Hostility Arising From Assassination of Archduke Shown in Austrian Capital.

ARISTOCRATS ARE NERVOUS

German Emperor to Be Only Foreign Monarch to Attend Funeral. Francis Joseph Continues Brave in Affliction.

VIENNA, June 30.—Owing to the difficulty of finding accommodations and a desire to spare Emperor Francis Joseph the fatigue of entertaining foreign sovereigns, the German Emperor will be the only foreign monarch to attend the funeral of the late Archduke Francis Ferdinand and his wife, the Princess of Hohenberg, whose bodies are now on the way to Vienna from Sarajevo. The exception was made in Emperor William's favor because of his close personal friendship for the dead Archduke.

Emperor Francis Joseph continues to bear up bravely under his bereavement, and gave several long audiences today. Anti-Serbian feeling spreads. Anti-Serbian demonstrations, which began Sunday in Bosnia, have now extended to Vienna. Three hundred German nationalist students joined in a noisy demonstration here today. They burned the Serbian flag, which was flying at half mast on the Serbian legation. The gathering had some difficulty in dispersing the students. The affair has created nervousness in the aristocratic quarters, where the legation is situated.

Similar disturbances occurred near the war office. The declaration of martial law at Sarajevo has had the desired effect. The city is now quiet.

Children Inherit Estates. The will of the late Archduke was found and opened by Emperor Francis Joseph this evening. The Archduke's children, it is said, are to inherit their late father's estates in Bohemia and at Salzburg and Artstetten. The rest of the estates, including the famous villa Tivoli at Florence, are to go to the new heir to the throne.

The Tagblatt today says the late Archduke's life was insured with Dutch companies for $12,000,000 and that of his wife for $6,000,000.

port, and thus would become a pariah of the deep. So it lay here for some time, then took a short trip to Mobile, and once more returned to the friendly dock at Vera Cruz, where it resumed its idle role of waiting. For days and weeks its familiar bulk had greeted our eyes down here, and for weeks it was the pleasant headquarters of those who appreciated a cool bottle of German beer or who enjoyed the favor of the ruddy-faced, jovial skipper.

Mystery of Waiting Ship. Just why it continued to lie here mystified nearly everybody. It was inconceivable that it stayed because it enjoyed the scenery, for without a doubt it was there to wait for something.

"Knocking" the scenery of Vera Cruz for its idleness in Mexican waters. In the absence of any known reason for its idleness in Mexican waters. In the absence of any known reason for its idleness in Mexican waters. In the absence of any known reason for its idleness in Mexican waters.

When we passed the Ypiranga we would speculate as to just where Mr. Huerta would place his steamer chair when he bade farewell to his beloved and beneficent land. We pointed it out as the cause of all our visiting in Vera Cruz, and, well, the Ypiranga has been considerable of a landmark in the waterfront scenery of this busy American Mexican port. We began to regard it as a fixture in the landscape, and wondered how much it was costing the Hamburg-American Company here for purely ornamental purposes.

Huerta Puts Another One Over. In the meantime, our crafty old friend Huerta was preparing to put over another diplomatic coup on our State Department. He quietly had his personal secretary conduct a congress pass a special decree to the effect that if war or other causes closed a Mexican port ships with cargoes consigned to that port could land their cargoes at some Mexican port that was not closed.

So the Ypiranga got some clearance papers for Puerto Mexico, although at the time it got the papers it was realized by the port authorities that it might land the cargo of arms and ammunition. It is hardly possible that the American port officials thought it would not dare land the arms after our country had already registered such a robust protest against their behavior. It also is possible that the port authorities thought that the State Department at Washington may have secured some sort of a promise or understanding with the German company or German Ambassador that the arms were not to be landed for the benefit of forces with whom we may soon be at war.

Ypiranga Lands Its Cargo. At any rate, the bad ship Ypiranga sailed gaily out of Vera Cruz, went down to Puerto Mexico and forthwith landed the arms and ammunition. It is stated that there were 14,000 cases, containing 25,000,000 rounds of ammunition, 6000 Winchester rifles, and about 200 rapid fire guns. These figures are, of course, exaggerated, but there is no doubt that the shipment was a very considerable one, enough to justify the Huerta government in paying a bonus of $90,000 gold dollars for the landing of the cargo.

Then the Ypiranga returned to Vera Cruz to get sailing papers, so that she could leave for Europe. Without these papers she could not land any place else. She might have to drift around, all dressed up and no place to go, like the Flying Dutchman of old.

The Bavaria Is Fined $125,000. To aggravate further the enmity of the Ypiranga's offense, the Bavaria, another Hamburg-American ship, had landed its cargo of arms at Puerto Mexico just a few days before the Ypiranga had landed its. The Bavaria had been fined $125,000, which the company refused to pay on the ground that the Mexican law gave them the right to land cargoes in other Mexican ports when the port to which their cargo was billed was closed. Inasmuch as the Vera Cruz Custom-House is being operated under the Mexican law, the company considered that its protest was well founded and that the Americans had no right to inflict a fine.

Total Fines of $800,000 Assessed. So, after a long, hot and fiery series of conferences on a long, hot and fiery tropical day a decision was finally reached. The Bavaria and the Ypiranga were to be fined a total of about $800,000, or $25 per case of arms and ammunition. A bond for this amount was to be given by the company before the steamers Bavaria and Ypiranga could get sailing papers. This bond was finally given, and, presumably, the whole matter will be thrashed out in a diplomatic field at a later day. The odds are about a million to one that the Ypiranga will never pay a cent of this fine.

A further amusing aspect of this comic opera situation is reflected in the dispatch from Washington, which states that the administration is disposed to see that the Hamburg-American company is not subjected to any financial loss on account of its vessels being so long in Vera Cruz and intimates that demurrage will be paid the Bavaria and Ypiranga for the long weeks spent in this hospitable city. This would amount to $3000 or $4000 a day, more or less.

The whole affair is ludicrous. We go to war to prevent a ship landing arms, then we give her clearance papers to a port where she lands those arms, then we let her sail without demanding a fine for this affront to our dignity, and now we propose to pay the steamship company for all the time it has lost.

Perhaps the Administration will apologize to the company and then then come to Huerta expressing regret that he has been put to such inconvenience and delay in receiving arms and ammunition with which to shoot our American soldiers.

Germana Laugh in Their Sleeves. Can this preposterous situation be equaled in the annals of diplomacy? In extension, the Administration says that the mediation "armistice" made it impossible for us to oppose the landing of the arms, but if this be true, would not that "armistice" also prevent Mr. Huerta from getting the arms?

DR. MILLER IS ELECTED

PORTLAND PHYSICIAN HEADS INSTITUTE OF HOMEOPATHY.

Speaker at Convention Condemns Federal Movement as Deleterious to Public Welfare.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 30.—Condemning the so-called feminist movement "because it not only pushes women forward into the vocations and activities of men, but encourages them to imitate their voices and manners and cannot fail to have a deleterious effect on the public welfare," Dr. Frank C. Richardson, of the Boston University, speaking tonight before the convention of the American Institute of Homeopathy, declared the hope of America lies in a "renaissance of home life and the awakening of woman to the grandeur of her mission as mother."

This he added, would constitute a sociologic influence tending to decrease crime and purify the ballot "far more surely than will legislative enactments or woman suffrage."

Officers of the association were elected as follows: President, Dr. B. E. Miller, Portland, Or.; first vice-president, Dr. Harry H. Baxter, Cleveland; secretary, Dr. Sarah M. Hobson, Chicago; treasurer, Dr. Thomas F. Smith, New York.

PRESIDENT SIGNS BATTLESHIP BILL

Nation to Have Three Dreadnoughts, Including One Made Possible by Sale.

DEAL IS MADE INDIRECTLY

Navy to Dispose of Vessels to Private Firms, Who Will Make Transfer of Title to Government of Greece.

WASHINGTON, June 30.—President Wilson's signature to the Naval appropriation bill today authorized the construction of two superdreadnoughts and 14 auxiliary war vessels and the building of a third huge battleship with proceeds from the sale of the Idaho and Mississippi.

Secretary Daniels, pointing out tonight that the bill carried half a million dollars less than last year's appropriation, said retrenchments had been accomplished through "economies and insistence upon competition."

The building programme of 1913 consisted of only one superdreadnought, six destroyers, four submarines, one transport and one supply ship.

Shore Policy Subordinated. "The Navy is a seasonal institution and strict adherence to the principle that expenditures ashore should be subordinated to those afloat has given us these great advantages. In new steam engineering and construction and repairs; $700,000 in the bureau of ordnance and more than $200,000 in the marine corps estimates. It was this same practice that enabled the department to save about $1,000,000 on the construction of battleship No. 33."

Sale to Be Made Indirectly.

There will be no direct dealing between the United States and the Greek government involved in the sale of the battleships Idaho and Mississippi. Secretary Daniels said the vessels were to be sold by the Navy Department to private firms, which would transfer the title to the Greek government.

It is expected that by tomorrow the figures of the exact cost of the ships will be obtained and the sale will be made soon thereafter.

WILSON REFUSES WOMEN

the suffrage movement and said that the situation has changed materially since the Baltimore Convention. There was a short pause, and then the President stepped forward and addressed his callers.

Objection at Baltimore Pleaded. "No one could fail to be impressed by the great company of thoughtful women," said the President, "and I want to assure you that it is to me most interesting to have them here. I have stated once before the position which as the leader of a party I feel obliged to take and I am sure that you will not wish me to state it again. Perhaps it would be more serviceable if I ventured upon the confident conjecture that the Baltimore convention did not embody this very important question in the platform which is adopted because of its conviction that the principles of the Constitution which leaves these questions to the states were well-considered principles from which they did not wish to depart."

"You have asked me to state my personal position with regard to the pending measure. It is my conviction that this is a matter for settlement by the states and not by the Federal Government, and that being my personal conviction, and it being obvious that there is no ground on your part for discouragement in the progress you are making, and my passion being for local self-government and the determination by the great communities into which this Nation is organized of their own policy and life, I can only say that since you turned away from me as a leader of a party and asked me my position as a man I am obliged to state it very frankly, and I believe that in stating it I am probably in agreement with those who framed the platform to which allusion has been made."

President's Dual Duty Difficult. "I think that very few persons, perhaps, realize the difficulty of the dual duty that must be exercised, whether he will or not, by a President of the United States. He is the President of the United States, and he is the President of the United States."

"It does not, but it leaves room for the women of the country to say what they want through the Constitution of the United States."

"Certainly it does. There is good room, but I have stated my conviction, and I have no right to give the opinion of others who have different convictions, and I certainly would not wish to do so."

Mrs. Wiley asked, if it were a state matter, "would it not give the movement an impetus if the resolution pending before Congress were passed?" "But that resolution is for an amendment to the Constitution," said the President.

"The states would have to pass upon it before it became an amendment. Would it not be a state matter then?" persisted Mrs. Wiley.

"Yes, but by a very different process it would be forced upon the minority; they would have to accept it," he said.

President Defends Fourth of People. "They could reject it if they wished to," he said, "interrupted Mrs. Dorris. 'Yes, but the other fourth could not reject it,' said the President."

"Dr. President, don't you think that when the Constitution was made it was agreed when three-fourths of the

"I cannot say what was agreed upon. I can only say that I have tried to answer your question and I do not think it is quite proper that I submit myself to 'cross-examination,' continued the President.

DO YOU NEED BUILDING UP?

There are conditions of ill health in which no one particular organ appears to be at fault, yet the patient is miserable and unable to pursue the activities of daily life with vigor and enjoyment. Sometimes the cause is attributed to the imagination but the patient knows that the debility is real.

The remedy evidently is a medicine that will benefit the whole system rather than a part. The blood reaches everywhere and an improvement in its quality is quickly followed by an improvement in the whole organism. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills make a visible improvement in the condition of the blood. The microscope will verify this improvement but the patient can see it in the mirror as shown by increased color in cheeks and lips and added brightness of the eyes. There will also be a new elasticity in the step. These things record an improved tone in the body and for a reasonable length of time, dieting upon the degree of debility, the condition of ill health will be removed.

Those who are interested may obtain the pamphlet "Building Up the Blood" free on request from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. All druggists sell Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.
