

FACTS SUPPRESSED BY REDFIELD'S MEN

Mr. Humphrey Shows How Report on Lumber Tariff Ignored Testimony.

FLAGRANT INSTANCE CITED

Views of Manufacturers Omitted, but Statement Made That "Lumbermen on Coast" Regard Tariff Effect as Negligible.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, May 6.—Representative Humphrey, of Washington, openly charges the Secretary of Commerce, Mr. Redfield, with deliberate misrepresentation in the report he sent to Congress several weeks ago on the condition of the lumber and shingle industry of the State of Washington.

"The effect of the removal of the duty on lumber is almost universally conceded to be negligible; at least it is so considered among the lumbermen on the Pacific Coast."

Source of "Information" Not Given

This report of Secretary Redfield was based on information given him by several representatives sent by him to investigate the lumber industry of the State of Washington, following Mr. Humphrey's charge early in the Winter that many mills had been forced to close because they could not withstand Canadian competition under the Underwood tariff. Mr. Humphrey called attention to the fact that neither the agents nor the Secretary himself gave the name of a single lumberman or other individual from whom information was gathered.

Manufacturers' Data Suppressed.

"I call attention to a flagrant case of this kind, and I do it because the Secretary has been pleading for more honesty in talking about the condition of business and the industries throughout the country."

Report Holds Tariff to Blame.

Mr. Humphrey then read to the House a report prepared by a specially appointed committee representing the West Coast Lumber Manufacturers' Association to furnish information to the agents sent out by Secretary Redfield. That committee even submitted a written report to the agents and the agents deliberately suppressed the report. It was not even alluded to in the report made by Secretary Redfield. Mr. Humphrey asserts that the written report was by far the most important testimony the agents gathered in their entire investigation.

"The primary factor causing the present demoralized and unprofitable conditions in the lumber industry is the direct result of the effects of the recently enacted customs tariff bill. The committee is of the firm belief that the new tariff law is responsible for the present low factor of the industry which tends to lessen the demand for lumber will most naturally cause a reduction in prices exactly as an increasing demand causes them to rise. It is impossible for the committee to conclude that the country at large can possibly be benefited by any law which has a tendency to increase its imports when it has the raw material and the necessary labor to produce such articles in satisfactory quantities and quality. The entrance of such products has no other effect than to lessen the requirement of so much labor as may be represented by the articles imported."

SETTLERS' AID PLANNED

STATE IMMIGRATION COMMISSION HOPES TO SAVE LOCATORS' FEES.

Area Declared Smaller Than Public Generally Understands and Lumber Companies Are Active.

How to help prospective settlers on lands recently eliminated from the Pacific and Deschutes National forests in Central Oregon will be the problem confronting the Oregon State Immigration Commission at a special meeting today.

J. W. Brewer, field agent for the Commission, recently made a careful cruise of the lands in the elimination, and today will be prepared to report to the Commission on his findings.

It is understood that many homeseekers are entering the central part of the state under the impression that all the land recently eliminated from the forest reserves will be open for entry. As a matter of fact, all but about 25,000 acres of the eliminated area has been withdrawn for reclamation purposes.

It is reported that several crews of timber cruisers now are carefully measuring all the timber in the affected area and that some large timber interests are preparing to procure possession of the land for its timber value as soon as it is opened for entry.

Statement Recently Made in Running Debate Concedes That Majority of Constituents Are in Favor of Exemption.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, May 6.—Senator Lane, of Oregon, who has not yet made up his mind how he will vote on the canal tolls repeal bill, is no longer listed among the Senators certain to support the President. There have been evidences of late that the Oregon Senator is undergoing a change of mind on this subject, and he is now being lited by some as among the opponents of the Administration bill.

Signs of Wavering Detected.

When the House was considering the tolls bill, Senator Lane, while declaring he had not made up his mind how he would vote, gave indications that his predisposition was to stand by the President and his intimation was responsible for his being listed as in favor of repeal.

UNSUNG HEROES SOUGHT

CROSS OF HONOR AWARDS DOERS OF BRAVE DEEDS.

Appeal Sent to Senators for Names of Constituents Who Have Risked Lives to Save Others.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, May 6.—Western Senators have received letters from the American Cross of Honor asking them to report the names of all individuals in their states who have performed deeds of bravery in saving lives of others and especially to report on those who under existing laws cannot be rewarded by the Federal Government.

The American Cross of Honor, chartered by Congress several years ago, has undertaken to bestow bronze crosses of honor on deserving lifesavers other than those in Government employ, but as it is without means of its own to ascertain those worthy of recognition it has appealed to Senators for aid. In a letter addressed to Senators, the society in part says: "There are many instances in saving life in great fires, in mining disasters, in storms and from death by drowning that under the law cannot be recognized by the United States Government in awarding its life-saving medal of honor, and it is believed that the cross of honor in such cases would be a recognition of heroism that otherwise would go unrewarded."

Senators are requested to submit the names of their constituents who are eligible to receive this special reward, together with a statement of the deeds performed and affidavits of two witnesses to the deed, if obtainable.
