

TRUST BILL MEANS DELAY IN CONGRESS

June Adjournment Probably Made Impossible by President's Insistence.

DEBATE TO BE PROLONGED

"Gag Rule" May Shorten Period of Consideration in House, but President Himself Cannot Hasten Action in Senate.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, April 19.—President Wilson's determination to force action by Congress on the pending anti-trust bill...

Trust Programme Is Delayed. Because of the fact, recognized by all men of experience in Congress, that the Senate will debate the anti-trust bills for six weeks or more, an effort was made to induce the President to delay the anti-trust legislation...

All the Misses Wilson play tennis every day and Mr. McAdoo visits whenever he has the opportunity and when here takes a hand. He has had all three of the Wilson girls as partners, but loyally shows preference for the playing of his fiancée, though unprejudiced persons say that Mrs. Sayre is the better player, from a scientific point of view.
