PILOT ROCK, Or., June 12.—(Special.)—Pilot Rock has shipped 709,300 pounds of wool this season of a better grade than last year.

According to Manager Eggerth, of the Collins Warehouse Company, the wool has brought approximately $130,600. Practically all has been shipped, only a few small lots remaining.

The first set today was hard fought. Mrs. Raymond and her partner had a good chance to win, but let it slip by and were routed in the second set, the smooth team play of the champions, backed up by deadly accuracy in their placing, proving too much for the contact of the sales are slightly short of last season, which is accounted for by the fact that Smythe Bros. did not shear in this section this year. Prices ransed from 3 to 5 cents higher than last season.

LINDSEY SCORES BOUGHTON Judge Also Says Rockefeller Places Himself Above President.

NEW YORK, May 30.—Judge Ben B. Lindsey, of Colorado, recently caused a sensation at the Industrial Commission's investigation of the mine war horrors in that state when he accused Major Edward J. Boughton of making false statements regarding the battle

The Judge said he found that John D. Rockefeller placed himself above the President of the United States, stating that he had readily been granted an audience with Woodrow Wilson while Rockefeller had refused to see warning was given by Judge Lindsey that there would be further hostilities in Colorado as soon as the troops were withdrawn unless something was speedily done to end a situation "brought on by the greed of lawless corporations"

"If any harm should come to some of these men who refuse to recognize the rights of the tollers they have no-body to blame but themselves," he declared. "By acting as some of them do they have devised a new way to commit suicide."

ST. LOUIS, May 31.—The efforts of Allen W. Singleton, 19 years old, son of Mrs. Middleton G. Singleton, and his wife, Helen, 22 years old, who were secretly married July 23 last at Chicago, to start housekeeping have met with such obstacles that the gleton to take her away have so far made an agreement to keep their marriage a secret for five years.

Singleton said he kept his mother from knowing of the elopement by going on the trip when his vacation started. Mrs. Helen Singleton said she was going to visit friends in Chicago.

Three days after the marriage she returned home, while Singleton went to Michigan to finish his vacation. Both went to their own homes on their return. Last October Singleton said he quit

A letter she wrote him saying she was ill caused him to return to St. Louis, and this made the marriage known. According to Singleton, he and his wife lived together until they had a dispute last February and he left her Singleton said he remained in the East until a few weeks ago, when he found out that certain accusations he made against his wife were unfounded. He hurried to St. Louis, according to his story, and begged her forgiveness.

Singleton said his wife declared she was anxious to live with him and he made plans to find a home, but the Coopers objected to their daughter leaving them.

Singleton said they told him a physician had said she was too ill to leave her home, but Singleton said he met her on the street.
