CHARMING in every detail was the "at home" given yesterday by Mrs. Charles E. Wolverson, one of the society's most popular matrons. The Wolverson residence was unusually attractive, the floral decorations being done under the capable direction of Miss Ella Stephens, who is rapidly becoming famous for her artistry in this line. In the drawing-room huge bowls and baskets of pink roses, combined with huckleberry and Oregon grape, were effectively arranged about the room, adding to the loveliness of the handsome gowns of the hundreds of guests who called during the afternoon.

The hostess was assisted in receiving by Miss Stephens, Mrs. Thomas G. Halley, Mrs. Wallace McCamant and Mrs. George T. Willett. Stationed at the punchbowl in the library, which was decked prettily with golden poppies and roses, were Mrs. William Trufant Foster and Miss Henrietta Elliot.

The large reception hall was adorned with a profusion of exquisite fragrant red roses and ferns. The tea table was especially admired, a broad, low arrangement of pink roses, combined with yellow and white iris, forming the principal decoration. Presiding were Mrs. C. E. S. Wood, Mrs. Lee Hoffman, Mrs. James F. Fuller, and Mrs. William MacRae. The hostess was assisted by Miss Claire Houghton, Miss Isabella Gaud, the Misses Alice and Evelyn Carey, Mrs. Marion E. Dolph and Miss Hazel Dolph.

THE third annual P. E. O. state convention will open tonight at 8 o'clock at the Hotel Benson, where a short programme will be followed by an informal reception. Mrs. J. W. Ferguson, state president, will preside. A distinguished guest will be Miss Edith Prouty, supreme president of the National P. E. O. organization. She arrived yesterday and is the house guest of Mrs. E. Hinman Loomis at her home on Hawthorne terrace, Portland Heights. The convention will continue for three days and will be marked by interesting addresses and good music. Chapter C is the hostess chapter.

The officers of the Oregon grand chapter are:

President, Mrs. Margaret G. Ferguson; first vice-president, Mrs. Margaret Seig; second vice-president, Mrs. Della M. Seiberger; recording secretary, Mrs. Florence M. Bean, Forest Grove; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Eleanor K. Brace; treasurer, Mrs. Maude D. Brand; organizer, Mrs. Mary Duffield.

Mrs. Harry Allen Anderson, a prominent member of the Overlook Woman's Club, has issued cards for a Montessori afternoon Thursday, at which she will present Miss Gertrude Thomsen, who is the only graduate in Portland of Madame Montessori's training school of Rome, will give the assembled women a talk on the method and an insight into the workings of the system.

In the United States there are about 75 women who have completed the course, and the system it advocates is only vaguely understood by the general public. It is with a view to giving a better understanding of the subject to the clubwomen that Mrs. Anderson has planned the coming event.

Among those invited are: Mrs. W. J. Pratt, Mrs. J. A. Walker, Mrs. John R. Luck, Mrs. Samuel C. Gratton, Mrs. Marshall Ward, Mrs. Ralph J. Furr, Mrs. John R. Walker, Mrs. Melvin Lewis, Mrs. Willie Maguire, Mrs. James Adams, Mrs. Ernest Hoch, Mrs. L. V. Hering, Mrs. Henry Hunt, Mrs. F. R. Cook, Miss Alice Ryan, Miss Blanche Mickey and Mrs. Ida Mickey.

About 40 of the younger set, including a few of the young married couple, enjoyed the delightful dinner and dance given by Mr. and Mrs. Oskar E. Huber last night at the Automobile Club in honor of Mrs. Konrad Delbrueck and their daughter, Miss Dorothy Huber, whose wedding to Kurt Koehler will be one of the brilliant events of the early fall.

Mrs. Delbrueck also was honor guest in the afternoon at the attractive luncheon presided over by Mrs. Westlinger. The table was charming in appointments and decorations, and covers were set for Mrs. De Suenon, Mrs. Gilbert Durham, Mrs. Erskine Wood, Mrs. Stanley Jewett, Mrs. Carl I. Wernick, Mrs. Henry Wassinger, Mrs. Phillip Hart, Miss Joan Mackenzie, Miss Clara Weidner, Miss Stella Frohman and the hostess.

The Kansas Jayhawk Society of Oregon met last night in Manchester hall, 84 1/2 Fifth street. A musical programme has been arranged for the occasion. All former Kansans are invited.

Miss Genevieve Halley, who left here to pass April in San Francisco and the Bay cities, is prolonging her visit until the middle of June. During the sculptors' ball, an unique event recently given at the Palace hotel, Miss Halley was the house guest of Mrs. Eleanor Martin, the social leader of San Francisco. Mrs. Martin entertained at dinner preceding the dance.

An important event of this evening is the young people's party at the Irvington Club house, for which elaborate preparations have been made. The committee is Miss Eleanor Meneffe, Miss Marie Haller and Miss Genevieve Matteson.

Mrs. I. D. Peters entertained a number of the members of the smart set in her apartments at the Alexandria Court yesterday afternoon with a bridge-tennis. Another smart and elaborate affair of yesterday afternoon was the bridge party for which Mrs. R. F. Lytle and Mrs. Nathaniel Lytle were the hosts at the home of the former. Thirty tables were arranged for the guests and attractive card favors were awarded the high scorer. This affair was called a rose party, a profusion of beautiful pink blossoms being effectively arranged about the rooms. A feature of the affair was the musical programme given by Mrs. Fred L. Olson. Among those assisting the hostesses were the Misses Genevieve Matteson, Alice Autzen, Clara Fields, Margaret Porter, Edith Prater, Helen Haller, Marie Haller and Ruth Falston.

Divorced Life

By Helen Hessing Fuessle.

DIVORCED in the morning sunshine, Columbia's campus laughed and sparkled. Students were strolling from one cloistered building to another for their college lectures. Care-free college boys laughed and gossiped as they went. Marian crossed wistfully to the campus, a flood of her own college memories jipping out of her mind.

To what woman who has been a collegian do the self-same mocking memories not come from time to time, transporting her, half against her will, to a world of days which she would do anything to get back to?

One memory in particular re-etched itself into her mind. Once it had been her ambition to marry some university instructor and to become part and parcel of the year-round life of a serene social life of a college community. Her ambition had never fastened itself with definite eye upon any particular faculty member. One or two, she remembered dimly, there were with whom she might have fallen in love had chance propinquity afforded its assistance.

But, somehow, the dream had died. Instead, she had hastily married Frank, whose interests were centered in the hardware business, who sentenced her to dwell in an uninteresting city, until it came to pass that her smashed illusions and mental misery caused her to seek and find relief in divorce.

"Good morning," Miss Winthrop, said a voice, startling Marian out of her reflections. The speaker was Miss Barker, the Bostonian, sister of the man whose brown eyes she had been attending had helped beguile Marian's dreaminess in the Big Town.

"I've been trailing about half a block behind you ever since you left

Doris Blake's Advice

WALLA WALLA, Wash., May 19.—Dear Miss Blake: I am a young girl 16 years old and I have come to you for advice.

First—Am I too young to go places with some of my boy friends with no serious intentions toward me? When you answer the question please give a few reasons.

Second—Another question is this: My folks think that I am not capable of taking care of myself at all. Please tell me a few ways that I could prove to them that I am.

One more question of minor importance: Third—A young girl and boy had been going together for some time, with no apparent intention of marriage. Later they moved to different towns. The girl, in the new town, met many other young men, but did not seem to care to associate with them. She could not like them as she had the other boy. She then decided she loved him. This boy, however, did not seem to think anything at all about her. Should the girl try to forget her love for him, or what could she do to show him that she loved him? They have never had any correspondence.

Hoping to see the answers in The Oregonian.

You Can Quickly Free Your Skin From Hairs

(The Modern Beauty)

Here is a hair-removing treatment that is free from pain or danger and requires very little time. Make a paste with some powdered delatone and water, spread this on the hairy surface and in about two minutes rub it off, wash the skin and the hairs are gone. Excepting where the growth is unusually stubborn, you will find a single application sufficient to banish every hair. To guard against disappointment, it is best to get the delatone in an original package.—Adv.
