BY ROSCOE FAWCETT Portland prodded Musser and Ehmke for 18 solid whacks before a Sunday crowd of 3500 yesterday and won from the Angels, hands down in the final game of the series, score 40 to 4. It was just such a game as Portland might have staged along about mid-week. The Angels couldn't hit Higgin-botham and they couldn't field, and,

Manager Dillon proved an adept at this form of attack and as a result took his shower bath about 45 minutes ahead of his henchmen. Finney banished him in the seventh, after the ump had called Meek out on a third strike that ticked

While Umpire Finney was busy arsing Dillon's idioms, numerous Portland batsmen were reducing Mus-ser and Ehmke to lowest denominations.

Lober and Ryan Lead Bombardment. Lober and Ryan led in the bombard-ment, each fattening his batting average to the extent of three safeties. But there were no backward ones at all on the McCredie payroll. The boys VanBut,1 all went out while the picking was good, and they found the Anegelic flingers about as soft as one of Concessionaire Metzger's ice cream cones after it has been peddled around in the sunshine for 30 minutes.

Musser lasted three innings and a fraction; also a fracture. The ex-Washingtonian left in the mid-section Washingtonian left in the mid-section of the fourth, with three runs already across and two men on the bases.

Then entered one Howard Ehmke, famous as the winner of seven straight games and also famous because of the class he once showed in curling his six feet three inches in a two foot desk at high school in Giendale, Call. Ehmke didn't look like six feet three straight.

Ehmke didn't look like seven straight; in fact he didn't look like six feet three straight.

Reputation is ignored.

The locals forgot all about their moribund streak and began pummeling Ehmke as if he had no reputation at all. Try as he would, the 19-year-old skyscraper could not induce the Beaver batsmen to let up. Ere the ninth inling came to a close the home team had plucked 11 lusty clouts off his pitching in five innings.

Good fortune saved Ehmke, how-

From Washington and Only Waivers Are Awaited.

Harry Wolverton Buys Billy Orr From Athletics to Fill Hole at Second and Harry Ables Will Rejoin Oakland Team.

Joe Gedeon, sensational youngster drafted from the San Francisco Seals in the Fall of 1912, is to return to these shores, according to reliable informa-tion given out by emissaries of "Pop" Dillon, Los Angeles manager. Gedeon has already been purchased from the Washington Americans, and all that is keeping the dogs of pub-licity off the scent is the matter of the procuring waivers on the youngster.

Naturally Gedeon is an outfielder, but he participated in numberiess games in the infield for the Seals in 1912, and Dillon's plan is to use him somewhere in the inner gardens, either at second, third or short.

In 1912, when a green kid, Gedeon hit .263 in the Coast League in 118 games. It is said that Dillon feels his Angels are a trifle weak with the willow for pennant contenders, and if this is true Metzger likely will be the athlete to be relegated to the bench. The German is a wonderful fielder, but wofully lacking in etick work.

Angels Are Optimistic.

Whether or not Washington will be able to procure walvers from the other major league clubs is problematical, but those on the inside in the Angel camp seem to be highly optimistic.
Under the terms of the prospective deal Gedeon is to come under an optional agreement. Clark Griffith wants more work for his young star, and as Dillon is his brother-in-law he is willing to intrust him to "Pop."

Last year in over 20 games Gedeon hit .188 for Washington, being used exclusively in the outfield.

Two other Pacific Coast League teams have been strengthened in the last have been strengthened in the last week, Sacramento and Oakland. Harry Wolverton has purchased Billy Orr from the Philadelphia Athletics to fill the hole at second base, while the huge southpaw, Harry Ables, has de-elded to rejoin the Oakland pitching corps. Orr Considered Good. Orr hit only .200 in the big show last season, but he was considered good enough by Connie Mack to last the entire season. Mack drafted him from Sacramento in the Fall of 1912. Since early Spring Ables has been at work on a Texas ranch, and considerable mystery has shrouded his refusal to report. Suddenly Harry telegraphed Devlin a couple of days ago that he was on the way, and the Goliath'is sure was on the way, and the Goliath'is sure to break in within the next week.

Up to last year, when Ables suffered a broken bone in his pitching flipper, the big Texan had been the mainstay of the Oaks in the box. In 1911 Ables and Bill Steen were tied for the pitching premiership of the league.

Ables' reporting will give the Oaks one of the strongest flinging corps in the circuit.

INDEPENDENT CANDIDATE

I hereby declare myself a candidate before all the people, regardless of party affiliations, for re-election to the office in which I am now, and for 316 years last past have been, serving all the people, and in which I expect to serve all the people for some years to come.

My name will be printed on the ballot in the regular way. Each voter, on November 3, will be given an opportunity to cast a ballot either approving or disapproving my record in Congress.

Between now and election day I shall make such a campaign as I have never made before. It is my candid belief that my defeat would postpone for at least ten years a realization of National laws giving to the general public the prosperity and share of wealth produced which it deserves. If defeat should be my reward for drafting and fighting for such laws, no Congressman in the future could be expected to take up the same fight.

These are some of the things I am fighting for:

1. The enforcement of the Oregon & California Railroad Land Grant, that the majesty of a solemn Act of Congress may be upheld, and that thousands of poor people in Oregon may have homes. I started this litigation September 16, 1907, pushed in to a favorable decision before Judge Wolverton in Portland July 1, 1913, and, while I am writing this announcement I am in San Francisco fighting the case in the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals. Ex-Senators Spooner and Gearin and Hon. W. D. Fenton and Mr. Peter F. Dunne are here representing the railroad. Mr. B. D. Townsend, who has represented the Attorney-General since 1907, withdrew six weeks ago, and the Attorney-General is represented here by Mr. C. J. Smyth, of Omaha, and young Mr. Rabb, of Indiana, lately a special agent of the Land Office at Portland. I am the only man originally in the case against the railroad who is sticking to it, and I shall stick to the end 2. For Government ownership of railroads, and Government or municipal ownership of all other public monopolies, to the end that the per capita charge for public utility service may be reduced in this country to cost, which would mean a saving annually to each citizen of at least $50. 3. For agricultural asset currency, of exactly the same tenor and effect as the commercial asset currency provided for in the recent currency law, except that first mortgages on farms, not exceeding 50 per cent of the unimproved value thereof, shall be taken as security by the Government in place of personal notes, to the end that the $500,000,000 annual interest which our people are now paying to the Money Power, through the farmers, shall go to the Government-to the people-and not to the Rothschilds, Morgans and Rockefellers. This bill alone would save the American people $5 a year each. Nobody would be hurt except the Money Power, which is now loaning "credit" to the farmers. The farmers have borrowed eight billions of dollars, while there are only $3,500,000,000 in existence in the U. S., or but little more than a third of the amount the farmers alone have borrowed. The Government is better equipped to act as fiscal agent, hold the securities, and extend the credit than is any private bank. No wonder the Associated Press and the United Press and their ewspapers, are fighting me. The money power controls the news channels of this country. It would be idiotic not to do so, since it has the price.

4. For a law making all press associations common carriers, to the end that any person or corporation may start a daily newspaper and compel the press associations to furnish their out-of-town service, and at a reasonable price, ust as any citizen may now compel a railroad to carry him as a passenger if he tenders the fare. When I introduced this law, Mr. Bond P. Geddis, agent at Washington for Mr. E. C. Scripps, asked me to let up on my fight for the bill, and to apologize for my statement in the Congressional Record that the press associations were controlled by the money power. Mr. Geddis told me that Mr. Scripps owned the Portland News; that Scripps also owned the United Press, or the majority of it, that serves both the News and the Journal in Portland, and that if I did not apologize and drop my fight, Scripps would have his paper, the Portland News, fight me for re-election. I refused to surrender.

5. For an Interstate Trade Commission, with powers to control private trusts, like the Steel Trust, the Tobacco Trust, the Oil Trust, the Harvester Trust, and all other trusts, even to the extent of fixing maximum prices to be charged for any commodity when found to be controlled by an absolute monopoly, pending the elimination of the monopolistic conditions and the restoration of free competition.

These are not empty promises. I have put all these propositions into the form of specific laws. All that would be required to realize them would be to elect 219 Congressmen,—a majority,—willing to serve the public. I have taken my office seriously; have worked like a slave the last 3½ years, and, of course, the interests will try to defeat me and put in a stand-patter or a nonentity.

interests will try to defeat me and put in a stand-patter or a nonentity.

I had not been in office six months until I was approached and offered a bribe to serve the "interests." I was offered a salary to serve as "Attorney" for the "Coos Bay & Eastern Electric Company." I refused to be bought, and have kept the faith. I shall keep it hereafter, let come what will.

Had any fair presentation of the tremendous issues involved in this fight been made to the voters by the newspapers in the late primary, I should regard the result as binding. But such was not done. Early in my Congressional career the newspapers ridiculed me, and later (when I had been recognized by my colleagues at Washington, and placed on the committee on interstate and foreign commerce, one of the most important committees of the House, and the most important on which any Oregon member serves, the newspapers then absolutely ignored me. The newspapers are impressed with a public interest, as has been held by the Supreme Court, and they have no right to close their columns to news concerning a public officer. But that is what the Portland papers did. And at the same time the public is helping to support the newspapers by carrying their papers through the mails.

The newspapers did worse than to ignore the work I am doing in Congress

The newspapers did worse than to ignore the work I am doing in Congress and in the courts for the public. They actually tried to poison the minds of the public against me as an individual, well knowing that they could not attack my public record. The Oregonian closed an editorial supporting McArthur, Sunday before the primary, with the statement that "There are excellent reasons why Lafferty should be left at home." The Portland News, favoring McArthur's nomination, habitually followed the lead of The Oregonian, and would close its editorials supporting McArthur, and opposing me, with the statement that "There are other reasons not necessary to mention why Lafferty should be defeated."

I refuse to be killed off politically by any such blank cartridges. I chalenge these newspapers to produce leaden bullets, and show wherein I am unfit, if any person can show where I have ever been immoral, or committed any oftense against any law of any country, I will resign from office.

fense against any law of any country, I will resign from office.

As a cap sheaf to the campaign of newspaper infamy, on the afternoon before the primary, large and glaring paid advertisements were inserted in all the afternoon papers, when it was too late for me to expose the fraud in the same papers, headed: "Congressman Lafferty for Prohibition." That piece of trickery alone cost me at least 3000 votes. Every reader of the advertisements supposed I put them in the papers and, of course, those who are against prohibition were incensed that I was using the influence of my political office in that right. The advertisements were inserted by my political enemies, who well knew the head thereon was faise, and who well knew that the printing of such advertisements, supposedly coming from me, would put me in a faise light, and cost me thousands of votes. I have taken no personal public stand for or against prohibition, and shall not try to influence the people either way on that subject. I shall vote for the resolution submitting the quesion to the states, if it comes to a vote before the November election, and if it comes to a vote after that I shall vote as Multnomah County votes on the subject in November. No Congressman has any right to vote otherwise than as desired by a majority of his constituents, when that desire has been clearly expressed with notice in advance that the referendum vote of the people will be followed. That was the very principle of Statement I.

I want every voter to call to see me at my office, 733 Pittock block, opposite Hazelwood Cream Store. I shall be home in a few days and shall be in my office and engaged in the campaign every day until November 3, except such time as I may find it necessary to be in Washington. Very sincerely.
