SPLIT IN RANKS OF DEMOCRATS LOOMS

Bitterness Sure to Follow Canon - Esterly Race for National Committee.

PARTY CONTROL IN BALANCE

Contest, Starting Quietly, Become Virtually a Struggle of Lane and Chamberlain Factions for Supremacy in State.

Whatever the result of the contest for Democratic National committeeman between H. M. Esterly, of Port-the Lane faction of the Democratic party in this state.

Canon, a close personal friend of Senator Chamberlain, was considered to have a clear field for the office until UNIQUE TAILORING CO., Sop Stark, bet. 5th and 6th. Main 514. just before the expiration of the time for any other candidate to file. At least one other Democrat, Hugh Mc-Clain, of Marshfield, after announcing his candidacy, had withdrawn, so that Mr. Canon, who was regarded as de-serving the office because of his work for the party through the state and especially for Woodrow Wilson in the 1912 campaign, should not have op-F. S. Myers Takes Hand.

Then F. S. Myers, postmaster of Port-nd and former campaign manager and private secretary to Senator Cham berlain, injected himself into the situation.

Mr. Myers persuaded Mr. Esterly to run against Mr. Canon. His alleged reason was that Mr. Canon was a "reactionary" and that Mr. Esterly, as a Woodrow Wilson "progressive" Democrat, should represent Oregon in National Democratic councils.

But Mr. Canon's friends, comprising all the leading Chamberlain men of the state refused to see him thus vistually state.

state, refused to see him thus virtually read out of the party as a "reactionary." They pointed to his great services in behalf of Woodrow Wilson and to Democratic candidates in 1912, including Senator Lane himself and prior to that time. It has not been disputed that Mr. Canon was the first influential Democrat in Oregon to espouse the cause of Woodrow Wilson and fight to get him the votes of the Oregon delegation at the Baltimore convention.

Putnam's Support a Factor. The part taken by the Medford Mail-Tribune, of which George Putham is editor, in supporting Senator Bourne when he sought re-election in 1912, was dragged into the Issue. Mr. Myers and other Esterly men, of whom it is im-portant to note that the Federal office-holders in Orason, amounted through portant to note that the Federal office-holders in Oregon, appointed through the influence of Senator Lane, have been virtually a unit, asserted that Mr. Canon should be defeated because he was supported by Mr. Putnam. Charges of "pernicious political ac-tivity" against Mr. Myers by the Med-ford editor are only, incidental to the general bitterness the Canon-Esterly ruction has aroused. One of the significant results of the

One of the significant results of the quarrel has been the public indorsement of Mr. Canon, in a signed statement, by Bert E. Haney, chairman of the Democratic State Central Commit-tee, and by H. B. Van Duzer, chairman of the county Central committee, both staunch Chamberlain men. In their statement, which was widely published before the election, thinly velled refer-ence to the activities of Mr. Myers, lieutenant-in-chlef in Oregon of Sena-tor Lane, was made in the assertion that "Democrats of Oregon will resent this effort to gain control of the party for purely selfish purposes."

extract:

"A certain Federal officeholder and recent party enthusiast, whose presence of mind is much keener than his party zeal, realizing that Mr. Canon could not be handled by the official's gang, put a candidate of his own in the field and prostituted his high office by inducing other Federal officers to circulate the petition of his candidate, and by engaging in a gumshoe campaign in his behalf. Not being satisfied with his flagrant violation of the Federal regulations, this gentleman has seen fit to publicly libel Mr. Canon's party loyalty."

The circus is extraordinary and is fairly well patronized at the school, where transportation facilities are meager. There has been a persistent call to have the circus put on where the entire city could have an opportunity to see it and the deaf have responded.

Their annual parade, in which the pupils take the part of elephants, tigers, zebras and other animals, always attracts great attention and the "deaf band" is one of the comedies that cannot be imitated by anybody.

Ashland Playhouse Sees Big Crowd on Its First Night.

ASHLAND, Or., May 15.—(Special.)—
Ashlands new $38,000 playhouse, the Vining Theater, was opened Thursday by the New York Grand Opera Company in "Faust." The new structure is built of reinforced concrete and has a frontage of 45 and depth of more than 100 feet. It is conceded that the completeness of its appointments and the elegance of its equipment and furnishings are not excelled by any playhouse on the circuit between Portland and San Francisco. The location is adjacent to the Elks' Temple. The neat-
