

PEACE IN IRELAND SAID TO BE SOUGHT

Feeling of Public Said to Be Far From as Keen as Many Are Led to Believe.

FINANCES MAY PROVE RICK

Timothy J. O'Connor Says "Honorable Compromise" is Expectation but He Admits Ministry Errs in Not Visiting Country.

BY TIMOTHY J. O'CONNOR. DUBLIN, May 5.—I have just returned from an extended tour in the provincial centers of Ireland, visiting in turn the cities of Belfast, Londonderry, Cork, Waterford and Limerick, as well as the more important country towns, and have been in intimate touch with representative Irishmen of all sections and classes and discussed with them freely and fully the various aspects of the home rule question.

I am thus enabled to voice the views of the more moderate and fair-minded Nationalists and Unionists whose opinions are but slightly exaggerated, but who, nevertheless, represent the largest and by far the most important section of the community.

At the outset I may say that, outside the northeast corner of Ulster, nowhere is the feeling of the great majority of intelligent Irishmen so keen or enthusiastic on this question as many are led to believe.

The moderate Nationalists, who comprise the large number of farmers who have secured an indubitable title to their holdings under the several land acts, and the well-to-do shopkeepers and merchants who have ever been the backbone of the National movement, look forward with confident assurance that the home rule question will not last be amicably settled by an honorable compromise acceptable to fair-minded men of all sections and to the home affairs of the country.

It is also on the financial side that the greatest difficulty is experienced in dealing with the question from the Ulster standpoint. It has been shown in the average Ulsterman of substance is firmly convinced that the financial margin in the home rule bill is too small to permit satisfactory working, more especially as he knows there is a great amount of social reform work required in Ireland which will have to be taken in hand at once by the Irish Parliament.

He knows that a land tax would be exceptionally heavy in Ireland, and much so, indeed, that it would be practically impossible for an Irish Chancellor to carry a budget imposing it. Such being the case, it is not surprising that the Ulsterman of substance is specially taxed to raise the required revenue. Many of these industries are worked at so small a profit that even a small tax would seriously retard their development.

Compromise, Declared Hope. Were acceptable safeguards, introduced in reference to the education question, the financial provisions of the home rule bill made more generous, entry to the higher posts in the Irish civil service to be by competitive examination and an assurance given of adequate representation of Protestants in both the lower and upper houses of the Irish Parliament, the great objection of the Ulster opposition would immediately vanish.

Rational and reasonable Ulstermen are hoping that an acceptable compromise may be arranged and they have no desire to be ostracized from the rest of the British Empire. Irishmen who are sincerely devoted to the welfare of their country and strongly resent any accusation to the contrary. The proposal that Ulster should be treated as a separate province, only they feel their position even more keenly at the present juncture. The proposal that Ulster should be granted a measure of home rule within home rule has occasioned a universal feeling of alarm and dismay in the other parts of the country.

The Cabinet for the last 15 months has thought and talked of little else than Ireland, but in all that long period no Cabinet Minister has ever been sent to Ulster, save Mr. Birrell. Can it be wondered that misunderstanding is so rife, when Ministers will not trouble to visit the province whose fate they seek to settle so lightly?

EFFEL RISES AND FALLS

Immense Tower Helps Scientists as a Thermometer.

LONDON, May 5.—(Special).—The Eiffel Tower, which has just celebrated its 25th birthday, has of late years become extremely useful to scientists. Its suitability for meteorological observations of atmospheric pressure has enabled it to be utilized as a kind of barometer, while alterations in its height, as the temperature rises or falls, have made it the most stupendous thermometer in the world.

These variations in size have been carefully measured by M. Guillaume, and show surprising and remarkable responses to the interposition of clouds, sudden bursts and sunshine, or the cooling effects of showers of rain. In addition, it is now connected with the Paris Observatory, and from its summit Greenwich mean time is wirelessly sent out twice every day, for the benefit mainly of mariners, who are thus enabled to check their chronometers, and the accuracy of which depends on the ascertainment of a vessel's position in the trackless oceans.

COTTON FIRES COMMON

After 26 Blazes Occur in 17 Days, Bombay Sets Guards on Stock.

BOMBAY, May 5.—There have been 23 fires among the cotton stocks here since the beginning of the year, 25 of these having happened in the past 17 days. The fire brigade estimate the damage at $2,290,616, but this may be far below the mark, as the police estimate that the two biggest fires alone destroyed over $2,000,000 worth of cotton.

It is understood that the Bombay government is about to appoint a com-

Sensitive Poor of London Give One or Two Pennies Each Trip.

LONDON, May 2.—A police court case has called attention to the existence in London of an avocation which is not known to exist anywhere else in the world. It is that of pawner, a profession given over entirely to women who, in the poorer districts of London, undertake for a small compensation to carry the goods of their necessitous but sensitive neighbors to the pawnshops.

PLASTER OF PARIS KILLS

Housewives Instructed in Way to Get Rid of Cockroaches.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—With the advent of the "clean-up" season, Uncle Sam has had the housekeeper in mind and has caused the Department of Agriculture to issue the following leaflet.

With the approach of the warm Spring weather, cockroaches multiply rapidly and leave their winter hiding places. If cockroaches are troublesome in the house, the following simple remedy, recommended by one of the Department of Agriculture's scientists, will unquestionably destroy great numbers of the pest and keep them in check as effectively as troublesome insect powders and dangerous poisons.

Mix one part of plaster of paris and three or four parts of flour. Place the dry mixture in a saucer or on a flat piece of wood or tin where roaches are numerous. Near by place another flat plate containing pure water. Supply a few inclines of wood or cardboard from the flour to the edge of the plate or saucer to give easy access. Flood the water with plaster.

Another simple trap which has been successfully used in the following: A deep vessel or jar is partially filled with salt beer, for which roaches seem to have a special fondness. A number of flat strips of rough wood are placed at an incline against the vessel and bent over so that they project into the interior a few inches. The roches climb up the inclined sticks to get the beer and slip off into the vessel.

This trap proves more attractive to certain species of roaches than the others. The so-called Oriental cockroach is more readily attracted by this

MR. PINDELL AT CAPITAL

Visit Starts Rumor That He Was to Sail on "Piffie" With Bryan.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—Harry M. Pindell, owner of the Peoria (Ill.) Journal, passed a few hours in Washington one day recently. Mr. Pindell is the man who resigned as Ambassador to Russia in 1907.

When it was learned that Pindell was in town the story was started on its rounds that Secretary of State Bryan had summoned him to take command of the good ship Piffie, on which he was to sail for Tampico to exchange the Chautauqua salute with Vice Huerta.

The good ship Piffie was the last of the line of the good ship Piffie, which was built at the annual dinner of the Military Order of the Carabao, which aroused so much indignation on the part of Secretary of State Bryan.

CANADIAN PACIFIC TO INCLUDE MANILA AS PORT OF CALL.

Trans-Pacific Service From Vancouver by Palatial Steamers Result of Widespread Request.

MONTREAL, April 29.—Significant in its indication of possible future policy in the inauguration of a new Canadian Pacific trans-Pacific service from Vancouver to Manila, P. I. via Japan and Chinese ports.

The bringing of the United States lines now out of the question. It will also put Manila on the direct line of the heavy tourist travel around the world from Great Britain by the Canadian Pacific.

A sensational feature is that these steamers will cut the time from the Pacific Coast of North America to Manila by 17 days, as against 35 days the fastest time on any existing schedule, from any port on the Pacific Coast.

After taking the Akos mineral treatment four weeks, I feel fine, sleep well and do my housework without Akos is a natural tonic just as nature prepared it. Mrs. Edgerton is but one of hundreds in Portland and vicinity who have checked their nerves, rheumatism, rheumatism, kidney liver and bladder trouble, catarrh, eczema, piles, ulcers and other ailments with Akos. The mineral has rare curative virtues and heals whatever it touches. Akos is put up in different forms merely for convenience of application. Admirers of Author Fail to Meet Charge Fixed by Owner and Founder of Society Faces Eviction Again.

BALZAC—6 TEL. SIDE.

ALL the admirers of the late Balzac who have gathered to see the relics of his furniture, worth perhaps $400 seem doomed to failure. His works may be translated into every language and brought out in hundreds of editions, but not enough subscribers can be found to pay $2.50 a year to keep up his house and last year Pansy, Balzac, as is well known, resided at the time of his death at No. 47, Rue Haumanard, in 1908 M. de Royoumont, a man of letters, tried to establish in 1908 a museum in honor of the memory of Balzac. The house belongs to Madame Barber, 80 years of age, and the admirers of the author of the "Comedie Humaine," M. de Royoumont was to pay $600 a year, which was to be defrayed chiefly by means of the voluntary contributions of the Society of Admirers of Balzac, which he founded, and whose members were to pay $2.50 a year.

M. de Royoumont was able to get together only 150 paying subscribers. The state had promised a small contribution and a few generous persons promised special donations, but all this did not suffice to make up the requisite sum for the rent. He then thought to make up for the deficit by charging visitors an entrance fee of 20 cents to visit his Balzac museum. But only 80 persons visited the museum last year and the deficit was increased to $100.

On May 1 of that year the executor of the Sheriff Maitre Albert Baitry, took an inventory of the museum, and stated that its contents consisted of an old wooden coffee, an old walnut table, a Louis XIII armchair, some statues and plaster busts and aqua et gravures representing Balzac, an unpublished manuscript, a collection of his works, and numerous books concerning Balzac. He stated that the museum was worth "anything from $40 to $400."

The magistrate before whom the case was called this time ordered the whole museum to be transferred to a furniture warehouse, unless the rent now in arrears was immediately forthcoming.

When it was learned that Pindell was in town the story was started on its rounds that Secretary of State Bryan had summoned him to take command of the good ship Piffie, on which he was to sail for Tampico to exchange the Chautauqua salute with Vice Huerta.
