TRINIDAD, Colo., May 3.—Major W. A. Holbrook, in command of the Federal troops in Colorado today placed an embargo upon the importation of arms or ammunition into the state. He announced that any arms shipped in violation of the order would be confiscated.

The embargo follows:
"Headquarters, Federal Forces, Trinidad, Colo., May 3.—To all railroad and express companies, State of Colorado: "By authority of the Secretary of War the embargo established by the state authorities on the receiving, shipping or delivering of arms and ammunition in this state will be continued. "You will therefore refrain from any of the acts above specified. "By order of Major Holbrook, commanding Federal forces."

The order applies to any arms or ammunition for the use of any person for any purpose whatever, except for the use of the Federal troops.

Saloons to Be Kept Shut.
Major Holbrook sent a letter to Mayor W. P. Dunlavy, directing him to keep the saloons of Trinidad closed until further notice. The order prohibiting the re-opening of the saloons is contained in a personal letter to the Mayor, in which Major Holbrook says: "There seems to be an agitation on foot to re-open the saloons in this country. Considering the situation as now existing, a most serious one, and that the demands of humanity, as well as of expediency, require the saloons remain closed, I, as commander of the Federal forces here, hereby direct that all saloons remain closed until further orders."

Pay Day Pinned.
Major Holbrook announced that tomorrow, which is pay day for the mining companies and the strikers, he would provide troops as guards and would not permit either the operators or the union to have armed men on duty when the men are paid off. The soldiers will accompany the paying officers to the different camps.

It was expected that 250 horses for the use of the troops in this district would reach Trinidad tonight. Coroner W. E. Sipe today received a telegram from John Schwaiger, Austro-Hungarian Consul in Denver, asking him for a list of all subjects of Austro-Hungary who had been killed in strike battles. The Coroner announced that the inquest over the men killed in the Prober battle would be held early in the week.

Cavalry's Arrival Awaited.
Further negotiations regarding the disarmament of the strikers tonight were believed to be in abeyance until the arrival of the Eleventh Cavalry, which is expected Monday or Tuesday early. Several leaders of the United Mine Workers today, in conference with Holbrook, it was stated that the subject of disarmament had not been discussed. Officers of the union today visited the site of the mine, sent a colony to make plans for rebuilding the camp. It was explained that the new colony would be located just to one side of the ruins of the old one.

The strikers have ordered material, and are ready to begin work as soon as formal permission from the authorities is had. The Eleventh Cavalry, which is expected tonight to attend a meeting of the International executive board of the United Mineworkers of America.

LAUNCH SKIPPER FINED

UNWITTING CLASH WITH OFFICIALS COSTS $250.

Collector of Port is on Bridge of Harvard When Little Craft Refuses to Answer Signal.

LOS ANGELES, May 3.—(Special).—While John O. Davis, collector of the port of San Francisco, was coming into the harbor on the Harvard Thursday night, he spoke to Long Beach launch, Nellie, Captain Malone commanding, and as a result Malone has been informed that he must pay a fine of $250. Davis was the bridge of the Harvard. The Nellie was poking her nose down the channel toward Dead Man's Island. When the hoarse whistle of the Harvard signaled the little craft there was no reply. Davis, through a megaphone, asked Captain Malone why no response was made.

The broad-shouldered skipper, not aware that he was colliding with officialdom, shouted a biting and sarcastic answer. When Davis rose ashore he reported the affair and Malone was informed of his blunder.

law." He then took his erring wife back. "I am not aware of any statute or code of morals," said Sickles to his critics, "which makes it infamous to forgive a woman. I can now see in the almost universal denunciation with which she is followed to my threshold the misery and peril from which I have rescued the mother of my daughter. I shall strive to prove to all that an erring wife and mother may be forgiven and redeemed."

Wife Dies of Broken Heart.
Mrs. Sickles died of a broken heart a few years later.

At the outbreak of the Civil War the young fighting politician, then 26 years old, went to Lincoln to offer his services.

"You have been a leader in New York Democratic politics," said the President. "If you keep your end up at that game, surely you'll do to take command of men in the field. Raise your regiments and you shall be Brigadier-General."

Famous Brigade Assembled.
Sickles raised the famous Excelsior Brigade in New York, taking command of one of its regiments as Colonel Lincoln kept his word, and in 1861 he raised him to Brigadier-General. His fighting spirit early won him his spurs.

On the Peninsula at Antietam he distinguished himself as a soldier and leader. At Chancellorsville he led a division. At Gettysburg he led the Third Corps, lost a leg, and became a national hero. At 37 years of age he had risen from a Colonel to Major-General of volunteers.

After the war his fighting spirit led him into the Regular Army, and he became, first, Brigadier and then Major-General. He continued active service until 1893, when he was appointed Minister to Spain by President Grant.

At the court of Spain, Sickles' vigorous personality made him a dominating figure. Four years of brilliant diplomacy brought him the epithet of "The Yankee King of Spain." Here a contracted his second marriage.

FIGHT TO RESTORE HOME RULE TO IRELAND AS DRAMATIC AS FIGHT WHICH TOOK IT AWAY CENTURY AGO.

THEN.
One hundred and twenty years ago today occurred the events which resulted in an insurrection for the independence of Ireland. At midnight of that day Dublin was in an uproar. The doors of a local legislative reform club, a branch of the United Irishmen Society, burst open with a crash. In the doorway stood the scarlet-coated soldiers of the King, covering the assembled Irishmen with their guns. The leaders were arrested and carried off to jail for treason. From this moment dates the insurrection that was fought out four years later. Ireland was flooded with government troops, but the society grew rapidly. Oaths of membership and secrecy were administered. Pikes and munitions of war were secretly distributed and hidden for the uprising. The society had more than 500,000 members at the beginning of 1798. Stern measures to stamp out the rebellion were instituted.

The insurrection began near Spafford on May 24. It raged for a month, closing in the battle of Vinegar Hill, with victory for the government. The rebellion cost the lives of 15,000 Irishmen and 20,000 English. Three years later the Irish Parliament was removed from Dublin and united with the English at London.

with the beautiful and distinguished Senator Creagh. This romance was followed by estrangement, which was to last more than a quarter of a century. In addition to this domestic trouble, came his interference in the marriage plans of his daughter to a penniless Spanish nobleman. Father and daughter separated in bitterness, the latter to return to the United States to die without reconciliation.

Returning alone to New York, General Sickles again entered politics. He served as Sheriff of New York, and at 67 he was re-elected to Congress.

General Sickles' life drew to a close with frequent romantic situations. He faced bankruptcy proceedings in his last years, though he had early in life received a large share of his father's $3,000,000 estate, but his estranged wife and son came to his aid on several occasions.

His last days were spent at 23 Fifth avenue, New York, surrounded by war relics and attended by his faithful negro servant.

RAINIER GLACIERS THEME

SECRETARY LANE CAUSES BOOK-LET ON MOUNT TO BE ISSUED.

F. E. Matthews Writes of Scenic Wonders Rivaling Alps, Found Within Few Miles of Portland.

WASHINGTON, May 3.—That the glaciers in Mount Rainier National Park are equal to the celebrated glaciers of the Alps is brought out in a pamphlet entitled "Mount Rainier and Its Glaciers," just issued by direction of Secretary Lane. "The impression still prevails in many quarters," says Mr. Matthews, "that true glaciers, such as are found in the Swiss Alps, do not exist within the confines of the United States, and that to behold one of these rare scenic features one must go to Switzerland or else to the less accessible Canadian Rockies or the inhospitable Alaskan coast. As a matter of fact, permanent bodies of snow and ice, large enough to deserve the name of glaciers, occur on many of our Western mountain chains: in the Sierra Nevada of California, and farther north, in the Cascade Range."

"Easily king of all is Mount Rainier. More than 14,000 feet high, it is overwhelmingly impressive, both by the vastness of its glacial mantle and by the striking sculpture of its cliffs. The total extent of its glaciers amounts to no less than 45 square miles, an expanse far exceeding that of any other single peak in the United States. Many of its individual ice streams are between four and six miles long and vie in magnitude and in splendor with the most boasted glaciers of the Alps. Cascading from the summit in all directions, they radiate like the arms of a great starfish. All reach down to the foot of the mountain and some even advance considerably beyond.

"Mount Rainier stands on the west edge of the Cascade Range, overlooking the lowlands that stretch to Puget Sound. Seen from Seattle or Tacoma, 60 miles distant, respectively, it appears to rise directly from sea level, so insignificant seem the ridges about its base. Yet these ridges themselves are of no mean height, as they rise 3000 to 4000 feet above the valleys that cut through them, and their crests average 6000 feet in altitude.

"The crowning snow-mass, which was once supposed to be the highest point in the United States, still bears the proud name of Columbia's Crest. It is about 125 fourth-class postoffices, snowdune, heaped up by the westerly winds. Driving furiously up through the great breach in the west flank of the mountain, between Paradise Success and Liberty Cap, they eddy lightly as they shoot over the summit and there deposit their load of snow."

This publication, which includes a sketch map and 24 illustrations showing the ice fields, and which may be obtained for 15 cents from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C., contains detailed descriptions of the peculiar phenomena of the ice fields, such as the depressions known as snow caps, the ice cascades, the slabs of rock called glacial tables, and the insects which thrive on the icy fields of snow.
