IN ROSEBURG TODAY

Stage Set for Grand Opening of Sixth Annual Carnival. Tents Dot City.

IDEAL WEATHER EXPECTED

Pestival Scenery Is Beautiful, Says Addison Bennett, but Sahara Character of Town Is Cause of Lamentation.

BY ADDISON BENNETI. ROSEBURG, Or., May 20.—(Special.) The Mayor of Roseburg will pull the string, or press the button, or ring the bell, for the curtain to rise on the sixth annual Strawberry Festival of Roseburg tomorrow morning. But if the Mayor should oversleep and everybody clae in authority should forget button, string and bell, the festival will start on schedule time just the same.

For all is in readiness. There are tents in the streets, tents in the alleys, perhaps tents on the housetops I have not got that high yet. This is the driest dry town that was ever parched to a dryness that would make a Maine prohibitionist sing psalms of praise—or woe, depending whether he was real or counterfeit. There are tents on the hillsides and tents in the tents on the hillsides and tents in the valleys. Under every tent there is a real show coming to a head.

Tomorrow the show actors and their suffragette partners will appear, but stop a moment, while I ring and ask the bellhop of the hetel if by chance or design he has not found—but it's no use. The landlord of the Umpqua would have discovered, recovered and squenched it ere this, long ere this.

Roseburg, thy name is Sahara, and when I packed my grip in Portland—when I packed my grip in Portland-but no matter. All four prohibition Governors may be elected, then what will we do?

What a day this is, and what weather What a day this is, and what weather we are promised for tomorrow! Nothing more perfect could be wished, and what a Spring it has been. It is just right to give to the celebrated Rosebirg strawberries just the proper size, the appropriate color and perfect flavor for which they are noted, the—I was going to say the world over, but I will change it to the country over, for I am sorry to say, the people of the old world have never enjoyed the Godgiven privilege of eating a perfect strawberry.

given privilege of eating a perfect strawberry.

What a setting for a festival or carnival of any king! What a beautiful city! What lovely surroundings! Look to the east, the north, the south, the west, look in any direction at the wooded hills. (This expression is used again to see if the types will again make me say wooden hills.) What could be more lovely than the setting on this Spring day of this City of Roseburg?

MANAGER BECOMES LOST

Editors of Valley Invited to Calapooia Springs in June.

COTTAGE GROVE, Or., May 20.—
(Special.)—Some time during the coming week invitations will be sent out by Elbert Bede as secretary of the Williamette Valley Editorial Association and president of the State Editorial Association informing the editors that they have been invited by Levi Geer, manager of the Calapoola Springs, to spend June 14, 15 and 16 as his guests, Hotel accommodations will be free. Banquets and speech-making are planned for at least two evenings of the session.

The editors of the valley were Mr. Geer's guests several years ago. It is probable that a trip will be arranged to the Biack Butte quicksilver mines. The editors will be taken to the springs from here by automobile.

Norah Belle Prichard.

Norah Belle Prichard, who died at the home of her mother, May 6, was born in Baker, Or., January 25, 1879. Her parents moved to Vacaville, Cal., where her father died November 10, 1884.

Miss Prichard came to Portland in 1903, since when she lived here with her mother and sisters.

In the Fall of 1905 she entered the studio of C. Aerne, Jr., where she learned the photographic business. Later she purchased the establishment and moved to the old Empress Theater building on Washington street, then the only woman photographer in Portland. Survivors of the dead woman are: Mrs. Mary T. Washington Women Get Increase in Weekly Pay Change in Scale.

CANNERIES NOT TOUCHED

Low Average Caused by Fact That Many Plants Operate for but Few Days Each Week and Salary Is Below Limit.

OLYMPia, Wash., May 20,-(Spe ial.)-Adoption of $8.09 as the mini um wage for women factory workers is recommended by the recent factory onference, will necessitate ultimate conference, will necessitate ultimate increases to the weekly pay envelopes of between 50 and 69 per cent of the girl and women workers in establishments operating the year around, it is indicated by data collected by the Industrial Welfare Commission.

The factory minimum, as recommended, is $1.19 lower than the minimum of $10 established in this state for mercantile employes. It appears, however, that there is a difference now of more than $1 per week in the average wages of factory and mercantile employes, and the $3.30 wage, comparatively speaking, will mean as much to the factory girls as the $10 to the department store girls.

Reports on the wages of 981 girls over 18 and women employed in factories that operate the year around, compiled by the Commission, show that 559, or 57 per cent, now receive $8.95 or less per week. Fractically all of these, excepting such as are beginners and would come under the apprentice wage, would be entitled to the minimum wage of $5.90.

wage, would be entitled to the mini-mum wage of $8.90.

Canneries and Factories Hit. The factories in constant operation hat will be affected to the greatest that will be affected to the greatest extent by the proposed minimum will be candy, cracker and miscellaneous foodstuffs, paper and paper-box factories, milk condenseries and shoe factories. From 50 to 75 per cent of the employes in these establishments now receive less than the proposed minimum wage, it is shown.

During a portion of each year the fish canneries of the state employ thousands of women and girls. A 10-

A lo-hour day is allowed at this work, good wages are the rule and as a result comparatively little change in the standard of wages for this industry is standard of wages for this industry is likely to be shown. The figures of the Commission show that only about 15 per cent of the women employed last year carned less than $5 per week. The other chief seasonal industry, fruit-canning and drying, pays much smaller wages, though here, too, the 10-hour day is the rule. The figures of the Welfare Commission indicate a larger percentage of poorly-paid workof the Weifars Commission indicate a larger percentage of poorly-paid workers in this industry than in any other, While the new rule will operate to raise many, its exact effect is problematical, for in many cases the apparently low wages are caused by the cannery operating for only four or five days a week, the total earnings of the workers being reduced correspondingly. As the ruling recommended is a weekly "wage rate" of $8.90 instead of a wage of that amount, this condition of decreased earnings would continue.

From Pearson's Magazine

Thousands of people are lured to the destruction of their eyes and health by such department-store advertising as this: *85.00 Goldine Glasses, special today $2.49.

"Don't be lured by bargain-price inducement. At best you get a pair of glasses which doesn't quite fit. The results of this have been explained and ought to keen you out of department stores when getting glasses. Doctors who advertise absorption cures for cataracis are quacks. None of their remedies are of any value. They will be suppressed as soon as the pure food and drug act is amended past all possibility of the Supreme Court exempting them from its action. The men who advertise these cures are the meanest type of criminals. They prey on the blind and those who are going blind. To get well you will have to find a man who knows how to fit your eyes absolutely. And you will have to hunt for him. The list of things you are not to do is much longer. The two most important are not to buy glasses in 10-cent stores or department stores, and be lured by the sign 'eyes tested free.'"

Pearson's Is Right

There is never a cut in price until there has been a boost in price.

The "bargain counter" people add three and take away one. That's cut prices.

We don't cut prices because we don't boost prices. The eyeglass wearer who makes his purchase here is sure of real service —of quality—careful workmanship and the lowest prices consistent with accurate eyeglasses.

Whether THOMPSON GLASSES cost $2.00 or more, we guarantee absolute satisfaction.
