Mobs Overwhelm Police as Conflagration Pends and Apparatus Is Blocked.

GUARDSMEN CHECK CROWD

Quick Work of Militia Holds Back People Until Force Gains in Strength and Firemen Turn Water on Roaring Blaze.

Fire last night, besides demoralizing the formation of the electrical parade, for a time threatened to sweep through several blocks north of Washington street when flames originating in the plant of the Western Fixture & Showcase Company, North Tenth and Davis streets, caused damage variously estimated at from $500 to $700.

The leading platoon of police had just arrived at Tenth and Washington streets, when the fire department cut off from the blaze by streets tightly wedged with automobiles and crowds, attempted to make way to the fire.

Crowds surged down Tenth street from Washington to the fire station, the handful of police stationed in the vicinity was powerless in the face of the rush.

The blaze was first noticed in the rear of the Western Fixture & Showcase Company's plant by J. B. Shelby, of Company 16, Twenty-first and 32, who was at the armory, across the street on Tenth street.

Many Alarms Received. S. H. Johnson, connected with the F. A. Taylor Furniture Company, last night estimated the loss to stock, machinery and finished furniture at $750.

THAW ARRANGEMENT FAILS

Expected Agreement for Removal to Pennsylvania Not Presented.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—Plans for an agreement between counsel for Harry K. Thaw and the State of New York to permit Thaw's removal from New Hampshire to Pennsylvania in custody of officers to testify in court went awry today.

Instead of presenting such an agreement to the Supreme Court for its approval, William T. Jerome, representing the state, merely filed a brief in opposition to Thaw's application for release on bail. He declined to say what had disarranged the proposed agreement between the lawyers, and declared that any statement would come from Attorney-General Carmody at Albany.

SUFFRAGE FINDS FAVOR

INDORSEMENT OF PRINCIPLE IS UNOPPOSED BY FEDERATION.

Active Support in Doubt but Issue Will Be Settled on Floor of Women's Convention Today.

CHICAGO, June 12.—Unless all signs fail, a convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs will tomorrow for the first time face the subject of woman suffrage for adoption or rejection.

There is little opposition to the adoption of a resolution approving the principle of the constitution of the federation will come when an effort is made to have the federation adopt a resolution making the right to obtain the ballot for women a part of the federation's propaganda.

The subject hitherto has died in committees because the constitution of the federation declares that subjects of religion and politics to be taboo. In the conferences of this convention, however, the great strides made by suffragists in recent years were recognized and it was agreed that enlightenment on the subject might come properly under the heading of education.

It is believed the resolutions committee tomorrow will report in favor of the principle of equal suffrage, and this, it is said, will throw the light onto the floor, as there is a demand for action seeking to enlist the organization in an active campaign for the ballot.

In the course of an address tonight by Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, of New York, president of the International Woman's Suffrage Alliance, the suffragists applauded the presentation of their views. Her presence on the pro-

"Enough of the bones of the human skeleton were found to indicate it to have been a small person of middle age, probably a woman. The brain case is relatively as large as that of some native races now living."

Reports at hand from several counties in the state indicate the existence of discrepancies in the official count. Repeating, Justice McNary sent the telegram containing the proposal, which read:

"From advices at hand, from several counties where a recount of the tally sheets has been made, it is apparent seven votes ahead of Judge Benson," said Justice McNary tonight, in discussing the situation.

"On account of the closeness of the contest and of discrepancies found by a recount of what was supposed to be the official count, I feel I would not be justified in making a claim of the nomination until Judge Benson and I should cause a joint recount to be made, to ascertain the true situation and the will of the people."

Advices received by Justice McNary today indicate that he has gained 10 votes over the official count in Crook County, and that Judge Benson gained one vote in Harney and Justice McNary lost two, making a gain of four votes in this county for Benson. Yesterday Justice McNary received reports that he had gained five votes in Wasco, two in Yamhill and one in Baker. Prior to these discrepancies Judge Benson had a lead of seven votes in Multnomah over McNary. Should these advices be correct McNary now has a lead of seven over Benson.
