

STUDENT ELECTORS CLOSEST IN YEARS

Tom Boylen, Pendleton, Named President of Associated Body by 8 Votes.

HENDRICKS CHOSEN EDITOR

Ray Bryant, of Portland, Selected as Member of Athletic Council in Annual Voting at University of Oregon.

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene, May 13.—(Special).—Tom Boylen, of Pendleton, was elected president of the Associated Students, and Leland Hendricks, of Salem, chosen editor of the Oregon Emerald, in the election for student body officers held today.

The race for the presidency was the closest in years. Mr. Boylen led his opponent, Fred Hardesty, of Astoria, by only eight votes. Mr. Hendricks had a margin of 74 votes over Earl Blackaby, of Ontario, in the contest for the Emerald editorship.

In spite of the close finish in the race for the student body presidency today's election was not so warm as those of former years, due to the absence of factional feeling.

The total vote cast was approximately 450, which is not so large in proportion to the size of the student body as that of past years.

John Parsons, of Skagway, Alaska, football captain-elect for the 1914 season, was high man in the race for the three student positions on the Athletic Council. Two other successful candidates are Ray Bryant, of Portland, and Henry Heidenreich, of La Grande.

Student Council Race Exciting. Next to the contests for the two principal offices, the fight for the eight elective positions on the student council, the newly instituted body for the control of undergraduate affairs, developed the greatest interest.

The two positions on the executive committee and the vice-presidency of the student body went by default, no extra candidate having been named at Wednesday's nominations.

Tom Boylen, president-elect, is a junior in college and a varsity track and basketball man. He is at present a member of the Student Council and has held various class captaincies. He is a member of the Kappa Sigma and Sigma Delta Chi, the National Journalistic Fraternity, and of the Friars, the local upper classmen's honor society.

Leland Hendricks, editor-elect, is a junior and has worked on the Emerald for three years. He is editor of the Oregonian, the junior year book, which has just appeared, and has acted as Oregonian correspondent at the university for the last two years. He is a member of Kappa Sigma and Sigma Delta Chi fraternities.

Results Show Close Race. Following are the results of today's election:

For president—Thomas Boylen, 242; Fred Hardesty, 235.

For vice-president—Bert Lombard, 444.

For secretary—Ruth Dorris, 254; Beulah Stehno, 211.

For student council (three positions)—Senior man, James Duncanson, 252; 219; Marsh Goodwin, of Eugene, 252; Maurice Hill, 241; Victor Morris, 231; Graham O'Connell, of Astoria, 215.

Junior men (two positions)—Harry Crane, of Bandon, 201; Fred Dunbar, 184; Claude Hampton, 107; Chester Miller, 106; Leo Foster, of Dallas, 241.

Senior women (two positions)—Gertrude Buell, of Eugene, 318; Vaughn McCormack, 279; Lyle Steiner, of Jefferson, 252.

Junior women (one position)—Evelyn Harding, of Oregon City, 259; Jennie Higgins, 214.

For executive committee (two positions)—Bert Jerard, 298; Sam Michael, 293.

For athletic council (three positions)—Morris Bigbee, 285; Ray Bryant, 280; Henry Heidenreich, 245; John Parsons, 402.

Editor of Emerald—Earl Blackaby, 201; Leland Hendricks, 215.

Manager of Emerald—Miller McGilchrist, 206; Anthony Jauregui, 266.

NOMINATIONS LAUNCH RACE

Junior Is Named for Two Places at Agricultural College.

OREGON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, Corvallis, May 13.—(Special).—With interest centering in the positions of student body president, editor-in-chief of the Barometer, and the manager of the Barometer, one of the liveliest political contests in years was opened today when nominations were held for student body officers for next year.

A peculiar condition exists relative to the positions of student body president and editor of the Barometer, Otto Ballhorn, of Woodland, Wash., one of the strongest men in the junior class, was nominated for both offices. Opposing him for the presidency is E. Miller, of Spokane, president of the junior class. O. B. Hayes, of Pasadena, is the other nominee for the editor's chair.

J. W. Motley, of Cove, and J. L. Taylor, of Oregon City, are candidates for the position of manager of the Barometer. Mr. Motley has served this year as circulation manager and was nominated by L. J. Allen, the Barometer manager this year. Mr. Taylor has served as assistant manager this year. H. M. Currey, of Baker City, is the only nominee for president of oratory and debate and will win unanimously unless another candidate is nominated by petition.

The nominations are as follows: For president of the student body, Otto Ballhorn, of Woodland, Wash., and R. E. Miller, of Spokane; first vice-president, Howard Belton, of Gardena, Cal., and John Flint, of San Diego, Cal.; second vice-president, O. B. Hoerner, of Seattle, and F. A. Lucas, of Bend; third vice-president, Charles Stidd, of The Dalles; Alvin Wheeler, of Ashland, and Harley Blackwell, of Juneau, Alaska; secretary, Miss Karen Hansen, of Corvallis; Miss Anna Rutledge, of Corvallis; Miss Elvin Targ, of Warrenton; and Miss Mildred Soden, of Portland; manager lycium course, F. A. Holmes, of Enterprise; Melvin Jordan, of Corvallis, and Jack Forbis, of Dilley; for editor of the Barometer, Otto Ballhorn, of Woodland, Wash., and O. B. Hayes, of Pasadena, Cal.; manager of Barometer, J. W. Motley, of Cove, and J. L. Taylor, of Oregon City; president of oratory and debate, H. M. Currey, of Baker; secretary oratory and debate, F. J. Dietsch, of Dilis Creek.

The election will be held May 21.

MELLEN MAY SHIFT BLAME

(Continued From First Page.)

ducting its investigation, was heated. Commissioner McChord and Senator Norris could see no reason for discontinuing the inquiry, which was being carried on for the purpose of eliciting information on which possible legislation by Congress might be based.

Mr. McReynolds read a letter at the conference in which he suggested that the Commission consider carefully the effect of the examination of Milten and which the Government might desire others on any criminal prosecution which the Government might desire hereafter to institute. He then said his letter expressed fully and clearly the position in the matter he always had maintained: that the question was within the control of the Commission and that he was content that it should determine and pursue whatever course it thought would best subserve the public interest.

Commission Is Unanimous. Later the subject was considered by the Commission and it was unanimously decided, as announced by Commissioner McChord, to proceed with the investigation along the original lines. Mr. Folk said:

"We are going right ahead with this investigation, and Mr. Mellen and directors of the New Haven will be put on the stand. We are going to bring out the truth—the whole truth—no matter whom it hits or whom it hurts."

Senator Norris said:

"In my judgment nothing has developed that should change the Commission's program. I see no reason why it should not push the case to the finish and put Mr. Mellen and the others on the stand. It is a matter of justice to the people that every fact in connection with the rotten operations that went on for years should be brought out."

Next to the contests for the two principal offices, the fight for the eight elective positions on the student council, the newly instituted body for the control of undergraduate affairs, developed the greatest interest.

The two positions on the executive committee and the vice-presidency of the student body went by default, no extra candidate having been named at Wednesday's nominations.

Tom Boylen, president-elect, is a junior in college and a varsity track and basketball man. He is at present a member of the Student Council and has held various class captaincies. He is a member of the Kappa Sigma and Sigma Delta Chi, the National Journalistic Fraternity, and of the Friars, the local upper classmen's honor society.

Leland Hendricks, editor-elect, is a junior and has worked on the Emerald for three years. He is editor of the Oregonian, the junior year book, which has just appeared, and has acted as Oregonian correspondent at the university for the last two years. He is a member of Kappa Sigma and Sigma Delta Chi fraternities.

Results Show Close Race. Following are the results of today's election:

For president—Thomas Boylen, 242; Fred Hardesty, 235.

For vice-president—Bert Lombard, 444.

For secretary—Ruth Dorris, 254; Beulah Stehno, 211.

For student council (three positions)—Senior man, James Duncanson, 252; 219; Marsh Goodwin, of Eugene, 252; Maurice Hill, 241; Victor Morris, 231; Graham O'Connell, of Astoria, 215.

Junior men (two positions)—Harry Crane, of Bandon, 201; Fred Dunbar, 184; Claude Hampton, 107; Chester Miller, 106; Leo Foster, of Dallas, 241.

Senior women (two positions)—Gertrude Buell, of Eugene, 318; Vaughn McCormack, 279; Lyle Steiner, of Jefferson, 252.

Junior women (one position)—Evelyn Harding, of Oregon City, 259; Jennie Higgins, 214.

For executive committee (two positions)—Bert Jerard, 298; Sam Michael, 293.

For athletic council (three positions)—Morris Bigbee, 285; Ray Bryant, 280; Henry Heidenreich, 245; John Parsons, 402.

Editor of Emerald—Earl Blackaby, 201; Leland Hendricks, 215.

Manager of Emerald—Miller McGilchrist, 206; Anthony Jauregui, 266.

NEW CODE IS PROPOSED

PUBLIC HEARING TO BE GIVEN PROPOSED BUILDING CHANGES.

Ordinance Presented Limits Area to Be Used for Structure and Height to Which It May Rise.

Strict regulation of the architecture and arrangement of apartment houses, flats, tenement houses and dwellings to prevent slums and insanitary living places are set forth in detail in a "housing code" which has been prepared by a committee on building code revision. The measure was presented to the City Council yesterday by City Commissioner Dieck and arrangements were made for a public hearing May 22 at 10 A. M.

The code is patterned after like measures elsewhere and aims to promote health by eliminating improper living and sleeping apartments. The measure will not affect buildings now standing, excepting where changes are made. These will have to be in accordance with the code. All buildings erected in the future would have to comply to the code strictly.

The measure supplements the present building code, which is said to be inadequate. A limit on the amount of the lot to be covered by a residential building on an inside lot is put at 70 per cent of the area, and on a corner lot at 85 per cent. The height of such building would be limited to 50 per cent more than the width of the widest street on which the building faces.

The courts running down the center of buildings will have to be at least eight feet in width and every bathroom must have windows opening to the street or into a light and ventilation court. Kitchens must have windows of the same sort.

The measure supplements the present building code, which is said to be inadequate. A limit on the amount of the lot to be covered by a residential building on an inside lot is put at 70 per cent of the area, and on a corner lot at 85 per cent. The height of such building would be limited to 50 per cent more than the width of the widest street on which the building faces.

The courts running down the center of buildings will have to be at least eight feet in width and every bathroom must have windows opening to the street or into a light and ventilation court. Kitchens must have windows of the same sort.

The measure supplements the present building code, which is said to be inadequate. A limit on the amount of the lot to be covered by a residential building on an inside lot is put at 70 per cent of the area, and on a corner lot at 85 per cent. The height of such building would be limited to 50 per cent more than the width of the widest street on which the building faces.

The courts running down the center of buildings will have to be at least eight feet in width and every bathroom must have windows opening to the street or into a light and ventilation court. Kitchens must have windows of the same sort.

The measure supplements the present building code, which is said to be inadequate. A limit on the amount of the lot to be covered by a residential building on an inside lot is put at 70 per cent of the area, and on a corner lot at 85 per cent. The height of such building would be limited to 50 per cent more than the width of the widest street on which the building faces.

The courts running down the center of buildings will have to be at least eight feet in width and every bathroom must have windows opening to the street or into a light and ventilation court. Kitchens must have windows of the same sort.

The measure supplements the present building code, which is said to be inadequate. A limit on the amount of the lot to be covered by a residential building on an inside lot is put at 70 per cent of the area, and on a corner lot at 85 per cent. The height of such building would be limited to 50 per cent more than the width of the widest street on which the building faces.

The courts running down the center of buildings will have to be at least eight feet in width and every bathroom must have windows opening to the street or into a light and ventilation court. Kitchens must have windows of the same sort.

The measure supplements the present building code, which is said to be inadequate. A limit on the amount of the lot to be covered by a residential building on an inside lot is put at 70 per cent of the area, and on a corner lot at 85 per cent. The height of such building would be limited to 50 per cent more than the width of the widest street on which the building faces.

The courts running down the center of buildings will have to be at least eight feet in width and every bathroom must have windows opening to the street or into a light and ventilation court. Kitchens must have windows of the same sort.

The measure supplements the present building code, which is said to be inadequate. A limit on the amount of the lot to be covered by a residential building on an inside lot is put at 70 per cent of the area, and on a corner lot at 85 per cent. The height of such building would be limited to 50 per cent more than the width of the widest street on which the building faces.

The courts running down the center of buildings will have to be at least eight feet in width and every bathroom must have windows opening to the street or into a light and ventilation court. Kitchens must have windows of the same sort.

The measure supplements the present building code, which is said to be inadequate. A limit on the amount of the lot to be covered by a residential building on an inside lot is put at 70 per cent of the area, and on a corner lot at 85 per cent. The height of such building would be limited to 50 per cent more than the width of the widest street on which the building faces.

The courts running down the center of buildings will have to be at least eight feet in width and every bathroom must have windows opening to the street or into a light and ventilation court. Kitchens must have windows of the same sort.

The measure supplements the present building code, which is said to be inadequate. A limit on the amount of the lot to be covered by a residential building on an inside lot is put at 70 per cent of the area, and on a corner lot at 85 per cent. The height of such building would be limited to 50 per cent more than the width of the widest street on which the building faces.

The courts running down the center of buildings will have to be at least eight feet in width and every bathroom must have windows opening to the street or into a light and ventilation court. Kitchens must have windows of the same sort.

The measure supplements the present building code, which is said to be inadequate. A limit on the amount of the lot to be covered by a residential building on an inside lot is put at 70 per cent of the area, and on a corner lot at 85 per cent. The height of such building would be limited to 50 per cent more than the width of the widest street on which the building faces.

The courts running down the center of buildings will have to be at least eight feet in width and every bathroom must have windows opening to the street or into a light and ventilation court. Kitchens must have windows of the same sort.

The measure supplements the present building code, which is said to be inadequate. A limit on the amount of the lot to be covered by a residential building on an inside lot is put at 70 per cent of the area, and on a corner lot at 85 per cent. The height of such building would be limited to 50 per cent more than the width of the widest street on which the building faces.

The courts running down the center of buildings will have to be at least eight feet in width and every bathroom must have windows opening to the street or into a light and ventilation court. Kitchens must have windows of the same sort.

The measure supplements the present building code, which is said to be inadequate. A limit on the amount of the lot to be covered by a residential building on an inside lot is put at 70 per cent of the area, and on a corner lot at 85 per cent. The height of such building would be limited to 50 per cent more than the width of the widest street on which the building faces.

The courts running down the center of buildings will have to be at least eight feet in width and every bathroom must have windows opening to the street or into a light and ventilation court. Kitchens must have windows of the same sort.

The measure supplements the present building code, which is said to be inadequate. A limit on the amount of the lot to be covered by a residential building on an inside lot is put at 70 per cent of the area, and on a corner lot at 85 per cent. The height of such building would be limited to 50 per cent more than the width of the widest street on which the building faces.

The courts running down the center of buildings will have to be at least eight feet in width and every bathroom must have windows opening to the street or into a light and ventilation court. Kitchens must have windows of the same sort.

The measure supplements the present building code, which is said to be inadequate. A limit on the amount of the lot to be covered by a residential building on an inside lot is put at 70 per cent of the area, and on a corner lot at 85 per cent. The height of such building would be limited to 50 per cent more than the width of the widest street on which the building faces.

The courts running down the center of buildings will have to be at least eight feet in width and every bathroom must have windows opening to the street or into a light and ventilation court. Kitchens must have windows of the same sort.

The measure supplements the present building code, which is said to be inadequate. A limit on the amount of the lot to be covered by a residential building on an inside lot is put at 70 per cent of the area, and on a corner lot at 85 per cent. The height of such building would be limited to 50 per cent more than the width of the widest street on which the building faces.

The courts running down the center of buildings will have to be at least eight feet in width and every bathroom must have windows opening to the street or into a light and ventilation court. Kitchens must have windows of the same sort.

The measure supplements the present building code, which is said to be inadequate. A limit on the amount of the lot to be covered by a residential building on an inside lot is put at 70 per cent of the area, and on a corner lot at 85 per cent. The height of such building would be limited to 50 per cent more than the width of the widest street on which the building faces.

The courts running down the center of buildings will have to be at least eight feet in width and every bathroom must have windows opening to the street or into a light and ventilation court. Kitchens must have windows of the same sort.

The measure supplements the present building code, which is said to be inadequate. A limit on the amount of the lot to be covered by a residential building on an inside lot is put at 70 per cent of the area, and on a corner lot at 85 per cent. The height of such building would be limited to 50 per cent more than the width of the widest street on which the building faces.

The courts running down the center of buildings will have to be at least eight feet in width and every bathroom must have windows opening to the street or into a light and ventilation court. Kitchens must have windows of the same sort.

The measure supplements the present building code, which is said to be inadequate. A limit on the amount of the lot to be covered by a residential building on an inside lot is put at 70 per cent of the area, and on a corner lot at 85 per cent. The height of such building would be limited to 50 per cent more than the width of the widest street on which the building faces.

The courts running down the center of buildings will have to be at least eight feet in width and every bathroom must have windows opening to the street or into a light and ventilation court. Kitchens must have windows of the same sort.

The measure supplements the present building code, which is said to be inadequate. A limit on the amount of the lot to be covered by a residential building on an inside lot is put at 70 per cent of the area, and on a corner lot at 85 per cent. The height of such building would be limited to 50 per cent more than the width of the widest street on which the building faces.

The courts running down the center of buildings will have to be at least eight feet in width and every bathroom must have windows opening to the street or into a light and ventilation court. Kitchens must have windows of the same sort.

The measure supplements the present building code, which is said to be inadequate. A limit on the amount of the lot to be covered by a residential building on an inside lot is put at 70 per cent of the area, and on a corner lot at 85 per cent. The height of such building would be limited to 50 per cent more than the width of the widest street on which the building faces.

The courts running down the center of buildings will have to be at least eight feet in width and every bathroom must have windows opening to the street or into a light and ventilation court. Kitchens must have windows of the same sort.

The measure supplements the present building code, which is said to be inadequate. A limit on the amount of the lot to be covered by a residential building on an inside lot is put at 70 per cent of the area, and on a corner lot at 85 per cent. The height of such building would be limited to 50 per cent more than the width of the widest street on which the building faces.

The courts running down the center of buildings will have to be at least eight feet in width and every bathroom must have windows opening to the street or into a light and ventilation court. Kitchens must have windows of the same sort.

The measure supplements the present building code, which is said to be inadequate. A limit on the amount of the lot to be covered by a residential building on an inside lot is put at 70 per cent of the area, and on a corner lot at 85 per cent. The height of such building would be limited to 50 per cent more than the width of the widest street on which the building faces.

The courts running down the center of buildings will have to be at least eight feet in width and every bathroom must have windows opening to the street or into a light and ventilation court. Kitchens must have windows of the same sort.

The measure supplements the present building code, which is said to be inadequate. A limit on the amount of the lot to be covered by a residential building on an inside lot is put at 70 per cent of the area, and on a corner lot at 85 per cent. The height of such building would be limited to 50 per cent more than the width of the widest street on which the building faces.

FIRST WIFE WINNER

Crittenden Robinson's Second Mate Not Legal Widow.

PORTLAND DIVORCE IS VOID

Bequest of Champion Wing Shot of World, Leaving Only $5000 of $70,000 to Original Helpmate, Brings Court Decision.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 13.—(Special).—A pivotal point in the contest over the $70,000 estate left by the late Crittenden Robinson, who won fame as the champion wing shot of the world, was reached today when Judge Seawell rendered a decision in which he held that the divorce granted to Fannie M. Robinson in 1912 was void because of its having been fraudulently secured and that the second wife never had been the legal wife of Robinson.

The first wife declared that she had known nothing of the divorce granted Robinson in Portland and alleged that Robinson made a false affidavit when he said he did not know her whereabouts.

In handing down his decision today, Judge Seawell held that the Portland divorce was null and void because of its having been fraudulently secured and that the second wife never had been the legal wife of Robinson.

Winlock Tests Fire Apparatus. WINLOCK, Wash., May 13.—(Special).—A residence caught fire about 7 o'clock this morning, from a defective fuse. There had been no volunteer fire department organized, and the new fire hose recently purchased by the city had not been tested. At the sound of the alarm the hose was thrown into a meat wagon, and 250 feet quickly unrolled and coupled together. Water under pressure was turned on for the first time in two weeks, the fire was out.

Wales Has Bout With Angry British Workmen. Royal Blood Is Spilled, but Revenge Is Taken, and Then Opponent Is Soothed With Gold Coin.

LONDON, May 13.—(Special).—The Prince of Wales has just had his first encounter with a British workman in the shape of a brief bout at fisticuffs with the driver of a laundry wagon at Oxford.

The man was delivering baskets at Keble College, when three students drove the wagon away and left it in a side street. Then they awaited developments.

The culprits were joined by the Prince of Wales, when another driver rushed at the group, selecting Wales for attack. He tapped the princely casket and bruised the royal chest. The next instant the Prince landed a blow on the driver's face that staggered him. The students then declared the fight ended, with honors easy.

The Prince soothing his opponent's feelings with a cigar and a gold coin. When the servants shooed him whom he had punched he declared: "For such a sly-looking fellow 'e can 'it 'ard an' rough."

ORENCO HAS FIRST DEATH. Girl, 18, Passes Away as Fiance Is En Route From Hungary.

ORENCO, May 13.—(Special).—The first funeral service was held in the Orenco Presbyterian Church yesterday morning. The town was started about six years ago. The death of Susie Kish, aged 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Kish, occurred Saturday.

Miss Kish was born in Hungary and moved here six years ago with her parents and grandparents. She leaves three younger sisters and one brother. The services were conducted by Rev. B. C. Cook, the Baptist minister of Hillsboro. He was assisted by Rev. L. M. Booser, pastor of the Orenco Presbyterian Church.

The body was buried in the Hillsboro Cemetery as Orenco does not have one.

PRINCE LANDS ON DRIVER. WALES HAS BOUT WITH ANGRY BRITISH WORKMEN.

Royal Blood Is Spilled, but Revenge Is Taken, and Then Opponent Is Soothed With Gold Coin.

LONDON, May 13.—(Special).—The Prince of Wales has just had his first encounter with a British workman in the shape of a brief bout at fisticuffs with the driver of a laundry wagon at Oxford.

The man was delivering baskets at Keble College, when three students drove the wagon away and left it in a side street. Then they awaited developments.

The culprits were joined by the Prince of Wales, when another driver rushed at the group, selecting Wales for attack. He tapped the princely casket and bruised the royal chest. The next instant the Prince landed a blow on the driver's face that staggered him. The students then declared the fight ended, with honors easy.

The Prince soothing his opponent's feelings with a cigar and a gold coin. When the servants shooed him whom he had punched he declared: "For such a sly-looking fellow 'e can 'it 'ard an' rough."

ORENCO HAS FIRST DEATH. Girl, 18, Passes Away as Fiance Is En Route From Hungary.

ORENCO, May 13.—(Special).—The first funeral service was held in the Orenco Presbyterian Church yesterday morning. The town was started about six years ago. The death of Susie Kish, aged 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Kish, occurred Saturday.

Miss Kish was born in Hungary and moved here six years ago with her parents and grandparents. She leaves three younger sisters and one brother. The services were conducted by Rev. B. C. Cook, the Baptist minister of Hillsboro. He was assisted by Rev. L. M. Booser, pastor of the Orenco Presbyterian Church.

The body was buried in the Hillsboro Cemetery as Orenco does not have one.

PRINCE LANDS ON DRIVER. WALES HAS BOUT WITH ANGRY BRITISH WORKMEN.

Royal Blood Is Spilled, but Revenge Is Taken, and Then Opponent Is Soothed With Gold Coin.

LONDON, May 13.—(Special).—The Prince of Wales has just had his first encounter with a British workman in the shape of a brief bout at fisticuffs with the driver of a laundry wagon at Oxford.

The man was delivering baskets at Keble College, when three students drove the wagon away and left it in a side street. Then they awaited developments.

The culprits were joined by the Prince of Wales, when another driver rushed at the group, selecting Wales for attack. He tapped the princely casket and bruised the royal chest. The next instant the Prince landed a blow on the driver's face that staggered him. The students then declared the fight ended, with honors easy.

The Prince soothing his opponent's feelings with a cigar and a gold coin. When the servants shooed him whom he had punched he declared: "For such a sly-looking fellow 'e can 'it 'ard an' rough."

ORENCO HAS FIRST DEATH. Girl, 18, Passes Away as Fiance Is En Route From Hungary.

ORENCO, May 13.—(Special).—The first funeral service was held in the Orenco Presbyterian Church yesterday morning. The town was started about six years ago. The death of Susie Kish, aged 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Kish, occurred Saturday.

Miss Kish was born in Hungary and moved here six years ago with her parents and grandparents. She leaves three younger sisters and one brother. The services were conducted by Rev. B. C. Cook, the Baptist minister of Hillsboro. He was assisted by Rev. L. M. Booser, pastor of the Orenco Presbyterian Church.

The body was buried in the Hillsboro Cemetery as Orenco does not have one.

PRINCE LANDS ON DRIVER. WALES HAS BOUT WITH ANGRY BRITISH WORKMEN.

Royal Blood Is Spilled, but Revenge Is Taken, and Then Opponent Is Soothed With Gold Coin.

LONDON, May 13.—(Special).—The Prince of Wales has just had his first encounter with a British workman in the shape of a brief bout at fisticuffs with the driver of a laundry wagon at Oxford.

The man was delivering baskets at Keble College, when three students drove the wagon away and left it in a side street. Then they awaited developments.

The culprits were joined by the Prince of Wales, when another driver rushed at the group, selecting Wales for attack. He tapped the princely casket and bruised the royal chest. The next instant the Prince landed a blow on the driver's face that staggered him. The students then declared the fight ended, with honors easy.

The Prince soothing his