At Venice—Sacramente 7, Venice 1.

It was a true aviation meet for Port land out at the Vaughn-street park in the meet with Oakland yesterday. The Beavers, like every good Rese Festival booster, had the aviation spirit and so it was no wonder that Oakland won, 16 to 2. Evans, the new southpaw, was again laid on the block. Last week Sacramento beat him with a scant five hits, but today the Oaks got as many hits as runs, and cembined the two so ef-fectively that the game was a rout from the start. Not off Evans alone, but off the whole array of pitchers

Oakland made its 16 hits.

It started in the first when Evans walked Middleton, the first man up. It continued when Kaylor shoved down a bunt along the third base line and was safe on first. Zacher was the next man up and reached second, when Evans took his bunt and threw badly over, to first.

Onks Get Three in Order. Middleton scored on the play and Oaks still stood on second and third. Hetling doubled and brought in an-other Oak run. A wild pitch brought in still another and when the inning finally ended, the Oaks had more runs than Portland was able to scare up in the whole game. The Beavers made seven costly er-

Evans lasted two innings. The second he got off well enough, fanning Pitcher Killilay and disposing of Mitze and Middleton by bingles and a foul. But the third started off like the first. Kaylor singled and Zacher duplicated. Then Rieger went in, but he was almost as much disposed to taking a trip in either the American or Million Population Club as any of those who

Two More Runs Gleaned.

So in the next four innings, after the first, the Oaks gleaned two more runs with the assistance of seven hits. runs with the assistance of seven hits. Hits in the relief inning enabled the man who had placed off Evans to make their work count. Gardner singled and brought in both Kaylor and Zacher.

Almost the entire roll call of Beavers was injected into the lineup, but pinch hitters failed to pinch. The game was truly beyond recall. Martinoni went in in the seventh and attempted to stop the tide, but he was snowed in with the tide, but he was snowed in with two runs more and Manson, as a final resort, brought the ninth clattering about his ears with four more. Portland made its lone two in the fourth when Lober led off with a single. Rieger did the same and a later Bancroft brought them both in with a double. The score:

At Victoria—Victoria 3, Portland 2.
At Vancouver—Vancouver 5, Tacoms 4.
At Seattle—Spokane 3, Seattle 1. VICTORIA, B. C., June 11 .- (Special.)—Bert Lamb and McHenry steered Victoria to victory over Portland this afternoon. McHenry did some excellent pitching, being unsafe in only one period, while Lamb hit in the runs needed to win. The score was Victoria 3, Portland 2. Pat Eastley pitched good ball when he kept his head, but he could not prevent the Bees from bunching hits in two innings, the second and eighth. He thought Umpire Casey was not calling them right and his wrath did not add to his effectiveness.

Bert Lamb's home run, Without's single in the second inning, gave the Bees two runs. The Colts tied up the score in the first of the eighth, but the Bees forthwith went out and batted out a third and winning run. Lamb again delivering the hit that counted.

Portland's recovery in the eighth came unexpectedly. There were two men down and with McHenry working men down and with McHenry working smoothly as clockwork, a shutout seemed assured. Eastley started the trouble by getting a walk and Coltrin drove out a two-bagger, scoring Eastley. Callahan's third hit of the day scored Coltrin. Melchior popped out. In their half of the inning, the Bees went to work systematically. Nye walked and Calvo sacrificed, Nye attempted to come home on Wilholt's short single, but was pegged at the plate by Callahan. Lamb's single scored Wilholt.
