

MOYER TAKES LEAD OF CONSERVATIVES

Head of Federation of Miners in Butte to Save Union From Disruption.

PLOT AGAINST LABOR SEEN

Support of United Mineworkers Is Pledged to Counteract Influences Seeking to Destroy Organization Idea.

BUTTE, Mont., June 19.—Each faction of the Butte local of the Western Federation of Miners held committee meetings today. The meeting of the conservatives was presided over by Charles H. Moyer, president of the Western Federation of Miners, who came here with the avowed purpose of putting the local union on a sound business basis and to keep it from withdrawing from the jurisdiction of the Federation.

The leaders made arrangements for a hall that will seat 5000 for their Sunday meeting, at which their plan of future action will be disclosed. Mr. Moyer was accompanied here by James Lord, in charge of the mining department of the American Federation of Labor, who left his official duties in Trinidad, Colo.

The aid of the United Mine Workers of America was pledged to Mr. Moyer in a telegram from John P. White, president of the organization. "From press reports I learn influences are being used here to destroy organized labor, and the Western Federation of Miners in particular," said the telegram.

Mr. Moyer conferred with officers of the Montana State Federation of Labor, John C. Lowrey, member of its executive board, and R. H. McKendle and C. H. Tanner, auditors of the Western Federation, together with officers of the local union, including Bert Riley, president, who returned to Butte the first time since the riots of last Saturday.

The Western Federation officials will announce their programme before the end of the week, according to Mr. Moyer, who, in a statement issued soon after his arrival, deplored the split in the union. Other unions called to confer. The Federation officials, now that they have James Lord, a representative of the American Federation of Labor, here, called into consultation officials of all other local unions affiliated with the American Federation to urge the local unions to exert influence on the seceders.

The radicals of the seceders are opposed to any affiliation with the Western Federation and favor the formation of an independent union, which will be without the jurisdiction of any National body. An explanation was made here of the letter read by the seceders at their meeting last night, which indicated that the general secretary-treasurer of the Federation had sent $450 here to be divided among three men, one of them a Deputy Sheriff. The Deputy Sheriff formerly was president of the miners' local and the money the secretary-treasurer sent here was to pay the deputy and two others for expenses in testifying in a Federation lawsuit in South Dakota.

YALE WINS GREAT RACE

his head touched the plank, while Titus and Starvett struggled with almost powerless arms to revive him with splashes of water.

Harvard Stunned by Defeat. A few feet away the Harvard eight hung limp on their slides, as if stunned by the Yale victory rather than exhausted by the terrific struggle. When they finally realized that, after seven years of dogged effort, Yale had again won a race, they were quick to recognize the wonderful gameness of their opponents and cheered the victors in a feeble but sportsmanlike manner.

From railroad bridge to Bartlett's Cove the battle of the oars continued, and never once was there open water between the shells. The Blue held the advantage by from a quarter to three-quarters of a shell length at every half-mile flag except those marking the three-and-one-half-mile station. Here the Crimson crew made its bid for victory, and for a few hundred yards led by several feet. Appleton raised the Yale stroke, however, and soon the Blis had regained the lead of inches which they never relinquished.

Distance Real Issue. There was no question as to the victory of Yale. It was only a question of the distance that separated the crews of the shells that caused discussion. The three officials differed as to the inches, but after carefully comparing notes officially decided that Yale had crossed the line about four inches in advance of the Crimson.

Guy Nickalls, the Yale coach, and former Oxford University oarsman, said that he had never seen or heard of such a close finish in a race of such a distance. It was a great victory for Yale's fastest rowing mentor.

At Red Top, the Harvard training quarters, there was nothing but praise for the winners. Coach "Jim" Wray said that his crew had rowed a perfect race, holding to form even under the stress of a contest which surpassed anything in his experience.

Forty-Stroke Pace Set. As the starting signal was given Yale appeared to get the quickest grip on the water and shot forward, with Harvard in the east lane just a few feet in the rear. Both strokes set a pace of close to 40 to the minute for a short distance and then settled down for the long race ahead.

As the first mile flag slipped by Yale had increased her lead to three-quarters of a length, using a 20 stroke to Harvard's 22. The Blue put a little more leg-drive into their work near the one-and-one-half-mile mark and staved off a Harvard challenge, although the Cambridge men cut down the distance by a quarter-length. Half way to the finish Yale had regained her three-quarters-length lead, although Harvard was rowing four strokes to the minute faster. In the final fight for that four-inch advantage the two crews held their rowing form in splendid fashion and the two shells crossed the line as if driven by motors. Chanler stroking 30 for Harvard to Appleton's 36 for Yale. The Yale oarsmen accented Captain Thomas B. Denegree, of the victorious Blue, a leader without a place in the boat, a unanimous re-election as leader of the 1914 crew. Denegree today rowed seven in the second Yale varsity. His home is in New Orleans.

The Harvard oarsmen at their election tonight selected as the Crimson leader for next year H. O. Murray, of New York. He rowed at No. 7 in the big race today.

Figures Show Closeness. These figures show the closeness of the race:

Table with columns: Mile, First Time, Second Time, Third Time, Fourth Time. Rows for 1/4, 1/2, 3/4, 1, 2, 3, 4 miles for Harvard and Yale.

Harvard Took Both Forenoon Races. The Cambridge rowing scholars of Coach Jim Wray won the eight-oared event for junior crews by seven lengths, and the freshman eight-oared contest by four lengths of open water.

The Harvard second eight leaves for England tomorrow to compete in the English Royal Henley Regatta. The second varsity contest was over a two-mile course from Bartlett's Point to the Navy-yard. The time of the winner was 11 minutes and 54 seconds; Yale's, 13 minutes and 2 seconds. It was an easy victory for the men from Harvard. They caught the water first, pushed their noses of their own out in front and then steadily increased their lead so that they finished seven lengths ahead of the Yale men.

40,000 Out in Morning. In the freshmen event Yale took the lead at the start, but within four shell lengths was headed by Harvard, whose lead steadily grew until at the half mile she was three lengths in the fore. Near the finish Yale's coxswain spurred and led over the finish line, a winner by four lengths. The official time was: Harvard, 11 minutes, 43 seconds; Yale, 13 minutes, 4 seconds.

Excursion steamers, private yachts and hundreds of automobiles added their quota to the throng, which numbered about 40,000, when the long strings of canvas-covered gondolas, constituting the observation train, began to pull out in the direction of the river.

The regatta committee announced the following official times:

Table with columns: Crew, Half Mile, 1 1/4 Miles, Finish. Rows for SECOND VARSITY and FRESHMEN EIGHT.

REPUBLICAN LOSES SEAT

"HONEST, HARDWORKING DEMOCRAT" WINS IN HOUSE. Thirty-One of Own Party Vote Not to Sustain Contest Made by Mr. Gill, of Missouri.

WASHINGTON, June 19.—L. C. Dyer, of St. Louis, Republican, representing the Twelfth Missouri District, was unseated by the House today by a vote of 147 to 95. His election was contested by Michael J. Gill, Democrat. Then, by a vote of 126 to 103, a resolution declaring Gill legally elected was adopted. Mr. Gill immediately took the oath of office.

On the vote to declare Gill elected, 31 Democrats voted with the solid Republican minority against him. Under the usual custom, Mr. Dyer keeps his salary up to today and gets "not exceeding" $2000 for expenses of the contest on his side. This was Mr. Dyer's second term in Congress.

The House was treated to the rare scene of being divided in its own hall by a man not a member. Mr. Gill, the contestant, who under the rules has the right to speak for himself, took the floor, and made a brief speech, supporting his claims to Mr. Dyer's seat.

He declared he had been an "honest, lifelong, hardworking Democrat," and presented any intimation that his representatives had tampered with the ballots.

Although many election contests have been tried in the House, it has been several years since a contestant has availed himself of the right to speak for himself.

PERKINS TALE AMUSES

COLONEL'S FRIEND SAID TO ASPIRE TO GOVERNORSHIP. Humor Arouses Interest Because It Follows Demanded by Many for Expulsion From Party.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, June 19.—The hot weather prevailing in the East is productive of several interesting political stories, one of them to the effect that George W. Perkins intends to seek the Governorship of New York this fall as the candidate of the Progressive party.

Such an announcement, of itself, would occasion little comment, but coming, as it does, on top of the publication of a letter addressed to Colonel Roosevelt by Amos Pinchot, demanding that Perkins be thrown out of the Progressive party, it commands more than passing interest.

It is the general understanding in Washington that when Colonel Roosevelt conferred with all the third-party men in Congress he was attempting to use his influence to get Perkins out of the party.

Progressives like Murdock, Hinebaugh and Clapp believe Perkins is a handicap to their party, notwithstanding he has been the principal contributor to their treasury. For Perkins to think of seeking the third-party nomination for Governor of New York at a time when more than half the Bull Moose leaders are demanding that he be dropped overboard is little short of ludicrous.

Time probably will disclose that Perkins is not a serious candidate. Somersville is devoted chiefly to dairying, cattle raising and sheep herding.
