Election Not Regarded Seriously.

Mexicans from the interior and just beyond the American lines do not regard seriously the elections held today. It is pointed out such elections could scarcely have any conclistory effect on the constitutionalists and never could be regarded as legal, since the government is powerless to comply with the provisions of the law that the votes be cast freely throughout the territory.

Daniel Frohman presented the rewned motion picture star, Carlyle Blackwell, in a melodramatic farce of romance, sea adventure, thrills and laughter, "The Spitfire," by Edward Peple, the author of "The Prince Chap." Papie, the author of "The Prince Chap."

It is a tale of love and daring which grips young and old with its delightfully irresistible appeal and its exciting blending of action, comedy and sentiment. Carlyle Blackwell, whose virility and artistic ability, combined with his captivating personality, has made him rank high in the list of young photoplay stars, plays the lead in this splendid photoplay, and has been surrounded with a most notable cast. "The Spitfire" is a most entertaining story of love, humorous incidents and mystery. It is a tale teeming with the joyousness of youth, and its daring achievements and the triumph of a strong arm and a brave heart, a story of the theft of a heart, a yacht and a case of jewels. Its humorout situations, together with its most absorbing dramatic element, makes this subject dramatic element, makes this subject certain to appeal and please all lovers of photoplays. This feature will run of photoplays. This feature will run until Thursday, when a complete change of programme will be shown. Coming next Sunday is Jack London's "In the Valley of the Moon."

because they regard the treaty as a criticism of two former Republican Ad-ministrations. Moreover, the $25,000,-000 payment is looked on as an unjusti-fiable extravagence.

Counter-Threat Made.

Not many days ago the Democrats of the foreign relations committee grew indignant because proceedings in their committee with regard to the Colom-bian and Nicaragua treaties had been bian and Nicaragua treaties had been reported in the newspapers. A threat was made to punish not only Senators who had given out information but newspaper men who printed the facts. That threat has created bad blood and in the cloakrooms there is a counter-threat of an investigation to determine why Colombia is now asking for $25.000,000 when it was willing to accept $8,000,000 under the Taft Administration.

The inquiry into committee leaks is strributed to Secretary of State Bryan, who was the most indignant man in Washington when he read of the disclosures, made presumably in confi-dence behind locked doors of the for-sign relations committee-room. Mr. Bryan had seen to it that information which he wished to become known had found its way into the newspapers, but this information was inconsequential compared with what got out over the protest of the Secretary.

Claim Multiplied by Three. Colombia is represented at Washington by a prominent Democratic attorney who long has been an intimate friend of the Secretary of State. Before the appearance of this attorney the little country from which Panama was sliced regarded $8,000,000 as ample compensation. When Mr. Douglas entered the case the claim jumped to $25,000,000. The State Department quickly agreed that the larger amount should be paid.
