

TRUST PROGRAMME BILLS ARE PASSED

Opposition Melts on Final Tests.

RECESS NOW UP TO SENATE

Leaders Expected to Agree Without Much Delay.

ACTION COMES SUDDENLY

Forty-Three Republicans and 16 Progressives Join Majority in Support of Clayton Omnibus Anti-Trust Measure.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—All three bills on the Administration trust legislation programme passed the House late today and were sent to the Senate for action.

Opposition melted when the final test came, and the voting went through quickly. The Covington interstate trade commission bill was passed without a record vote; the Clayton omnibus anti-trust measure received 275 votes to 54 against it, and the vote on the Rayburn railroad capitalization bill was 352 to 12.

Adjournment Now Up to Senate.

The clerk hardly had finished the last rollcall before the House had settled down to consideration of the sundry civil appropriation bill, one of several supply measures that must be disposed of before the session ends. The adjournment problem now is squarely up to the Senate, and the Democratic leaders on that side of the Capitol are expected to agree upon a programme in the near future.

Action on the trust bills in the House came unexpectedly.

The three measures had been agreed to in "committee of the whole" after weeks of speech-making, consideration of the Rayburn bill, as amended by the committee, being completed late today.

Murdoch's Last Effort Defeated.

When the trade commission bill came before the House for a final vote, Progressive Leader Murdoch moved that it be sent back to the Interstate commerce commission as a substitute. This was rejected 151 to 19, and the pending bill was passed without a rollcall. Then the votes on the other two measures were taken in rapid succession.

Representative White, of Ohio, was the only Democrat to vote against the Clayton bill, and all the Progressives voted for it except Representative Chandler, of New York. Forty-three Republicans and 16 Progressives joined the majority in supporting the measure.

Republicans—Anderson, Barton, Burke (South Dakota), Campbell, Cary, Cranston, Curry, Davis, Dillon, Fair, Frear, French, Gardner, Good, Green (Iowa), Haughen, Hawley, Helgeson, Johnson (Washington), Kelley (Michigan), Kennedy (Iowa), Kent, Kinkaid (Nebraska), La Follette, Lenroot, McKenna, McLaughlin, Mages, Mondell, Morgan (Oklahoma), Moses, Newcomb, Porter, Roberts (Nevada), Scott, Sinnott, Sloan, Smith (Idaho), J. M. C. Smith (Michigan), Stafford, Sutherland, Townner, Vane and Wood—42.

Progressives—Bell (California), Bryan, Copley, Falconer, Hissburgh, Hulings, Kelly (Pennsylvania), Lindsberg, Macdonald, Murdoch, J. L. Nolan (California), Raley, Temple, Thomson (Illinois), Walters, Woodruff—16.

The eight Republicans and four Democrats who voted against the Rayburn bill were: Democrats—Bartlett, Buchanan (Texas), Garner and Witherspoon.

Republicans—Cranston (Michigan), Dunn, Fairchild, Gillett, Moore, Parker, Payne and Wallin—8.

Trade Commission's Powers Broad.

The Covington trade commission bill would create a commission with broad inquisitorial powers over corporations engaged in interstate commerce.

After abolishing the Interstate Commerce Corporation and the positions of Commissioner and Assistant Commissioner of Corporations, the bill would turn over the organization and powers of the bureau to the new commission. It then provides that all corporations with a capital of not less than $5,000,000, except those now subject to the Interstate Commerce Commission, shall submit annual reports, "records of its organization, bondholders and stockholders and financial condition" to the Commission. The Commission may also designate corporations having a capitalization of less than $5,000,000 from whom it desires reports. It may call for special reports, in addition to the regular annual statements required by the bill, and would provide a penalty of $100 a day for delay in filing reports.

Investigations Are Authorized.

On the direction of the President, the Attorney-General or either House of Congress, the commission would be authorized to investigate facts relating to any alleged violation of the anti-trust laws. The commission also would recommend possible readjustments of the business of corporations so investigated. When the commission finds information as to "any unfair competition or practice in commerce, not necessarily constituting a violation of the law," it is called upon to report to the President and aid him in making recommendations to Congress for remedial legislation.

The bill would authorize the com-

ENGINE PICKS UP BABY FROM WRECK

Infant Seizes Pilot Rods as Auto is Demolished.

Little Girl Is Found With Fractured Leg, but Alive, on Front of Locomotive After Accident.

A baby's inherited characteristic to grasp at a nearby object, much as our distant ancestor, the ape, seizes a limb of a tree, probably saved the life of 3-year-old Lois Frazier at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon when an automobile in which she was seated was struck by a Southern Pacific train on a crossing one and a fourth miles north of Clackamas Station. The child's leg was fractured. The auto was demolished.

Mrs. Ruby L. Frazier, of 1170 East Taylor street, Portland, mother of the injured child, was driving the machine. It is just before the crash were Mr. and Mrs. James Linn, of Lents, their two children, Florence, 7 years old, and Ethel, 5 years old, and the baby.

The machine came to a stop across the tracks. The older persons leaped out and Mr. Linn lifted out the older children and was reaching for the baby when the impact came.

As the mother screamed frantically, the party looked among the ruins for the missing child, but in vain. Finally, some one cried out that the child had been found. She was hanging from dear life to the brace rods which run from the boiler to the pilot bed. Apparently she had been thrown against the pilot and had grasped the rods intuitively. The child was brought to Portland and taken to Good Samaritan Hospital.

Funston May Open Army Food Market to Restore Normal Costs.

VERA CRUZ, June 5.—Brigadier-General Funston announced today that he contemplated appointing a commission of Mexican residents and American Army officers to investigate the increased cost of living in Vera Cruz since the occupation.

Complaints have reached the General that wholesale dealers and importers have been squeezing the retail dealers and hotelkeepers. Several importers are known to have considerable stocks on hand, but they are forcing up the prices.

It is said General Funston may seek permission to sell Army subsistence to restore normal prices.

CARRANZA KEEPS COUNSEL

Word From Constitutionalist Not Expected Before Monday—German Vessels Appeal From Fines Imposed by Funston.

LONDON, June 6.—The Daily Express asserts that Sir Edward Grey, the British Foreign Minister, has notified President Wilson in friendly but unequivocal terms that if General Villa should become president of Mexico the British government would demand exact satisfaction for the murder of William S. Benton, who was killed last February by the constitutionals.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—Information reaching Washington late today that the American schooner Sunshine from Galveston had landed ammunition at Tampico for the Mexican constitutionals without interference on the part of the United States or the Huerta government was received in official quarters here without comment.

The presence of the Sunshine at Tampico with arms aboard consigned to the constitutionals had been known to the Washington Government for several days and the actual delivery of munitions of war for the enemies of the Huerta government without interference was regarded with significance.

Huerta's Gunboats Watched.

With the Cuban steamer Antilla en route from New York to Tampico with arms consigned to Carranza's forces, there has been much speculation as to what the United States would do in case the Huerta government should attempt a blockade of the port. Every indication tonight, however, was that the United States would maintain its previously announced position that Tampico was an open port.

Should the Huerta gunboats at Puerto Mexico and Alvarado manifest any signs of moving toward Tampico, Admiral Badger was instructed to report at once to Washington. The Mexican vessels have since been kept under close surveillance.

Mediators Said to Disapprove.

BOMB DIES OUT IN CASTLE

Non-Militant Suffragists Also Embarrass Government.

POLITICAL ACTIVITY IS FELT

Sylvia Pankhurst, Borne to Meeting in Invalid's Chair, Reiterates She Will Plague Asquith Until He Receives Deputation.

LONDON, June 5.—The campaign of arson and attempts at destruction of property by means of bombs was continued today by the suffragettes.

Breadal Church, a historic edifice near Derby, was destroyed in the early morning and during the day an amateurish bomb was found in Dudgeon Castle, near Dundee. The fuse of the bomb had been extinguished by the wind.

Sylvia Repeats Threat.

Sylvia Pankhurst, borne to the platform on an invalid chair, made another appearance tonight at a suffragette meeting in Cannington and repeated her threat that she would lie on the steps of the House of Commons without food or water until Premier Asquith consented to receive a deputation of her followers.

While the suffragettes are pursuing a campaign which in the opinion of most people only tends to defer the attainment of their wishes, the non-militant section has organized and is carrying on a constitutional political programme of peculiar annoyance and embarrassment to the government.

Labor Party Support Gains.

The National Union of Women's Suffrage Societies, whose executive committee embraces a large number of influential persons, including Mrs. Henry Fawcett, Lady Francis Balfour, the Countess of Aberdeen, Lady Brassey, Lord Courtney and Lord Lytton, has issued a report showing that it is spending funds freely at bye-elections in support of Labor party candidates and against the official Liberal candidate.

The policy of the National Union is to do its utmost to overthrow the Asquith government, the entire blame for the defeat of the woman suffrage bills being placed upon the Premier, and at the same time help the Labor party, which is the only party supporting the women's cause. This policy will greatly (Concluded on Page 2.)

Ohio Coal Operators and Strikers Still Unable to Agree.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, June 5.—Coal operators and strikers of Ohio failed to reach an agreement on a wage scale today for the second time since the mines were closed April 1 and a joint conference, which started Monday, was adjourned.

Before adjournment was taken, John M. Ross, State Mining Commissioner, entered the hall with a message from Governor Cox, who wished to confer with miners' officials. They were closed with the Governor for a half hour, but no one would say what had been discussed.

Miners and operators went into separate executive sessions after they adjourned the joint conference.

The committee decided to pay the Mayor the $305 he demanded. The Mayor thereupon called off his "strike."

RAPP WITHHOLDS MADAME'S SECRET

Diva's Husband Hopes for Concealment

DIVORCE SUIT IS BITTER ONE

Schumann-Heink May Miss Engagement at Bayreuth.

DETECTIVES' STORIES TOLD

Results of Shadowing Defendant in New York in Evidence—Visits to Mrs. "Kitty E. Dean" Described in Depositions.

CHICAGO, June 5.—(Special.)—"I do not want to tell the great secret in the life of Madame Schumann-Heink. I hope that it may not be necessary to bring it into this case."

So said William J. Rapp, Jr., husband of Madame, who is suing him for divorce before Judge Sullivan, of the Superior Court. Crowds thronged the courtroom today, the third day of the hearing, but were disappointed on failing to hear the "great secret."

Detectives' Depositions Read.

They heard, instead, depositions presented by counsel for Madame. These were by private detectives and others, and bore on the alleged close companionship said to have existed between Mr. Rapp and Mrs. "Kitty" E. Dean, named as co-respondent in the case.

The reading of depositions will be finished tomorrow. Attorneys Ellis Mayer and Sidney Stein, counsel for Madame Schumann-Heink, hope to close her side of the case the same day. They announced today that their client would not leave Chicago for Bayreuth until the case was finished.

No intimation of what the diva's alleged "secret" might be could be obtained from Mr. Rapp after the hearing today. The "secret" was mentioned in the translation of a letter from Rapp to Madame and admitted as evidence yesterday, but there was no further developments regarding it today.

Secret is for Madame to Tell.

"What is the 'great secret'?" Rapp was asked.

"That is for Madame to answer," he said. "I do not want to tell of it, and I sincerely desire that it may not be brought into this case."

"But the fight between us is to be one to a bitter end. In all my actions I have tried to be decent and manly toward Madame. That letter showed this to be true. Advantage has been taken of my behavior, and now it means that I must fight it out."

Attorney Mayer said that he knew of no "great secret." He was asked regarding statements said to have been made by Rapp containing veiled intimations as to the reason for objections to questions asked of Madame and her daughter in "The Fight Out."

"Such questions had no bearing on the evidence in this case," he said.

Spectator Expects Singing.

When court convened one woman separated from the throng at the rear of the room, entered the gate leading to the bench and approached a bailiff.

"When is the Madame going to sing?" she asked.

The bailiff looked at her in amazement.

"This ain't no opera-house, madam," he said. "This is a divorce court."

At the conclusion of the afternoon session attorneys for Madame Schumann-Heink expressed the fear that she would be forced to cancel her engagement to sing at the Wagnerian festival for her to make the liner at New York if the case were not finished tomorrow, and they considered it highly improbable that the case would be finished before the middle or the end of next week.

Visits to Correspondent Related.

Alleged visits of Rapp to the apartments of Mrs. Dean were detailed today in several depositions. These calls were made at all hours and some of them continued until daylight, according to the affidavits.

The associations of Rapp and Mrs. Dean were sworn to by detectives, who said they trailed them to a New York apartment; by the janitor of the building and by Arthur W. Shaw, a negro messenger, who asserted he saw the pair enter a hotel in New York on a February night in 1913.

Eugene Ross, a detective, said he began to shadow Rapp in December, 1913. "The first time I saw Rapp was with a woman on Thirty-first street and they went to 37 Home street," he said. "Neither of them came out that night."

He said he followed Rapp and Mrs. Dean on a shopping tour and told of Rapp's entering the apartment with his own key.

"He went there with a black satchel," said the detective, "and the next morning emerged with a suitcase."

Janitor Remembers, Too.

William Maples, another detective, deposed that he followed and watched Rapp during the month of February, 1913, and that on numerous occasions he saw Rapp in company with Mrs. Dean. The deposition said Mark Harrison, an actor, was a frequent visitor of Mrs. Dean.

John Berger, janitor of one of the buildings where Mrs. Dean had an apartment, deposed that Rapp had been (Concluded on Page 2.)
