

ROAD BOND CAUSE MARION GAINS

Whirlwind Campaign for $850,000 Issue Shows People Are Studying Problem.

VOTERS TO DECIDE MAY 15

Comparison of Clatsop and Columbia Situations to Present One Is Taken to Indicate That Victory Is Probable.

BY ADDISON BENNETT.

SALEM, Or., May 5.—(Staff Correspondence.)—On the 15th of this month, a week from next Saturday, the voters of Marion County will make known by their ballots where they stand on the road question, for on that day they will pass upon a proposition to issue bonds to the amount of $850,000 for the purpose of building permanent roads.

Beginning yesterday the advocates of this bond issue, the believers in that way of getting at least a start on a system of highways commensurate with the intelligence and prosperity of the people of Marion, began a campaign which will give every voter in the county an opportunity to hear from good speakers what the bonding proposition really means. The good roads advocates have been fortunate enough to place the campaign in the hands of John H. Scott, who for eight years, from 1906 until 1908, was the County Judge of this county, and it is a matter of truth and justice to say that never in the State of Oregon was there a fairer or more conscientious county official than John H. Scott.

And, which is more to the point, the people of Marion admit that. They will tell you that Mr. Scott never handled a dirty dollar in his life; that not a single penny ever stuck to his fingers that did not honestly belong to him. They will go beyond that and tell you that John H. Scott for many years was the most persistent "road crank" there was in Oregon. The first good roads conventions ever held in the state were held under the auspices of Mr. Scott and Major Thielens, both of this city, and they and their associates were the staunch advocates of good roads bills before the Legislature for a number of years.

Many Meetings Planned. I say this much to show how fortunate the advocates of good roads were to have Mr. Scott in charge of what is to be a whirlwind campaign, running until the night before election. From four to six meetings will be held every evening, and every village, every hamlet, every town and city and nearly every schoolhouse will house one or more meetings.

And as was the case in Clatsop and Columbia, far, far more, in the two days I have been here I have talked with a great many voters and have found the enthusiastic strong in argument and belief; while the opponents are lukewarm and liable to flip over and vote for the bonds. So I expect to see Marion set herself down on the side of good roads and real progress.

I had the rare good fortune last night to attend a meeting about five miles south of Salem, at a schoolhouse on the Liberty road. It was a schoolhouse, it was a schoolhouse until property overran it. Then a fine four-room structure was erected on the old building moved to an adjacent site and turned into a hall for the use of the district. In the same structure Mr. Scott addressed the first good roads meeting held in Marion outside of Salem.

Promise Carried Out. When it was held, nearly a year ago, he had to travel out to the meeting over that which was a road only in name. Mr. Scott promised if the voters would stand by him, he would give them a good road; and he did. It is a pretty well run down now, and under the new law $50,000 is to be expended upon it, but we wait over it last night in Mr. Scott's machine at a good clip in ease and comfort. The voters ought to remember that, and they will.

The hall was well filled, and I want to say that I never saw a more intelligent audience. They were inquisitive, they asked questions, real questions. They did not settle for the usual "yes" and "no" answers. They wanted to learn and listened intently to all that was said to them. So, judging from the meeting, from the warmth with which Mr. Scott was received and the belief which seemed apparent in the eyes of his audience in his arguments and statements, it looks like the people of Marion will achieve a handsome victory at the polls.

MT. HOOD ROAD GRADED

Workmen Busy on Highway Near Rhododendron Tavern.

SANDY, Or., May 5.—(Special).—E. Coalman has a considerable force of men at work on the road between Welch's and Rhododendron Tavern and the tollgate. Trees have been cleared on both sides and the road graded, preparatory to the large travel expected for the Mount Hood resorts this year.

The State Highway Engineer was in this vicinity inspecting the road at Dover, Astwood and Douglas communities. Good roads day was generally observed in the Dover district, most of the men turning out and doing a good day's work.

The stage automobile made the trip through to Government Camp last week. Sandy Woman's Club will hold its last meeting for the season Thursday at the home of Mrs. Shetterly, and it will be the important meeting of the club.

The Sandy band will give its first public concert Saturday night in Shelley's Hall.

BIG APPLE CROP SEEN

Washington Officials Report Record Yields Indicated.

OLYMPIA, Wash., May 5.—(Special).—Heavy apple crops throughout Eastern Washington, from the coast to the mountains, are indicated by reports by state horticultural inspectors to Assistant Commissioner Morrison, in charge of the horticultural division of the state department of agriculture. In parts of the state the season is advanced. No serious damage to apples was done by recent frosts, inspectors report, though in the lowlands of the Yakima Valley, Spokane County and especially in Walla Walla, peaches, cherries and other less hardy fruits suffered. In the Yakima Valley the prediction is for heavy crops of apples and in the Wenatchee district for a "record-breaker."

The officers of the Y. M. C. A., who for several years have maintained a bureau to assist in supplying work for applicants, will participate in the conference. The task has grown too large for the association to continue unaided.

18 MAD CATTLE KILLED

BABIES SAID TO BE EPIDEMIC IN LOWER BURNT RIVER.

Infatuated Animals, Met in Canyons, Attack Teams and Drivers—Coyote or Dog Bites Found on Legs.

BAKER, Or., May 5.—(Special).—Reports of hydrophobia among cattle on Lower Burnt River, more serious than any which have yet been received, were brought here today by Elton Slayley, a rancher near Weatherby, who says that in the last few days farmers have been forced to destroy 18 cattle infected with rabies. So serious is the condition, Mr. Slayley said, that those driving through the Lower Burnt River Canyon hesitate about doing so without being armed, as infuriated cattle encountered on the narrow road make travel dangerous. One valuable bull belonging to Albert Hindman was killed Sunday. The animal first was found attacking a team of horses. It tried to drink, could not get its head down to the water, and finally dashed madly at a sand bank. It was frothing at the mouth when killed and on its flanks were found the imprint of a bite from a coyote or dog.

A rancher driving through the canyon Sunday met a cow which dashed at the team, causing the horses to run away.

Mr. Slayley says none of the farmers in that section believe the malady is anything other than hydrophobia.

LEGIONS GLAD TO PRAISE FRUITOLA

They Say It Helped Them Out of Grave Dangers and Difficulties.

The only true test of the merit of an article is the unprejudiced opinion of those who have personally used it. There is a medicine originated in California that has for years sold by word of mouth recommendation until today people all over the United States and Canada buy it and praise it. It is the most remarkable, too, as it is a remedy for a very serious condition, which is most benefited at once or its use will be discontinued.

The remedy is called Fruitola and it is recommended in pain due to hardened bile forming into stones in the gall bladder. When these stones pass from the gall ducts into the intestine the pain is hardly bearable. The pain is usually felt at the margin of the ribs on the right side and extends to the shoulders and abdomen. There may be vomiting, chills and fever, but the trouble is not promptly stopped, the skin becomes yellowish, indicating a condition known as jaundice.

All manner of things are recommended for this condition, including surgical operations, but many have found absolute relief by the use of Fruitola. A bottle is taken at a dose, as in cases of this kind decisive action is necessary. Among the legions who have taken Fruitola are Mrs. S. E. Mink, of Allison Park, Pa., and Mr. Alfred Gowney, of 48 Carmelita St., San Francisco, and they both say it helped them to pass what they believe were gall stones and it saved them from being operated upon. Thousands of others write along the same line.

In severe constipation, when milder means fail, Fruitola has proven effective. It is prepared only by the Pinna Medicine Company, Monticello, Ill., for whom this is published, and can be obtained at any drugstore with full directions for use.

MINISTER'S APPEAL HEADED

Youth Convicted of Assaulting Pastor Freed by Judge.

BAKER, Or., May 5.—(Special).—Walter Jones, 19, under sentence for assault on Rev. Frank Hopkins, of Richland, was paroled today by Judge Anderson when Rev. Mr. Hopkins made an appeal for the youth.

The minister learned that Jones had attacked him under the belief that his mother had been maligning from the pulpit. This was untrue and when young Jones sent the minister a penitent note of apology he interceded for the youth in whose conviction he had been instrumental. Jones was released today.

Jones' father also was freed on paying a fine after serving a short jail sentence on a charge of bootlegging.
