

OREGON GOVERNOR WOULD GO TO WAR

West Says He Will Join Cavalry Regiment—Secretary of State May Take Place.

VETERANS EAGER TO FIGHT

Captain Max Gehlar, of Company M, Third Regiment, Reports Full War Quota—Soldiers Anxious to Get Into Conflict.

SALEM, Or., April 23.—(Special).—Captain Max Gehlar, of Company M, Third Regiment, said tonight that he had more than enough applications to recruit the company to full war quota in case it was called to the front.

"The men are anxious to go to Mexico," said Captain Gehlar, "at least last night I put the question. All who want to go to the front hold up their hands."

All hands were raised immediately. A majority of those applying to become members say they will not join unless there is assurance that the company will be in the fight and others are eager to join so there will be no chance of their being left behind in case we are called.

The commander of Sedgwick Post, G. A. R., said tonight that about 70 members of that organization were willing to go to the Philippines to do garrison duty, relieving the regulars so they could go to Mexico.

Governor West announced today that he intended to become a member of the cavalry regiment which Lieutenant P. J. Hennessey, of the United States Cavalry, is organizing.

Under the rules of the Army the Lieutenant would become Colonel of the regiment and the Governor would probably be made Lieutenant-Colonel, although the Governor said he would do even if he were but a private in the ranks.

If the Governor goes to Mexico, this would eliminate him from taking part in the coming campaign. He said he would not resign as Governor yet, yet it is said it is probable that Secretary of State Clegg would be the acting Governor for the remainder of Governor West's term.

BAKER OFFERS ONE COMPANY

Roughriding Force Suggested, but Lack of Officers Deterrent.

BAKER, Or., April 23.—(Special).—Dr. H. J. Horton, First Lieutenant of the Baker company of militia and elected as captain at the time the company was reorganized, has telegraphed the Adjutant-General telling him that he can raise a company of former members of the Oregon National Guard at its full strength of 100 members. There are 57 old guardsmen who were members of the company at the time it was disbanded and Dr. Horton believes that there are enough old members of the militia in Baker to make a full company of veterans.

Dr. Horton is taking the initiative not as ranking officer of the company at the time it was disbanded, but just because some one must start the movement if Baker is to be represented at the front. He is preparing an enlistment roll and will begin circulating it tomorrow. There is talk of organizing a troop of rough riders, but men experienced in affairs military are of the opinion that there are not enough trained cavalrymen in the county. There are plenty of riders who can snoot, but it is said no competent, experienced officers are available.

SPANISH VETERANS MAY GO

Washington Governor Would Like to See Them Get Preference.

OLYMPIA, Wash., April 23.—(Special).—If troops are called from this state, Governor Lister would like to see consideration given Spanish War veterans who are anxious to see service again, he said today, after a conference on the Washington Guard situation with Adjutant-General Jewell and Major Maurice Thompson, who will become Adjutant-General May 31. The officers assured the Governor the state guard is in excellent condition.

CORVALLIS MILITIA RECRUITS

Many Aggie Students Would Go to Front With Company K.

CORVALLIS, April 23.—(Special).—Company K, Third Infantry, stationed in this city, is preparing for a call and is recruiting to fill its ranks. It will be mobilized with a full quota of 108 enlisted men and three officers. The company is drilling every night, and First Lieutenant E. B. Young is maintaining a recruiting office both at the Armory and in the business section of the town.

ARTILLERY RESERVES EAGER

Company at Ashland 60 Strong and Can Be Recruited Rapidly.

ASHLAND, Or., April 23.—(Special).—Members of the First company of coast artillery reserves of this city are impatiently awaiting orders from military and naval headquarters, which will be issued in a few days. The local contingent is one of eight companies in the state constituting the artillery reserves. It is 60 strong and can be rapidly recruited. Previous to being merged with the artillery branch of the service, it had the benefit of infantry drill. George C. Spencer is Captain; Clyde Dean, First Lieutenant; Don Spencer, First Sergeant, and George T. Watson, Quartermaster Sergeant.

Scores Offer for Enlistment at Albany if Service Assured.

ALBANY, Or., April 23.—(Special).—Captain Powell, commanding the local company of the Oregon National Guard, is being besieged with offers of enlistment, but the offers are conditioned upon the company being ordered into active service. Thus far only one man has made a complete enlistment, but almost 50 have volunteered to enlist provided a call is made. "The company could be recruited to full war strength in a few hours if a call for service came," said Captain Powell this morning.

The local company is in the Coast Artillery Corps and its members were somewhat disheartened at the report in press dispatches this morning that in the event of a call the Coast Artillery Corps probably would be held for coast defense duty in the forts, taking the place of regulars who would go to the front. They are anxious for the carrying out of the proposed plan to change the Coast Artillery Corps into an infantry regiment so that they could see service in Mexico.

Would-Be Recruits Gather.
WALLA WALLA, Wash., April 23.—(Special).—Declaring they were anxious to join the Navy and mix up with the Mexicans, 17 men who have been working on a road gang near Walla Walla appeared at the Federal building this morning to enlist. They seemed disappointed when they learned there is no recruiting station here.

Porter pleaded to five indictments and was given a year on each. Judge Campbell paroled him on condition that he pay the costs of bringing him back to Oregon and pay back the money with which he absconded. Porter's aged mother came to his relief and reimbursed the dairymen whom Porter defrauded. The extradition cost $20 and the money paid to the farmers amounted to about $500.

THOMAS EGAN.

Thomas Egan, Irish tenor, Masonic Temple, Sunday, April 26, at 3 P. M. Seat sale, Sherman, Clay, Co. Ovation at St. Paul auditorium. An almost capacity house greeted Mr. Egan at the Auditorium. The applause given Mr. Egan's opening number amounted almost to an ovation.—Daily News, St. Paul.

When the Irish welcome anyone it is no half hearted affair; no more was that accorded Mr. Egan, just back from a triumphal tour of Ireland in opera. Mr. Egan possesses a tenor of lyric power and admirable quality. He sings with sensitive and emotional feeling—it was in his lyric numbers that his art spoke most convincingly and with authority. His voice is capable of a wide range of tonal expression, being especially beautiful in mezza-voice passages. The concert was a welcome which was little short of an ovation.—Pioneer Press, St. Paul.—Adv.

Skippy used to put away? I saw him a few years ago in New York and he had left the root off his beer but had kept up his capacity. You know all that happened after I grew up and now earning my living, a good living, too, so that I won't consider going back to Harry. He is a pretty good scrapper, because I used to have so many fights with my brother, but I prefer quiet to notoriety. This is my first professional visit to Oregon. The last visit was one of recreation and we hurried from San Francisco to the Canadian Rockies.

"Today Mr. Clifford and I walked into the country near Corvallis and a farmer invited us in to pick flowers and gave us some fresh milk. It was a great treat. As for dancing, I think that the turkey trot will be the American National dance. You have read how the waltz was first opposed when introduced after the minut and Jancos and finally became the favorite dance. Dancing is necessary exercise for tired business men and girls who are in buildings under a nervous strain all day long. Some preachers believe in it, while others connect it with all the odious things imaginable. Then there are freak steps like the fish walk. Mr. Clifford was fooling in London, when a peer asked him what he was doing. He answered that he was dancing the fish walk. The peer took it up seriously and the dance became a fad in London society. The tango and other graceful steps are here like the waltz, to stay."

Mrs. Thaw then related the story of her tour including a peep into Mexico, which she will keep fresh by a general album of kodak photographs and many souvenirs. But do you suppose that she would pose in her walking suit? Not much. She offered a batch of portraits instead. However, they are not altogether deceiving, for now she weighs 135 pounds.

EVELYN MEETS PAL

Harry Thaw's Wife Talks of Days When She Was Young.

BY JOSEPH PATTERSON.
CORVALLIS, Or., April 23.—(Special).—"It seems good to hear myself called Florence once more by somebody outside of my family after a lapse of years."

The speaker was a girl standing in the parlor of her private car Geneyrie. She wore a brown Norfolk suit, grey sweater and walking boots, having just returned from a walk into the country with her traveling companion.

"Father called me Florence to distinguish me from mother, whose name is Evelyn, which is my second and also stage name."

"The visitor was a childhood playmate. "But my ambition has changed since we climbed cherry trees together with Skippy, and Tony on the ground to watch for the gardener."

"I want to be a great dancer. I prefer private life but not too private, and I want a man of action and of spirit."

Mrs. Thaw then went into a flood of reminiscence, naming all the boys with whom she played on South Highland avenue, Pittsburg.

"Do you remember the root beer?"

COOK BOOK

Use any cook book you please—the one you have always known, or any new one if you prefer. Merely use wherever the directions say butter or lard, always remembering to use one-third less Cottolene, for Cottolene goes much farther than either butter or lard.

You really have to save money if you cook with Cottolene, for according to chemical laws, a certain amount of flour can only contain a certain amount of shortening. If you were to use as much Cottolene as the recipe called for of butter, you would have too much Cottolene. This might do no harm, except in cakes, which might fall because of being too light and delicate. Yes, this applies to every department of the cook book, even to candies.

For example, just try this:

—CODFISH BALLS.
Take a pint bowl of codfish picked very fine, two pint bowls of raw peeled potatoes, sliced thickly, and boil in cold water until the potatoes are thoroughly done. Drain off the water, mash, add butter the size of an egg, one well-beaten egg and three tablespoons of milk. Flour the hands and make into balls. Put two ounces of Cottolene into a frying pan, and when hot, fry the balls to a nice brown. Or the codfish balls may be fried in hot Cottolene after the manner of fritters.

Our FREE Cook Book, HOME HELPS, will be found a valuable supplement to any books you may now be using. Write for a copy—also order a pair of Cottolene of your grocer.
