ous and are practically all Portland women.

The directors have yet to receive the entire list of men's and foursome entries, but they expect one of the most successful tourneys ever held.

Up to last night 19 had entered the men's handicap and 18 had entered the men's championship play. Several new players have entered and while no startling changes are expected, some exciting contests are predicted.

The rain of the past few days has been of decided benefit to the links. Today will see no other matches with the exception of the women's qualifying rounds. Tomorrow the nixed foursomes will begin.

This event, like the others, is popular and 14 teams have so far entered. They have until tonight to register, and more names are expected both in the individual events and in the foursemes.

EUGENE, Or., May 25-After much elegraphing between Johnny Bender, graduate manager of Washington State graduate manager of Washington State Coilege, and Dean Walker, graduate manager of the University of Oregon, it has been settled definitely that the Northwest championship series in inter-collegiate baseball between the two teams will be played in Eugene June 1, 2 and 3.

With the fourth consecutive victory of Oregon over the Oregon Agricultural College team at Corvallis last Saturday, the Eugene school secured the pennant for the Western division, having attained a higher percentage on the nine games played than either University of Washington or the Agricultural College.

The team from Washington State College captured the pennant of the Eastern division, and the games here next week is to decide the champion-ship of the Northwest.

Anderson, by his defeat, is no longer a championship possibility, and, on his showing, it is doubtful whether he was ever taken seriously as a contender to the lightweight title, while Barrieau impressed the crowd with his splendid work, although he, too, lacks the qualities of a title aspirant.

Following the last flasco staged by the Woodlawn Club, all such organizations contemplating the staging of amateur programmes must show their programme to T. Morris Dunne, secretary of the Pacific Northwest Asso-retary of the Pacific Northwest Association.

Amateur boxing has been dealt several solar plexus blows this Spring by incapable management where the desire to make a few dollars was put ahead of the sport. T. Morris Dunne's resolution is aimed at the enemies of the sport.

Some of the poor shows have been those staged by Matchmakers Dugan and Ambrose, of the Hawthorne and Woodlawn Clubs, respectively. At one of their shows boys hardly in their teens were placed against each other. In speaking of this phase of the game, Fred T. Merrill, one of the followers of the game, said:

"In programmes of that kind lies the greatest danger and possibility of accidents. I was one of the few spec-accidents. I was one of the few spectators at the recent programme of the Hawthorne Club. Some of the things there were awful. Young kids who knew nothing of boxing mauled each other in a manner which could easily have led to serious trouble.

"They know nothing of guarding and it is a crime to let such boys go on."

LIGHTWEIGHTS TO

RITCHIE AND CHARLIE WHITE TO FIGHT IN MILWAUKEE TONIGHT.

Chicago Boy Expects to Give Champion Hard Battle for Honors in 10-Round, No Decision, Match.

MILWAUKEE, May 25.—(Special.)— Whether Charlie White, Chicago's premier lightweight, can be considered a championship possibility and whether Willie Ritchie is a real champion of the Joe Gans and "Battling" Nelson types

Although he has defended his title successfully since he won the lightweight crown from Ad Wolgast at Daly City, Cal., in 1912, Ritchie has not been called upon to meet a fighter of the White type.

Rivers, Murphy, Cross and Wolgast cannot be considered in the same class with White as far as boxing is concerned, especially over the short distance. Since he started to climb the ladder of pugilistic fame, White has met and defeated some of the toughest fighters in the lightweight division.

Ritchie must fight all the time to save his prestige, while White will battle with the tenacity of a buildog to show the fans he is entitled to consideration as a champlonship possibility. Langford Beats Watkins.
