy giving blow for blow and the crowd was on its feet yelling for the "underdog." Ritchie's round, however.

Round 19—Ritchie started out with great vim, upcutting on the jaw time and again with right and left. Ritchie drove in right and left to the body with great force, but the Easterner never lost an inch. Ritchie forced the fighting, getting his man against the ropes, where he landed two right hooks to the jaw. Murphy never breaking ground. Murphy's infatigable fighting spirit was the well-known. Round 20—The men shook hands smilingly and then went at each other with the ferocity of panthers. Ritchie drove his man against the ropes, smothering him with lefts and rights and every assortment of punches on the jaw, head and body. The champion did all the fighting and found no difficulty in landing. Murphy, however, always came back full of fight. A right cross almost floored Murphy and his mouth bled profusely. The champion smashed away at his face and body. Murphy went to the floor from a right punch and almost through the ropes, but came back.

Eleventh Annual Columbia
Open Programme Draws
Many Schools.

25 INSTITUTIONS ENTER

More Than 200 Athletes to Compete in 30 Events—Multnomah Club to Send Cohn After 100-Yard
Dash—2 P. M. Is Hour.

BY RALPH J. STAEBEL.
Once again Columbia University collects the track and field stars of Oregon and part of Washington at its eleventh annual open meet in the Coliseum this afternoon, but this is one of the few times that the "dopesters" can not figure out the names to put in the blank places on the programme before the meet takes place.

Four colleges, the University of Oregon, Oregon Agricultural College, Whitman College and Willamette University, and also the Multnomah Club, will enter their stars in the open events, while 29 high schools from Oregon and Southwestern Washington will take part in the academic and open events.

Several facts have combined to make this meet one of revelation. Accidents, graduation and retirement on the part of some of the Multnomah athletes have made place for the younger strain and that element will be in its heyday today.

Baker's Injury Is Blow.
The latest bit of news adding to the uncertainties is the fact that Johnny Baker, Oregon Aggie sprinter, strained a tendon in practice on Tuesday afternoon and has no hope of getting in his running clothes. Baker was picked as a winner for the 50-yard race without any opposition. Had Baker been in the race he would have had to try conclusions with Cohn, the Multnomah Club 100-yard man. Cohn formerly did that distance for the University of Michigan, and where there was doubt expressed the race was said to be between Cohn and Baker.

In fact, Cohn was being watched just as much as Baker. His college pedigree shows times that will make trouble enough for any of them and will have made Baker get on his toes.

The opposition to Cohn is the unknown quantity today. Multnomah figures that his entry is just so many points laid on the shelf. Another man who is expected to bear watching is Loucks, University of Oregon's new quarter miler.

Loucks Like Greyhound.
Loucks stands six feet four inches and when in action has all the characteristics of a greyhound. While his graduation and retirement from the track are working their hardest, Loucks takes the lead and holds it with hardly any exertion.

All these will again be present and Portland's "preps" are primed with the idea of keeping the scores at home.

And the out-of-town athletes are again in town with the idea of keeping Portland's team as far down the column of points as possible. The squads which they are bringing would indicate that they have the determination. The entry list to the eleventh annual meet has more than 200 names, 20 more than last year.

The meet starts at 2 o'clock. Columbia University can be reached by the St. Johns car, which will have special service for the day.

Chicago 6, Cincinnati 5.
CINCINNATI, April 17.—Chicago won an exciting game from Cincinnati today, 6 to 5. The locals had two men on bases and two out in the ninth, when Marsans unsuccessfully attempted to steal home, ending the game in favor of the visitors. Ames practically lost the game for Cincinnati by his wildness in the four innings he was on the ground. He gave four bases on balls, hit a man and allowed three hits, two of which were three-baggers. Davenport pitched effectively and was retired only to permit Yingling to bat

No One Would Throw Away
29 Dollars

But you might just as well do that as to wait after May 28th to buy the new

Encyclopaedia
Britannica
(11th Edition)

"the book you need"

On May 28th the price of this great library will be advanced Twenty-Nine Dollars for the book in its cheapest binding. It will be $50 more than it is now for the most expensive binding. This change in price is by instructions from the publishers of the Encyclopaedia Britannica, the University Press of Cambridge, England. The price has already been advanced in England.

Your Opportunity—If You Are Prompt

You need the Britannica. The letters we can show you from those who have bought it, have tested it, are using it daily, and are delighted with their investment in this public-information-service, this efficiency maker and time-saver will persuade you. What other buyers in every part of the world and in every station of life are getting out of the Britannica, you can get out of it. It is meeting the needs of thousands of intelligent, ambitious, shrewd and very prudent buyers. It will meet yours.

At the present prices, this "Monarch of Encyclopaedias," containing a complete exposition of all human knowledge, is easily within the reach of every man and woman of moderate means. If it is not convenient to pay cash, you can purchase the Britannica upon these very liberal terms:

Only $5.00 and the 29 Vols.
Down will be sent to you at once with the remainder to be paid month by month. This must appeal to you—it gives you an unequalled opportunity, soon to be discontinued, to possess this valuable work—the greatest library of universal information ever issued, written and edited by great men for the service of a vast public.

The new Britannica has been printed again and again, in order to keep deliveries up to the demand. Upward of 60,000 sets have already been delivered to subscribers, and

We are prepared to take care promptly
only of orders received at once

Inasmuch as the increase in prices—from $29 to $50 according to the style of binding—is inevitable, it is apparent that in two weeks or less, every one of the sets now on hand will have been sold and delivered.

This means to you—get your order for the Britannica now. We shall continue to sell the work at the present low prices until May 28th—but no order can be accepted at present prices, unless received or post marked by that day.

Orders have been more than doubled since we began the publication of these final announcements in the newspapers of all the large cities of the United States. The demand in the remaining weeks of the Britannica sale at present prices cannot be anticipated. But, in their own interest, we urge upon all intending subscribers to order at once, and thus

Save $29 to $50
Order the Britannica NOW!

The way to do it is to sign the attached order blank and send it in—a set of the Britannica will be reserved for you.

Here is a great book, made by great men, at an outlay of $1,500,000 before a single page was printed. It is conceded to be the finest, as well as the largest body of exact information ever put into book form. It consists of twenty-nine volumes, printed on genuine India paper, splendidly and substantially bound for daily use. It contains 44,000,000 words of text, more than 500,000 indexed facts, 21,000 separate articles that make 3,024 pages, 14,689 illustrations, 450 full plates, 329 maps.
