

[SIXTH-STREET BUILDING—Fourth Floor]

Only 199 of These New Novelty $25 Suits at $10

Today we're placing at the disposal of our patrons one of the best offers of the season, consisting of 199 new, up-to-date modeled Suits that have just arrived by express—Suits that would ordinarily sell at $25.00—reduced to $10.00.

Five different models are illustrated, showing the extremely fashionable and desirable models that you will find—for these five are representative of the 199. There are handsome Suits of poplin, crepe, serge and many novelty weaves, in a splendid assortment of colors—navy, copenhagen, hunter's green, reseda and tango—but none in the staple shades or black. All sizes to 42 will be found. Every desirable 1914 model is in evidence, making it possible for you to be not only well but very fashionably dressed at this very small outlay. While any of the 199 remain the price will be $10.00.

A Demonstration of Rug Making and Carpet Weaving

By the Whittall Loom and Educational Exhibit
In the Yeon Building, Alder Near Fifth St.

—Presenting, for the first time, to the people of Portland an opportunity of seeing modern machinery and modern methods combined in the manufacture of high-grade Carpets and Rugs. From any point of view this subject is deeply interesting, and the usefulness of the knowledge to be acquired through this Exhibition as a factor in the judicious choosing of floor coverings hereafter cannot be questioned. For those of a mechanical turn of mind the Loom has many features of surpassing interest—the mechanism, though elaborate, as may be judged from the illustration, is beautifully and simply put together and readily understood. Textile students will value highly the educative benefits afforded by this Exhibition, in which every phase of carpet development from the raw wool stage to the finished product is explained. School teachers and their pupils—all who wish to add to their fund of useful knowledge—should see this Exhibition.

The Loom is operated at a reduced speed, so that the various stages and processes may be seen and understood by the onlookers. Mr. Coley, factory expert, will answer all questions relative to the demonstration.

Visit this Free Exhibition today. Learn how carpets are made...how to insure Economy and Worth-in their selection.

By arrangement of Meier & Frank Co., the Whittall Traveling Loom and Educational Exhibit in the Yeon Building, Alder-St. Entrances, Tuesday, June 16th, to Saturday, June 27th, inclusive.
