Circuit Judge McGinn sustained the demurrer filed by Attorney John W. Reynolds, counsel for Seth Riggs, in the sult brought against him by Frits.

Drawn Lease the sult brought against him by Fritz & Russell, Cabaret Grill p roprietors, to annul and cansel the ten-year lease on the property at Second and Burnside streets and $6300 damages.

The grill men charged that they have been damaged in their business to that amount because Riggs turned prohibition after making an agreement to do nothing to injure the liquor business. Judge McGinn held that every man has a right to his own beliefs and to change his opinion at will and that if the saloonmen have suffered damages, Mr. Riggs' change of building.—Adv.
