BY ROSCOE FAWCETT. They used a ball so perhaps it was a ball game, but, to most of us it looked like a warmup for."Doo" White. Any. way, the erstwhile Chloagoan was in remarkable form, and, while his backto all points of the compass, White was busy nailing down his seventh consecutive win since joining the Venice Coasters.

Two hits and one run were secured off the delivery of Crabbe, who succeeded Perritt in the box for Los Angeles. Score:

Score: Venice, 12: Portland, 0-a sure enough "White wash."

White had the Beavers swinging like s bunch of blind women. They were utterly powerless before him. Only three safe hits were registered off his scrambled assortment of fast ones, hooks and teasers. And, it is rather hard to sink the spikes into the home pentagon on three hits, especially when those safeties are as scattered as Everything Hi sent up to the plate shot back like a three-inch shell from one of the "Prairie's" broadsides. Included in the 16 hits amassed by the growling tabby cats, were home runs by Bayless and Borton. Bayless' drive scored three of the five runs in the seventh inning, and marked Hi's exit from the Waterloo.

Hi Walks to Clubhouse.

Hi took one forlorn squint at the globule as it skidded off Dickey's bat; threw up his hands like an Armenian pawnbroker, and walked dejectedly to the clubhouse. It needed no sign from the manager to convince Hiram that he was not "right."

Fourteen stinging swats the Tigers Fourteen stinging swats the Tigers bunched off West in his 61-3 innings. Then Freddy Frambach, Idaho prodigy, assayed the difficult role of relief man Frambach got off to a flying start, lespite symptoms of wildness and allowed but two hits.

Borton's home run shot over the deep centerfield fence was the only healthy wallop the Venetians garnered. Mearling also grabbed a single off the Idaho blonde. In the afternoon, Honus led the foreign sharpshooters with three safe hits in four pilgrimages to the plate. Meleon was another mercimauler of the ladies' day mastica-

But it was no use, White had them all buffaloed.

Fielding Good on Both Teams.
The fielding, for the most part, was fine on both sides, McArdie and Haworth being the lone malefactors. Haworth's boot consisted in dropping a thrown ball at the plate in the fifth iming, permitting Leard to register.
Venice scored the winning run in the first inning on singles by Leard and Meleon. Four more pattered across first inning on singles by Leard and Meleon. Four more pattered across in the fourth on five hits and a sagrifice. Meleon, Litschi, Borton, McArdle and Elliott were the conspirators. Haworth's skip accounted for the run in the fifth after Leard's double, and now prepare for West's farewell. Elliott opened the sixth with his second hit; White fanned; Carlisle singled; West sunk one in Leard's anatomy, filling the bases. Meleon drove two across with a single to deep center. Mr. Bayless then discharged his four base gun-fire, driving two men ahead

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene, April 22. — (Special.)—The University of Oregon baseball team defeated the Cottage Grove team of the Lower Willamette Valley League here today by a score of 13 to 5. A slippery diamond promoted loose fielding by both sides, when the game was called at the end of the fifth ining on account of rain.

Wuffli shot a three-bagger along the right-field foul line, scoring Holke, and a moment later, taking advantage of the slight confusion of Portland, stole home. The Indians having gathered a run in the first inning, which they never should have had, were safe with three runs, but added another in the seventh to be safe.

Stanley pitched a nice game for Portland. The Indians frequently got the first man up to first base, but the gallant pitcher mowed down the next three or had able help from the other eight Portlanders. On the other hand, Gregg, pitching for Spokane, was unusually steady and very effective. He had support in the critical stages, better support than was given Stanley, and that told the tale. He also had some batters on his side who were out to "bust" the fence, and, while they falled, their intentions were enough to dismay the ordinary opposing pitcher.
