

TOLLS ARBITRATION SENTIMENT GROWS

Move in Senate to Substitute Exemption Repeal Bill Gradually Gains.

FIGHT DUE FIRST, HOWEVER

Submission of Dispute to International Tribunal Known to Have Had Wilson's Approval, Plan Advocates Say.

WASHINGTON, May 18.—With the canal tolls exemption controversy nearing a vote, sentiment in the Senate is growing in favor of an effort to substitute for the pending bill a resolution which would provide for the submission of the dispute between the United States and Great Britain to an international tribunal.

Although Senators who have discussed this proposal are not sure it will prevail when time for a vote arrives, they assert many of their colleagues are willing to adopt this course. Senator O'Gorman, leader of the forces fighting repeal, will not consent to arbitration, it was said tonight, but the proposal undoubtedly will meet with vigorous opposition among Senators on both sides of the issue. It was pointed out, however, that before the House passed the repeal bill, President Wilson was willing that the question should be settled by arbitration.

Idea Gains Headway. During the day three Senators added their voices to those who see in arbitration the best way out of the difficulty. Senator Sutherland asserted that arbitration was the one way to settle the dispute. Senator Williams announced that he would gladly vote for arbitration, and Senator Vreeland agreed that this plan was desirable. A resolution providing for submission to arbitration has been introduced by Senator Norris, and may come up for consideration before a vote on the repeal itself is demanded.

On the Republican side today it developed that Senators Root and Lodge, as well as others who are prominent in the fight for repeal, would favor arbitration. A two-thirds vote of the Senate would be required to pass an arbitration resolution. Those opposed to the idea pointed out that arbitration would mean a long delay, and in the meantime the canal would be opened and operated and many complications would arise.

Hope for Vote Monday Fades. No effort apparently has been made on the Democratic side to sound out Senators on the plan.

Democratic leaders who expected a vote on the repeal bill next Monday learned today that chances for this hope being realized were growing dim. Senator Jones gave notice of his intention to speak on the repeal bill on that day, and it was understood that other Senators might not decide to speak before Monday.

SOCIALISTS' CASE IS UP

CHARGES AGAINST MRS. FOREMAN TO BE HEARD BY GRAND JURY.

Attorney for Quincy Teacher Discharged by Board Wants to Collect Salary Anyhow.

ST. HELENS, Or., May 18.—(Special.)—The grand jury for Columbia County reconvened today after adjournment over election time.

When Mrs. Foreman was dismissed from the school at Quincy, with her followers, she attempted to enter the schoolhouse to effect the newly-elected teacher. Mrs. Foreman is in St. Helens today and the grand jury began the investigation of her case and probably will arrive at a decision tomorrow.

Mrs. Foreman's attorney has been in St. Helens for several days where he is attempting to bring quo warranto proceedings to test the election of the new School Board at Quincy and is bringing suit also against the Quincy School Board for wages alleged to be due to Mrs. Foreman since her alleged illegal dismissal.

BAKERS RAISE PRICES

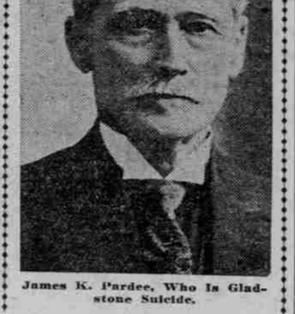

Seattle Grocers' Profit Cut but Public Not Affected.

SEATTLE, May 18.—(Special.)—Grocers of the city say they have been bakers with notice by the Master Bakers' State Association that effective today, they will hereafter receive 28 loaves of bread for $1 in place of 30 loaves; that the bakers will not allow rebates for unsold bread, and that if the grocers raise the price above a nickel a loaf, the bakers will install their own delivery service and sell bread direct to consumers.

J. E. Patton, secretary of the Seattle Retail Grocers' Association, declined to comment on the order, but said that the board of trustees had made recommendations which would be discussed officially at the next meeting, Tuesday evening, May 26.

Leading grocers said that they did not object to receiving less profit under the new order, but that they would insist that the bakers keep the weight of the bread up to the standard of 16 ounces dough measured and 14 ounces after baking and ready for sale.

accepted the terms laid down by the association. "I believe we can settle the matter amicably," he remarked, "but in any case it will not affect the consumer."

STATE AID TO BE GIVEN

REPORT REGARDING ROAD BUILDING DENIED BY GOVERNOR.

Executive Declares All Contributing Counties With Available Funds Are Entitled to Assistance.

SALEM, Or., May 18.—(Special.)—Regarding a report that the State Highway Commission would aid in the building roads on those counties which had voted bond issues, Governor West today made the following statement:

"The Highway Commission has not declared its intention of giving state aid to counties issuing bonds. All counties contributing to the highway funds are entitled to share in its benefits. Counties have a right to build roads without bonds if they see fit."

"It is the Commission's desire, however, to put the limited amount of money at its disposal into roads at an early date, and to this end it desires to build through co-operation in several of the counties demonstration roads. It is likely, however, that many counties other than those that have issued bonds and thus have funds on hand will be able to co-operate with the state just at this time. In time both the state and other counties will have additional funds and further co-operation will be possible."

"The state is constructing a stretch of road in Sherman County and has declared its willingness to co-operate with Washington County in the construction of a permanent section of the Rex-Tigardville road. Neither of these counties have issued bonds. The bonded counties which have funds on hand and are in position to co-operate at this time are Jackson, Clatsop and Columbia."

Pardee, Civil War veteran, ex-Treasurer of the City of Gladstone and defeated candidate for the Republican nomination for County Treasurer, shot and instantly killed himself early this morning at his home in Gladstone. LEPER IS AT LARGE

John R. Early Escapes From Diamond Head Station.

HIS CASE IS FAMOUS ONE

Missing Man Seen at Victoria and Believed to Be on Way to Tacoma, Where His Divorced Wife Now Resides.

SEATTLE, May 18.—John R. Early, the leper whose case attracted widespread attention a few years ago, escaped Friday from the Diamond Head quarantine station, near Port Townsend, where he has been confined under the care of the United States public health service, and is still at large.

News of his escape was received today by Dr. Eugene Helley, state health commissioner.

Early was seen in Victoria, B. C., last Saturday. He is believed to have crossed the Strait of Juan de Fuca in a launch from the quarantine station, and to have been waiting in Victoria for an opportunity to return to Tacoma, his former home.

Early's wife obtained a divorce in Tacoma soon after his commitment to Diamond Head, remarried and is living near Tacoma.

Early, who contracted leprosy while serving with the United States Army in the Philippines in 1902, first came into public notice in 1908, when the health authorities of Washington, D. C., pronounced him a leper. A bitter controversy arose over his case, scientists disagreeing concerning the nature of the disease. In 1911 he settled on a small farm near Tacoma and a year later again was pronounced a leper and was removed to Diamond Head.

At the quarantine station he was placed in charge of two other lepers, one of whom, Dominik Pittori, escaped a year ago, made his way across the continent without being captured and found refuge in Italy.
