

MCNARY NOW LEADS BENSON BY 2 VOTES

Only Scattering Precincts in 17 Incomplete County Returns Are Missing.

OFFICIAL COUNT NEEDED

Klamath Man's Lead Out of Multnomah Is Dissipated by Unexpected Up-State Strength of Salem Jurist.

Charles L. McNary, of Salem, now leads Henry L. Benson, of Klamath Falls, for the Republican nomination for Supreme Court by the narrow margin of two votes.

Seventeen of the 34 counties of the state have reported their complete returns from last Friday's primaries and only scattering and outlying precincts are to be heard from in the incomplete counties.

It will doubtless take the official count to decide which of these two candidates will be nominated to the fourth place on the Republican ticket. The three other places are held secure by Henry J. Bean, of Umatilla County; Lawrence T. Harris, of Lane County; and Thomas A. McBride, of Columbia County, of whose nominations there has been no doubt since the morning after election.

Although Judge Benson had a lead over Judge McNary when the final returns from Multnomah County came in yesterday morning, this advantage was lost later in the day through the delayed reports from upstate counties.

Curry's Advantage Slight. Curry County, which was expected to be decidedly favorable to Judge Benson, gave him an advantage of only seven votes. The vote there was 81 to 74 for Judge Benson and Judge McNary, respectively.

Lake County, on the other hand, came loyally to the support of Judge Benson, a former resident of that county. The complete but unofficial vote of Lake County in the day's returns, 266 votes to 66 for Judge McNary. The former incomplete figures stood 137 to 23 for Judge Benson and Judge McNary, respectively. The final count, therefore, gave Judge Benson a net gain of 85 votes in Lake County.

Wheeler County gave a net gain to Judge McNary in the day's returns. The final count added 178 votes to Judge McNary's tally and 27 to that of Judge Benson, giving the former candidate a net gain of 151.

Tillamook County reported a net gain of 85 votes in Judge McNary's favor in the final returns.

Benson Wins at Home. Klamath County, Judge Benson's home county, returned a net gain to her candidate of 115 votes.

The final reports from Union County, received last night, changed the relative position of the two men only one vote, which was in favor of Judge Benson.

Grant County added 181 votes to Judge Benson's total and 181 to that of Judge McNary, giving the Klamath man a net gain of 100 votes.

Clatsop County's final reports showed a net gain for Judge Benson of 11 votes while Lincoln County gave Judge McNary an advantage of six votes.

Standards Presently Staff. Scattering returns from single precincts in other counties served to change the relative position of the contestants at various times in the day. Any individual precinct now can throw the balance either way.

Nearly all the populous counties in the state have reported. Complete returns now have been received from the following counties: Benton, Clatsop, Columbia, Curry, Grant, Jackson, Morrow, Multnomah, Tillamook, Union, Wasco, Wheeler and Yamhill.

While some of these figures have been taken from the official returns it is possible that errors have crept into the reports, either through copying or in transmission. The figures on hand, therefore, are not necessarily correct and the official count may change the final result materially.

Several Counties Lax. Among the populous counties that have failed to report their votes completely are Baker, Douglas, Umatilla and Washington. The vote in Baker and Douglas is close, but Linn County has been showing a preference for Judge McNary in the earlier returns. Both Umatilla and Washington counties have been slightly favorable to Judge McNary.

On the other hand, conditions favor Judge Benson, in view of the fact that he has been running well in the rural districts, and it is the rural communities that have yet to report.

So far as the remainder of the Republican state ticket is concerned, the results are exactly as presented by The Oregonian in its various editions since the primaries. Dr. James Withycombe continues to make slight gains for the Republican ticket, his nomination as the returns come in and Dr. C. J. Smith is maintaining his lead for the Democratic nomination. The relative positions of the other candidates remain unchanged.

What Is This Extraordinary Book? What Is the Secret of Its Success? Why Is It Indispensable to All?

1. THE new Encyclopaedia Britannica is an extraordinary book because it deals with the whole field of human life, learning and achievement in a manner commensurate with the complicated needs of the present day. The world is so big, human interests so diverse, progress so astonishing, research so unrelenting, activities in every direction and in all lands so pressing that no ordinary book can do justice to them. The new Encyclopaedia Britannica contains 41,000 articles and 44,000,000 words of text. A smaller work cannot possibly cover the ground adequately, nor can any collection of 500 separate books cover it.

2. THE success of the new Britannica is due to the fact that it was written, not by "hack" compilers, refurbishing old material taken from other books, but by recognized authorities; by men of action, men of learning and practical experts—by men whose names are known for ability, scholarship and original work in their respective fields. What they tell you in the new Britannica you can depend on. This is the reason that people go to this work to verify what they read elsewhere. It has often been called the "court of last resort." It is a vast storehouse of certified knowledge—certified by the signatures attached to the articles.

3. IT IS an indispensable book—to the worker in any calling, to the writer, the thinker, the professional man, the home-maker, or to the young, because they find that they can go to it with the comfortable feeling that it will not fail them in any reasonable demand they may put upon it. The man who owns the Britannica need not experience the embarrassment of having to say "I do not know." He can now always say, when in doubt, "I know where to find out."

The service the work affords to the information-seeker, or to the man who wishes to "read up" an entire subject, is little short of amazing, and this is best appreciated by those who try to put it to good use.
