

SALE OF WARSHIPS TO INVOLVE NATION

Turkey Notices Bryan Plan to Let Two Go to Greece Will Be Openly Resented.

RENEWED HOSTILITY FEAR

European Diplomats Say United States Will Be Intervening in Old World Politics by Daniels' Proposed Deal.

WASHINGTON, June 14.—(Special.)—The United States is in danger of becoming involved in a serious controversy with Turkey as a result of the proposal of Secretary Daniels to sell the two battleships Idaho and Mississippi to Greece.

The Turkish Ambassador, in accordance with the instructions of his government, has addressed inquiries on the subject to Secretary Bryan, and has made it clear that these vessels will be used against his country if transferred to the Grecian flag. Naturally this would be resented by the Turkish people. Inquiries also have been made by certain European nations which believe that if the Greek navy should not be increased peace would be preserved.

Diplomats Openly Resent Plan. European diplomats make no secret of the view they entertain that the United States by adding Greece so materially will be interfering in the politics of the old world. In view of this fact they feel their governments would be justified in interfering in American questions. In other words, they feel that the proposal of the American Secretary of the Navy is a two-edged sword, and that if it cuts one way it should cut another.

It is known here that Greece will not initiate war against Turkey until she obtains possession of two American battleships. The moment the Grecian flag is hoisted over these craft that moment she will take hostile measures against her historic antagonist.

Pretty Game Is Played.

In view of the strength of the Idaho and Mississippi, naval officers are emphatically opposed to selling them, claiming the effectiveness of the fleet will be impaired thereby. It is known that Admiral Dorey is earnestly against any policy, and has advocated that the vessels be retained. He realizes the outcome of the Mexican adventure cannot be foreseen, and he does not believe in parting with vessels of value which might be needed in the near future.

In connection with the sale of the Idaho and the Mississippi a great game is on in Washington which is of keen interest to the country and the world at large.

Greece is not officially figuring in the transaction. Her interests are being looked out for by the Bethlehem Steel Company and the Newport News Shipbuilding Company. The former expects to profit from the transaction by supplying guns and other material, including ammunition to the ships when they pass into Greek possession, and the profit of the latter will come out of the construction of the new dreadnought.

Labor Forces Disgruntled. Congress has authorized only two additional dreadnoughts, one of which it has prescribed should be built at Government yard, and New York has been selected as the yard to do the work. There remains one battleship to be divided among the three private shipbuilding firms unless the sale of the Idaho and Mississippi should be effected.

The labor force at Newport News and Norfolk is disgruntled with the Secretary of the Navy because of his action in making from them the construction of smaller ships, and will be placated only if permitted to build a modern battleship.

So the Bethlehem Steel Company and the Newport News Shipbuilding Company are working industriously to induce the House Representatives to authorize the President in his discretion to sell the Idaho and the Mississippi.

There is little doubt that the House will authorize the sale of the ships, but a sharp argument will take place over the question of what to do with the money.

LASSEN BECOMES VIOLENT

(Continued from First Page.) reduced, it is said, by the great enlargement of the crater. The entire snow-capped peak has been blanketed with a pitch black covering of ashes.

"I viewed the entire eruption from a point 12 miles distant," said W. J. Rushing, United States Forest Supervisor, who is in charge of Federal observations at Lassen.

Eruption Lasts Half Hour. The column of smoke was thrown about 2000 feet high, the height being determined by geological data. Ashes and steam were carried north by heavy winds. The eruption lasted half an hour.

"No heavy material was thrown out, so near as I could determine. There was no steam arising just before the explosion, indicating that the cooling sides of the crater plugged it up and confined the steam."

GREAT ERUPTION PREDICTED

Scientist Says Lassen Likely Will Blow Up Like Krakatoa.

RED BLUFF, Cal., June 14.—Lassen Peak has again become an active volcano, according to W. H. Storms, foremost meteorologist, who arrived today to investigate its eruptions.

"It is a mistake to put the present disturbance in the class of 'seizers.' It is certainly a volcanic eruption," said Storms.

"Geysers do not eject rocks, scoria, cinders and ashes. These are the characteristics of genuine volcanoes. The volcano is in active and violent eruption, and what may happen before it becomes quiet no one can tell, but indications are that it will imitate the performance of Krakatoa, volcano in the island of Java."

"In 1853 a series of minor disturbances similar to Lassen's activity culminated in a tremendous explosion, which destroyed the mountain and spread a pall of darkness over thousands of miles. Some of its volcanic dust fell in the streets of London."

Flames Seen 90 Miles Away. OROVILLE, Cal., June 14.—Although Oroville is more than 90 miles from Mount Lassen, flames were plainly seen rising from the crater tonight. There were two distinct illuminations, one of especial brightness.

FORMER VICE-PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES, WHO DIED SATURDAY NIGHT.

ADLAI E. STEVENSON.

PARTY LOSES PILLAR

Adlai E. Stevenson's Career Long, Active, Honorable.

FUNERAL TO BE TUESDAY

Vice-President Under Cleveland Pictures Character of Presidential and Congressional Campaigns--Romance Plays Part.

CHICAGO, June 14.—The funeral of Adlai E. Stevenson, former Vice-President of the United States, who died here Saturday night, will be held Tuesday at Bloomington, Ill. It was announced here today by his son, Lewis G. Stevenson.

Adlai Ewing Stevenson had a long and honorable public career. He was Vice-President from 1893 to 1897, under President Grover Cleveland. In 1890 he again was nominated by the Democratic party for Vice-President and ran with William J. Bryan, the party's candidate for President, but was defeated. He served as a member of the 44th and 46th Congresses. From 1885 to 1889 he served as First Assistant Postmaster-General under President Cleveland.

His last appearance as a candidate for President was in 1908 when he was nominated for Governor of Illinois by the Democratic party and was defeated by Charles S. Deneen, Republican.

Marriage Caps College Days. He was born in Christian County, Kentucky, October 23, 1835, of Scotch-Irish parentage. In 1853 his parents moved to Bloomington, Ill. He attended the public schools and the Illinois University.

In 1856 he graduated from Canthan College, Danville, Ky. There he was a classmate of Senator Jos Blackburn and other Kentucky youths who later became prominent in public life. He specialized the close of his college career by marrying a daughter of Dr. Lewis W. Green, president of the college.

After Attorney General Stevenson returned to Bloomington, Ill., and read law. He was admitted to the bar in 1857 and began legal practice at Metamora, Ill., where he remained until 1858. During these ten years he held the office of master in chancery four years and District Attorney for a similar period.

In 1868 he returned to Bloomington and formed a law partnership with his cousin, James S. Ewing, and for many years the firm was one of the best-known in Illinois legal circles.

Congressional Career Active. Stevenson's political career dated from 1864, when he was a Presidential Elector on the Democratic ticket. He made a canvass of Illinois in behalf of the McClellan ticket and won a reputation as a political orator.

In 1874 Stevenson was nominated for Congress by the greenback and anti-monopolist parties in the 13th Illinois district against General John McNeill, Republican. The Democrats considered the case hopeless and did not hold even a convention. The ensuing campaign was exciting and Stevenson was elected by a majority over General McNeill of 1253 votes.

In 1876 he again was elected to Congress for the same district on the greenback ticket although he was supported by the Democrats who declined to put up a candidate.

In 1884 Stevenson led the Illinois delegation in the Democratic National convention which nominated Grover Cleveland for President. In 1897 he was appointed a member of a commission which visited Europe in an effort to secure international bimetalism.

HOP RANCH IS RAVAGED

MASKED MEN BURN HAY BARN AND SET FIRE TO KILNS.

Wheatland Farm, Scene of Fatal Rioting Last August, Again Menaced Following I. W. W. Threats.

WHEATLAND, Cal., June 14.—Following, it is alleged, threats on the part of members of Industrial Workers of the World to destroy the Durst hop ranch here, which was the scene of fatal rioting last August, two masked men crept into the ranch at midnight last night, set fire to and totally destroyed a large hay barn and were about to ignite several hop kilns when discovered by Detective J. A. Ryan.

After a desperate fight Ryan was struck down and beaten and kicked. He fired three shots at his assailants as they fled and then fell unconscious. Several other watchmen on the ranch were also shot and injured. It is asserted that the men have been made that the Durst brothers would not harvest this year's crop. Not long ago a hop kiln was burned down and watchmen stationed on the ranch have had numerous clashes and revolver duels with prowlers.

Ryan is still unconscious and his condition is serious. An investigation of the scene reveals the fact that the kiln and a large dug shed adjoining had been saturated with kerosene.

HINDUS IN DIRE WANT

RARE WOLF FISH CAUGHT BY MEN OF KOMAGATA MARU DEVoured.

Appeals to Countrymen in Vancouver for Assistance Go Unheeded and Deportation Is Probable.

VANCOUVER, B. C., June 14.—Starvation stares the Hindus on the Komagata Maru in the face, and only liberal subscriptions from their fellow countrymen in this city, or an order to return to their country will be their salvation.

The last recourse they are fishing day and night to replenish theirarder. Today one of them landed a monster fish that is rarely ever seen here, known as a wolf fish, about five feet long. The fish, which resembles what is known as a sea serpent, was cut up and devoured immediately. Even the smallest fish are saved for the cooking pot.

Appeals are being made to local Hindus to come to the rescue with funds or food supplies, but the response is not generous, the local men fearing that any such action on their part might lead to undesirable inquiries. Provided the charter money is not paid within a few days the order will be given for the Komagata Maru to return to Japan.

"SPRINGFIELD" GAS BAG STILL MISSING

No Hint Nor Clue Is Found of Pilot Donaldson or Aide Wilbur Henderson.

RANGERS COMB FORESTS

Anxiety Regarding Lost Balloon and Occupants Takes Graver Shape in the Minds of Friends and Relatives in Portland.

FOURTH REPORT IS RECEIVED OF SPRINGFIELD.

Late last night information was received from a forest ranger named Hanson, at Little Sandy, to the effect that C. M. Beinfeld, a mail carrier and stage driver in the Sandy and Bull Run country, reported that he saw a balloon in the air between Sandy and Marmot, a settlement east of Sandy, early Friday morning. This is the fourth report from this section forming a chain of circumstances indicating that the balloon "Springfield" passed in a northeasterly direction near Sandy and into the Bull Run country Friday morning.

The balloon "Springfield" with Captain Roy Donaldson and Aide Wilbur Henderson, is still missing. Although every possible has been done to find some trace of the big bag and the two men who left Portland Thursday afternoon in a long-distance race, the disappearance is complete.

Reporters for the Oregonian practically spent all day yesterday telephoning to the forestry stations in the Cascade Mountains and towns, settlements and ranches in the expansive stretch of wild and rugged country from the Santiam River, Linn county, northward to the Columbia River, government forest rangers traversed the network of trails in the forests of the Cascades; searching parties combed the anxious Portland friends and relatives of the lost man.

Three Nights Have Elapsed. The fact that it has been three days and three nights since the balloon disappeared has made grave aspect on the situation. Much anxiety is expressed by the friends of the missing men and those who are trying to unravel the mystery.

It is considered absolutely certain that the balloon has alighted. When or where is purely speculative. There are many theories in vogue working in the search which might place the men anywhere from the Columbia River to the Santiam, either west or east of the Cascades. These theories are based on weather conditions, the fate of the balloon "Kansas City III," which alighted at Cascade, in southwestern Linn County, and on reports of farmers and fishermen to the effect that a balloon was seen in the Bull Run country early Friday morning.

Much weight is now being given to the Bull Run reports, and forest rangers and others are exerting every effort to comb the forests and mountains in that direction. The Bull Run theory is based upon three distinct reports from farmers in different localities, which form a chain of circumstances that seem dependable and authentic.

Farmer Tells Straight Story. At 2:30 o'clock Friday morning Lou Ayres, a farmer near Liberal, Clackamas County, reported that a balloon passed over his place, going in a northeasterly direction. Mr. Ayres has been talking to the Oregonian and tells a very straight story. The balloon, when last seen at 3:30 o'clock Thursday night, was northeast of Sandy, Ryan is still unconscious and his condition is serious. An investigation of the scene reveals the fact that the kiln and a large dug shed adjoining had been saturated with kerosene.

At about 4:15 o'clock Friday morning T. Ruther, who lives near Sandy, reported that he saw the balloon over the Sandy River, between Bull Run and Sandy. This locality is directly northeast of Liberal. Mr. Ruther has been talking to the Oregonian and declares positively that he and his wife saw the big bag. He is not sure of the direction in which the balloon was sailing.

At about 5 o'clock Friday morning Charles Howe, who lives at 699 East Seventh-sixth street, North, Portland, reported that he saw the balloon in the reservoir, near the end of the Bull Run carline, when a balloon was seen through the haze a considerable distance above him. He says he could not make out the direction the bag was moving and only saw it for a short time, when it disappeared.

Added to these is the report received late last night that C. M. Beinfeld, a mailcarrier, saw a balloon between Sandy and Marmot early Friday morning.

FORGER 'CHANGES' IN AUTO

Bad Check Artist Uses Different Garb on Each Victim.

STOCKTON, Cal., June 14.—(Special.)—A clever forger worked Stockton last night. He used an automobile in order that his work might be completed rapidly and effectively.

The fellow, who is still at large, visited more than a score of business houses, exhibited his faked paper, was successful in eight or nine instances, and then disappeared.

His mode of procedure was remarkable. After working one store he would climb into his machine, and upon reappearing would be costumed in the garb of a different color than the ones worn during the venture previous. Stockton's entire police force searched for the wily one from 8 in the evening until midnight.

PAINS AROUND THE HEART

When the action of the stomach is weakened by debility or defective nerve force the food is retained until its fermentations. Gas forms and presses on the other organs, particularly the heart, the pains in that region often causing a fear of heart trouble. Organic heart disease rarely causes pain around the heart and when this symptom is noted you should try toning up your digestion before giving way to nervous alarm.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a tonic that directly affects the organs of digestion. They supply to the stomach the rich, red blood without which normal digestion is impossible. They awaken into activity the gastric glands and strengthen the muscles of the stomach and give the nerve force necessary to proper digestion and assimilation. With this blood and weak nerves it is impossible to avoid stomach trouble. Build up the blood and strengthen the nerves and note the increased appetite, the comfortable feeling after eating and the improvement in health and vigor.

Two books "Building Up the Blood" and "What to Eat and How to Eat" will be sent free on request by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are for sale in every drug store.—Adv.

with many points, but no information concerning the lost men was found.

Search Made Through Little Sandy. Communication was had with Little Sandy, through the regular Sandy station. From here inquiries were made to Zig Ziegler, Government Game Warden, and the forest service line running south along the Cascade summit toward Mount Jefferson. Inquiries were made also at other forest stations, including Salmon Hatchery and Babsby Springs.

Efforts were made to get word from H. N. Wallace, a forest ranger who left Friday afternoon for Mount Susup, in the Cascades, where he expected to spend Friday night surveying the east passage of the Cascade forest country which can be seen from there. No word could be secured from him, however, and it is not known here what success he had. He went into the heart of one of the sections where theory has located the balloon. If the forest rangers did everything possible to comb the forests and rugged canyons.

Local Searchers Are at Work. South of the Bull Run and Colton districts, where all these efforts were put forth, many people were busy with the search. In the Santiam River and the Elkhorn country searchers did everything possible to comb the forests and rugged canyons.

Malcolm McCallum, construction superintendent of the H. M. Ryless & Co. hydroelectric project, between the north fork of the Santiam River, with camps between Niagara and Mill City, was at Lebanon yesterday morning. He reported having looked for the missing men in the Elkhorn country, but found no trace.

He left Lebanon yesterday afternoon for his camps and will send five men today to cover the entire district on the north fork of the Santiam, from Mill City to Niagara.

L. L. Walle, of the Oregon Power Company, reached Lebanon yesterday from the country in which the Watts and Fawcett balloon alighted Friday morning and reported that he has been scouring the woods. He has been over every foot of the country and declares that if the balloon party got into the headwaters of the Santiam it may take them days to get out.

Forest Expert Appreciative. Forest Examiner Osborne, of the Portland office, reported yesterday that he is thoroughly familiar with the Oregon forest country, and for the safety of the men if they have come down in that vicinity, says that the headwaters of the Santiam, the McKenzie and the Clackamas rivers, which take in much of the country in which the men may be, is exceedingly rough and is also the Bull Run country. He says the forests have trails, but they sometimes are hard to find. A man, he says, might wander for a day or more without striking a trail. The traveling is hard, especially for a person not familiar thoroughly with the mountains.

If the two men are still alive and have not reached a camp or ranch, he said they are practically out of food, unless they have been very careful with what they took with them. The food they had would last, it is said, for four or five days. They have been out now three days. It might be possible that the food has been used up.

Organization Search Planned. If no word is heard when all the telephone exchanges open this morning, C. C. Cole, president of the Rose Festival Association, says steps will be taken to go about the search in an organized way. No concerted plan of this kind has been attempted heretofore, because it has not been known how to go about it.

It is the plan now to get squads of men to go into the various sections and search for the balloon and the two men. Mr. Cole said last night that there are hundreds of men who already have offered their services in searching parties.

It was reported yesterday that an attempt will be made to raise the balloons of Captain Watts and his aide, Fawcett, in the wilds near Cascade. Seven men with two pack horses left for the district yesterday. Others will join in the work today. It is the plan to carry the big bag in three pieces to Cascade, where it can be taken by wagon to railroad station.
