Third Commencement Day of University Monopolized by Many "Old Grads."

EX-CO-EDS PREPARE DINNER

Fern and Flower Procession Campus Is One of Prettiest Ceremonies of Week-Climax Will Be Reached Today.

UNIVERSITY OR OREGON, Eugene, Or., June 16.—(Special.)—The third day of commencement week at the University of Oregon might well have been called "Alumni day." The "old grads" were here in larger numbers than at any previous commencement and they monopolized most of the programme. Following the meeting of the State Alumni Association, in the morning, members of the association enjoyed a luncheon prepared by the ex-co-eds. Later they attended a reception given by President and Mrs. P. L. Campbell, in the president's house.

Following the fern and flower procession, the Men's Glee Club, from the steps of Deady Hall, sang the well known Oregon songs. The annual Faling-Beekman oratory contest ended the third day's programme.

Commencement week will reach its climax tomorrow with the actual graduation exercises in Villard Hall. The ground-breaking ceremonies for the new administration building and the presentation of the senior memorial presentation of the senior memorial will follow the awarding of diplomas. At 1 o'clock, all the graduates, alumn and invited guests of the university will sit down to a banquet in the symnasium. The alumni reunion and ball in the evening will mark the passing of the 34th annual commencement.

The same personal supervision will be given the new part, affording the traveling public that unique, comfortable, yet economical service that has made the Nortonia the leading hotel of its kind in the West, as its guests often say-"It's the boast of the Coast.'

The chefs, under my own direction and training, have succeeded in serving meals of homelike enjoyment from the dainties as well as the nourishing offerings, of the best the markets afford. Meals here have always meant health and contentment. This same service in our spacious dining-room will be extended to the guests of the Washington, the two buildings being united by a large foyer and archway.

Bachelors who yearn for the comforts of a club will be cared for on a floor exclusively their own, where lounge and smoking-rooms will offer that freedom heretofore found only in the exclusive "frat" houses. Rooms en suite or single, or two in the large single rooms, for chums who are economically inclined, can be arranged for at rates that will appeal to those not paying income taxes, yet affording those comforts and social environments so necessary to the rising young man, who must be seen among the successful men, in the heart of Portland's activities, to further his personal success. The services of a valet for the care of your clothes are included without extra charge.

The Nortonia's spacious dining-room will be sufficient to accommodate the guests of both houses. The Rose Tea Room, for cards and afternoon parties; the dancing-room, with large parlors and lobby; the billiard-room for ladies and gentlemen; also the sample rooms—all in the Nortonia, will be for the use of the guests of the new building as well. Likewise the Roof Garden, a beautiful spot, 100 by 100 all in garden, an ideal place to enjoy the fresh air while living in the heart of the city, is open to all guests.

Portland's leading American and European plan hotel invites you to enjoy its many accommodations on so economical a basis as to make the most thrifty desirous of accepting the invitation, yet assuring you of utmost in service, location and environments.
