Grant of $4000 Assures Assembling of Land Products.

LARGER SCOPE PROPOSED

Must Give Association Privilege of Exhibiting at San Francisco Under Producers' Names-Date Not Chosen.

Granting of $4000 to the Pacific Northwest Land Products Show by the County Commissioners on Friday assures the holding of a land show this Fall, according to John S. Beall, presi-dent of the Land Show Board. It is proposed to make the show this Fall a means of gathering an adequate exhibit for the Panama-Pacific Exhibition at San Francisco.

The prizes to be offered this year will be far more generous than those will be far more generous than those at the show two years ago, and are expected to bring the best that the Northwest has to offer. It will be specified that all prize-winning fruits and vegetables shall be at the disposal of the Land Show for exhibition at San Francisco, to be exhibited, however, under the name of the original exhibitor. hibitor.

The date has not been set, but it is probable that the latter part of October will be chosen, as fruits and vegetables are at their best then, and the county and state fairs are out of the way. The show two years ago was held in November, but it is believed an carlier date would suit all concerned better.

joint meeting of the board of A joint meeting of the board of directors of the Pacific Northwest Land Products Show and the directors of the Manufacturers' Association will be held at the Commercial Club Friday to make plans for the show and arrange for the employment of a director, the raising of the funds necessary and for the immediate sotification of prospective exhibitors of the new plans.

Majestic.

T WO big, gripping dramas and a roaring farce-comedy make up the picture offering at the Majestic Theater. The "Leech of Industry" is one of the most powerful plays of capital and labor yet produced, and will prove a real treat while shown. It deals with the "everlasting triangle," two men and a woman. The story is one of intense dramatic power. The BREWERS AND BOTTLERS, HENRY WEINHARD, 13th and Burnside real struggle of industry is felt in this play. One of the greatest moments is when the train bearing Romanoff matches its speed with that of an automobile, and wins. All through the play one feels the leech. "The Little Madon'na" is another play of merit. It tells of an artist and a little girl of the slums. The father, a drunkard, dashes a Madonna image to the floor. Later, when attempting to steal from the artist, he is con-fronted by a woman dressed as a Madonna posing for the artist.

People's.

AT the People's Theater yesterday "Brewster's Millions," the thrilling and humorous comedy drama, which is now a moving picture drama in five parts, with Edward Abeles, the original star of the piece, playing the role of Monty, was a big success.

It is a comedy of numerous incidents and it plays a tune of joy on your laugh organ. Monty is left one million dollars by an uncle, and before he had time to count the million, another uncle bequeathed him seven millions, on condition that he spend the first milthe million and yet possess nothing of value at the end of the year
