

SUFFRAGISTS WORK
FEDERATION

Persistent Campaign Waged by Illinoisans for Indorsement of Clubwomen.

CHEERFUL VIEW IS TAKEN

"Practical Politicians" Said to Be Working Quietly to Prevent Prohibition Question From Arising in Convention.

CHICAGO, June 9.—Grace Wilbur Trout, president of the Illinois Suffrage Association, which succeeded in getting the ballot for women in this state, said today that in her belief the effort for indorsement of the movement by the General Federation of Women's Clubs stood the best chance it ever had in the hands of the delegates to the 12th biennial convention, which will be called to order here tomorrow night.

Mrs. Pennypacker takes the position that, while she is not opposed to the ballot for women, she must not, as chief executive of the federation, step out of bounds to influence sentiment or action.

Every train today brought delegations, and the headquarters was busy with the innumerable details connected with their welfare. A bit of gossip was to the effect that real practical politicians, with an eye on the woman vote, were working to keep the surface to keep the prohibition question from arising in the convention.

Delegates from Indiana have a candidate for the presidency of the federation in 1914 in the person of Grace Julian Clarke, of Indianapolis. It is assumed that custom will be followed in the re-election of Mrs. Pennypacker, but the Indiana delegation has prepared to play astute preliminary politics for their candidate two years hence.

"General" Rosalie Jones is Visitor.
There are nearly 3000 delegates to the convention, and the programme contains a wide range of subjects, but the suffrage question, which previous conventions have declined to consider, is admittedly the liveliest topic.

"General" Rosalie Jones, the marching suffrage leader of New York, is among the visitors at the convention.
Mrs. Hugh Reid Griffen, of London and Paris, born in Chicago but long a resident of Europe, was another interesting visitor.

GOVERNOR'S ACT REVIEWED

Martial Law at Friars' Club Robs Courts, Says Defender.

OREGON CITY, Or., June 9.—(Special.)—The legal positions of Governor Oswald West, who first declared martial law at the Friars' club at Milwaukie, and then ordered an investigation of the club by the Clackamas County grand jury, are in conflict, according to testimony introduced by Attorney John Ditchburn in the Circuit Court this morning, after reading the Governor's proclamation declaring martial law. The civil courts can have no jurisdiction, according to the attorney, where martial law is in force.

INNOCENT CONVICT FREE

Man Who Pleaded Guilty on Prisoner's Advice Is Pardoned.

SACRAMENTO, June 9.—After two years in Folsom Penitentiary for a robbery he did not commit, Fred Weinberg is free today, having received an absolute pardon from Governor Johnson. Weinberg was sentenced to five years from Yolo County, being found with two ex-convicts, who were identified as having committed a robbery at Plainfield. All the circumstances were against Weinberg.

Vancouver Family Wishes Foster Son to Retain His Own Name.

VANCOUVER, Wash., June 9.—(Special.)—A point of law to decide whether or not a family may adopt a child, yet permit him to retain the name of his father, that he may perpetuate the family, will be argued next Monday in the Superior Court of Clarke County before Judge Beck.

Pendleton Shocked and Police Puzzled by Society Girls' Stunt.

PENDELTON, Or., June 9.—(Special.)—Half a dozen young society women have thrown staid Pendleton into a state of amazement by their appearance on the street in pasha pants.
The police are in a quandary, declaring that modesty must prevail, but they are unwilling to classify the newly-arrived creation.

EPWORTH LEAGUE CONVENTIONS SET

LA GRANDE, Or., June 9.—(Special.)—The annual convention of the La Grande district of the Epworth League, comprising six counties of Eastern Ore-

WASHINGTON, June 9.—In a report to the Interstate Commerce Commission today on the cause of the wreck of the New York, New Haven & Hartford passenger train near Westley, R. I., October 25, 1913, H. W. Belnap, chief inspector of safety appliances, finds that derailment of the train was due to a broken rail. The wreck resulted in the injury of 74 passengers and three employees.

Fossil of Human Giant at Pendleton Is Foot in Length.

PENDELTON, Or., June 9.—(Special.)—A petrified foot, apparently of a human giant, has been dug up here by workmen in the excavation for the building that is to be erected for the Evening Tribune. The fossil is perfect in form and measures more than a foot in length. It was found at a depth of eight feet.

DIVA WINS DIVORCE
AND IS VINDICATED

Judge Instructs Jury Nothing Against Mme. Schumann Heink Is Proved.

RAPP WANTS NEW TRIAL

Singer Says, When Asked if She Will Marry Again, That Her Life Now Is to Be Given to Her Children and Her Art.

CHICAGO, June 9.—(Special.)—Mme.
Ernestine Schumann Heink scored a new triumph today. It was not on the operatic stage, or with royalty as an audience. She won a decree of divorce from her husband, William Rapp, Jr.
It was a sweeping victory. There was no hot debate in a sweltering jury-room. Judge Sullivan, after two lengthy conferences, instructed the jury to return a verdict favoring the diva in every issue. One of these was complete vindication on the charges which her husband made by insinuation.

Verdict Signed in Jury Box.
The jurymen followed the court's commands to the letter. They signed the verdict without even leaving their seats. At 11:30 P. M. the court walked out of the courtroom a free woman.

Three things among others, were taken into consideration by the court.
Each favored the singer.
First, the Judge held that Mme.
Schumann Heink is a resident of Chicago and therefore entitled to sue here.

Second, he held that her husband had been guilty of too great friendship with blonde "Kitty" Dean, to whom he wrote the "Nonnie letters."

Third, all insinuations made by her husband against the diva were held groundless.

Madame Good Wife, Says Judge.
In announcing his ruling Judge Sullivan said:
"There were three issues in this case.
The court finds that the complainant was a resident of Illinois more than 30 days and the court has jurisdiction. The second issue was the statutory charge.
The leading inferences of the complainant's evidence have been con-troverted. The third issue was the remunerative charge that, although the defendant was proved guilty, yet the complainant is likewise guilty and ought not to recover."

Rapp Moves for New Trial.
A motion for a new trial was made by counsel for Rapp. The argument in chambers which preceded the ruling was largely on the question whether, in a divorce case, the court had the right to direct a verdict.

"There was no other error," Mme.
Schumann Heink said in a quiet voice—a voice in which there was not a trace of excitement. "It was all foolish, the insinuations that man raised. To think that I, the mother of seven children —ah, eight, I should say—should do a wrong. Never."

There was a flash in her dark eyes.
"He should never have said things that he could not prove. For I have seven grandchildren, one of whom just arrived safely."

"What of Mr. McNamara, the policeman they mentioned?" some one intruded.

Good Voice Obtains Sympathy.
"Oh, so foolish it is," she exclaimed, laughing. "He is a poor man who has a good voice, and I tried to help him I have five, six (she counted on her gloved fingers), yes, six, to whom I give lessons. I want to help them.
My son brought the policeman to me and have tried to help him. I tried to help everybody. I am a plain woman."

"My home is always open to every one. I don't pull down the blinds, either, so no one can see what an opera singer does and what she eats."

"But, madame," ventured some one,
"do you think you will ever marry again?"
"There was that characteristic shrug and a reply streaked with dialect.
"Ah, my life now is to my children and my art."

Receipt of Proposals Denied.
Some one whispered that the singer had received three proposals in the morning mail. This she denied.
While the lawyers were behind closed doors, Rapp sat on a window ledge in the corridor. He found solace, too, in many cigarettes.

"Do you intend to marry Mrs. Dean?" he was asked.
"You know the law bars me for two years on this charge," he replied, reflectively.

"Does that imply that at the end of that time you will marry her?"
"I didn't say that," Rapp replied, smiling.
