

CALIFORNIA GOES DOWN TO DEFEAT

Washington Crew Beats Visitors by Four Lengths on Lake Washington.

SHELLS NEARLY SWAMPED

Sweets of Steamers Too Much for Light Craft and at Time Rough Water is Encountered Washington is Far Ahead.

SEATTLE, Wash., May 22.—The University of Washington varsity crew beat the former California crew on Lake Washington late this afternoon by four lengths. Time: Washington, 16:11; California, 16:23.

By a misunderstanding the varsity race was started from Madison Park about the same time that the second varsity and freshman race was started from Lesch Park.

A fleet of excursion boats followed the less important race. When the mixed race, with its attendant fleet, had gone about a mile it was met by the varsity shells.

The Washington varsity crew, having the outside course, was most swamped by the swell of the steamers, the shell being partly filled with water. At the time this rough water was encountered the Washington crew had placed seven lengths between them and California, but their mishap cut the lead down to four lengths at the finish.

California caught the water first, and with a burst of speed at the start was soon half a length ahead. Washington slowly overhauled and passed the visitors, and at the end of the first mile was two lengths ahead. It was this Washington's steady, sweeping stroke was having its effect, and the local crew rapidly drew away from the Californians, increasing their lead to seven lengths in the next mile.

Then came the meeting with the three handicap crews and their attendant flotilla, the partial filling of the Washington shell, Washington's oarsmen splashed a bit, lost two or three strokes and a time appeared in danger of being swamped. But the oarsmen quickly mastered the difficult situation, and quickening their stroke from 32 to 34, endeavored to regain the three boat lengths they had lost in the rough water, but had to be content with holding their own and winning the race four lengths ahead of their competitors.

That the two varsity crews and the three handicap crews escaped serious mishap in passing was due to the dexterity of the coxswain, who skillfully piloted the shells through the narrow lanes and past the horde of motorboats. The varsity eight's lineup was as follows:

- California. Position. Washington.
Marble, 168. 169
Georgetown, 168. 172
Shaw (captain), 180. 170
Penny, 175. 174
Black, 172. 173
Hall, 172. 174

TRACK MEN READY

Big Annual Track and Field Events Open at 2 P. M.

SIX SCHOOLS ARE ENTERED

Columbia U, Portland Academy, Hill Military and Three High Schools to Be Represented With Two Favorites Rivals.

BY EARL R. GOODWIN. With Columbia University a prime favorite, the annual Portland interscholastic track and field classic will be staged on Multnomah Field this afternoon, commencing at 2 o'clock.

Six schools will be entered—Columbia University, Portland Academy, Hill Military Academy and the three big high schools, Washington, Lincoln and Jefferson.

Columbia won the meet last year and Washington the year previous. These two deadly rivals are expected to be the big contenders again today with Mulrhead depended upon by the Catholic preps as the malnast.

Lincoln and Jefferson are expected to put up a warm fight for third position, although one of the Academies may spring a surprise.

The Multnomah Club is handling the meet as in past years, and Martin Hawkins, chairman of the club outdoor athletics, expects a record crowd.

Unless a heavy rain falls this morning the oval will be in excellent condition for fast time. Staub, of Washington, is expected to break the 440-yard record of 1:23.3. He has run it in 51 in practice. Mulrhead, of Columbia, cleared more than 5 feet 10 inches in the high jump at the state meet at Eugene and is expected to shatter the local mark of 5 feet 6 inches, as well as give his record of 16 feet, high hurdles a hard rush.

There also may be a new mark in the pole vault. Sparrow, of Lincoln, and Whiffled, of Jefferson, have been going around 11 feet, which is four inches over Bobby Krohn's record.

All told 121 athletes are entered for today's annual event.

about five years ago," said Shuster. "I made that on $200, too."

"What did you do with all that coin?" Shuster was asked.

"Oh, I haven't spent it all," came the laconic reply. "I guess I have at least $10,000 of it in cold storage. But I had my touch of the Brewster stuff. Last year I toured Europe and got rid of several thousand of the wad."

"I don't have to do this umpring, but it's my profession and somehow one cannot keep away from some kind of work. This has been my first umpring job since 1910."

Shuster broke in about ten years ago as an umpire in the American Association. He later spent a year in the Western League and two or three years in the Texas League, finally winding up in the Western Canada circuit.

Yesterday's annual meeting was held at the Imperial Hotel. The total expenses in all departments for April were $3700. This was said to be a considerable saving.

The Commission indorsed a movement to extend the duck-shooting season outside of Multnomah County and exclusive of the coast counties from January 15 to February 15. The season begins on October 1.

The Commissioners also directed the superintendent of hatcheries to blow a hole in the Willamette River dam large enough for trout to pass through into the upper river.

GAME TIME YET SET AHEAD

San Francisco May See Ball Players Ready for Gong at 2:30.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 22.—(Special.)—One of the effects of the shifting of San Francisco's baseball center from Fifteenth and Valencia streets to the cove at the foot of Lone Mountain may be changing of the week day playing schedule by half an hour, making a uniform starting time of 2:30 for the week.

J. Cal Ewing this morning gave his section to the plan, conditional, of course, on the approval of the general baseball public. The movement, which originated among the ballplayers of the Portland club, was prompted by the peculiarity of the climatic conditions at Ewing Field.

The exposed position in which the park is situated renders it the prey for the late afternoon winds and fog which sweep in from the ocean. It is generally pleasant until about one o'clock in the afternoon and by starting the games earlier it would be possible to avoid the distressing conditions of the late afternoon, a boon to players and spectators alike. A vote of hand every time he goes over the mound on a cold day.

Hugh Jennings, of Detroit, has decided not to start Johnny Williams in the box again until warm weather. "Honolulu" Johnson has been bumped hard every time he goes over the mound on a cold day.

Victoria tennis folk are congratulating themselves because Schwengers will not compete for Canada in the Davis cup competitions. This will leave the former Canadian champion available for Northwestern tennis titles.
