hits off the two of them and beat the Beavers, 14 to 0.

This series has developed into the wildest of the year for big scores, and today's game topped the list. The oldest inhabitant can't remember the Angels in such an ugly attitude as they were today, nor can the same person remember when McCredie took a beating with more fortitude. Mac did what he could and then took his medicine like a good sport.

what he could and then took his medi-cine like a good sport.

Ryan was particularly effective while he worked and so was Musser, who went in in the sixth to work off some of his wildness.

Rieger lasted three frames, got credit for the loss of the game and then Mar-tinoni came in to get even a worse hammering than did his predecessor. Rube Ellis starred with the club, get-ting three triples in four times up, Rube Ellis starred with the club, getting three triples in four times up, which drove in five runs. Wolter hit safely every time up. Triples by Wolter and Ellis, with Maggert's single, gave the Angels two in the first, Maggert, Abstein and Johnson hit safely in the third and, with Wolter's walks, three more came in.

Then Martinoni tried his luck in the fourth and was greeted with a single,

Then Martinoni tried his luck in the fourth and was greeted with a single, double, triple and walked three men, the whole giving the Angels five more runs. In going after Page's single Doane turned his ankle in this inning and was replaced by Davis. The Angels skipped the fifth and opened up again in the sixth, Wolter, Page, Harper and Abstein all getting singles and three of them were chased in by Ellis' triple. Johnson's single scored Abstein and Ellis. This ended the fireworks.

Kores bounced a double off the fence in the second with two gone, but dled there. The Beavers' best chance came in the seventh, when Davis doubled. Spens singled and Kores walked, filling the bases. The best Lober could do was to fan, while Brenegan popped to Johnson. McCredle made several acceptance in his lineum to stays off de-cause Lowery sought to read new conditions into the agreement.

While Hogan and Lowery were seeking to mediate their differences, J. Cal Ewing, who says he has first right to the trip, by reason of an invitation received and accepted some time ago, was busy on his own account informing all those who wished to know that he still adhered to his statement issued Tuesday with the announcement that arrangements had already been completed for the tour for the San Francisco club.
