THE younger members of exclusive society are anticipating a dancing party for which Wirt Minor is issuing invitations. The festivity will be held in the Waverly Country Club next Tuesday evening in compliment to Miss Ruth Teal.

A day or so later, Miss Teal will go to Tacoma to attend the debut party of Miss Anita Thorne, which will take place at the Chester Thorne country place, Thornewood, Miss Esther Tucker, of this city, will also be a guest at the same function. Miss Tuer left for Tacoma last night and attended the debut of Miss Martha Wagner, which was a brilliant event of last evening at the Country Club.

A garden reception and tea, following a bridge party, was the social complement extended yesterday afternoon by Mrs. Walter V. Smith to Mrs. Duval Taylor, of Salt Lake City, and Miss Helen Van Winkle, of San Francisco. The rooms were decorated with exquisite taste, harmonizing with and bringing out the beauty of the furnishings and hangings. Mrs. Elmer Clark, of Vancouver Barracks; Mrs. Joseph Nathan Teal and Mrs. Walter F. Burdell poured. Toasts were cut by Mrs. J. P. Dickson, Mrs. Thomas G. Haller, Mrs. Roger B. Sinnott and Mrs. Fay Catlin. Assisting were Mrs. Preston W. Smith, Miss Charlotte Laidlaw, Miss Margaret Laidlaw, Miss Ruth Teal, Miss Margaret Voorhies, Miss Katherine Hart and Miss Lesley Smith.

Mrs. W. L. Strough will entertain today at a unique affair. Travelogues will be given by several of the guests who have been abroad or who have made particularly interesting trips on this continent.

Miss Jamison and Mrs. Marion Jamison, of New York, are house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Alva Lee Stephens, for whose entertainment many delightful affairs have been given during the past two weeks.

A reception was given Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Verdenius and daughter Delight, of Clatsop, by Mrs. Ernest Nordstrom, Monday night, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Guy, 749 Belmont street. Mr. and Mrs. Verdenius formerly lived in Portland. Mrs. Verdenius has cherished an attachment for the place. Among the guests were Rev. and Mrs. John D. Niswender, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Morse, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Zeigler, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Henkle, Miss Flory Henkle, Mrs. Hoff, Miss Mary Hoff, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Strough, on the train for California yesterday.

Mrs. Winifred Merrill, principal of Oakes, a fashionable Eastport school, entertained a group of her former pupils yesterday at an elaborate luncheon at the Hotel Portland. Oak leaves and sweet peas decorated the table. The guests were: Mrs. Stewart Moore, Miss Mary Stuart Smith, Miss Katherine Nye, of Niagara Falls; Irene Stroubridge, Miss Gretchen Smith, Miss Sara McCully, Miss Clarice Bliss, Miss Dorothy Moulton, Miss Virginia Menefee, Miss Jean Brownlie and Miss Lynette Ferguson.

Mrs. J. C. Costello is entertaining Lieutenant Mrs. John Herman Hood. Mrs. Hood was formerly Miss Helen McHugh, of Seattle, and her marriage to the young Army officer was a recent social event in the Puget Sound city. The bride is a niece of Mrs. Costello. Miss Helen Baldwin, another charming niece, is also visiting at the Costello abode and will be the motif for a smart tea next week.

Miss Ruth Small has gone to Chicago to join Miss Louise Small, and together the sisters will visit relatives and friends in various Eastern cities.

Flowers and tokens of congratulation are finding their way to the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. Henri Labbe, whose household was gladdened July 4 by the arrival of a small son. Mrs. Labbe was formerly Miss Laura Lytle.

Mrs. Rose Coursen Reed left Portland Monday morning, and will spend the next three weeks in Los Angeles, the guest of her son, Harold Eugene Reed.

Mrs. Ludwig Wilhelm and daughter, Alice, left on Monday for Alaska. They will visit with relatives in Juneau before continuing their journey farther North. The home trip to Mount Rainier made until August. Miss Wilhelm will be one of the Portland girls who will enter Wellesley in September.

Mrs. J. Coulson Hare is visiting in New York, where she is registered at the Hotel McAlpin.

For the benefit of the Home for the Aged, East Thirteenth and East Stark streets, a delightful open-air vaudeville entertainment will be given on the evening of July 15. The grounds of the home will be illuminated with hundreds of electric lights. Refreshments will be served. The home may be reached by South or Mount Taylor cars. A special feature will be music by the Italian Band. Miss Dagmar Inez Kelly, the gifted young soprano, will sing. The quartet and others will appear. The general committee in charge of the affair consists of Fred Elfers, J. H. Gilhaug, T. J. Maloney, M. J. Chalmers, J. W. Loyte, T. J. Murphy, Charles Maser and Rev. Guy Quinan, C. S. P.

The entertainment committee consists of the following: John F. McEneaney, John Malley, J. P. Hart, F. C. Suran and Albert Breidlove.

WHAT ANNE RITENHOUSE SAYS

NEW YORK—The long line from neck to hips is an important adjunct of hot weather fashions. It must be obtained in some way, although the jump from the short waist will probably confuse everyone except those chameleon-like women who leap from fashion to fashion without hesitation. The lengthening of this line is more easily obtained than are some other fashions to which the whirligig has pointed. It does not require the changing of our measurements or corsets. All it demands is an entirely new kind of gown. The lines of frock, wrap, coat or waistcoat must be cut to conform to this new silhouette.

This surely is comforting news. We three finely chopped shallots. When they begin to color, add half a pint Spanish sauce, wine glass of sherry, ten fresh mushrooms which have been peeled and cut into bits, and salt and pepper to taste. Stir all together slowly for ten minutes, then add the lobster, a tablespoonful of parsley and a dash of nutmeg. Boil five minutes longer and serve. To make the Spanish sauce melt one ounce of butter, add to it one ounce of flour and stir over the fire until colored a good brown. Add half a pint of stock, half a carrot, one onion and a stalk of celery. Stir until it begins to boil, then let stew slowly for half an hour, when strain through a fine sieve.

Divorced Life

THE exotic color and tang of the Chinese restaurant furnish many with an escape from their habitual, humdrum environments. Its devotees nibble strange foods and fancy themselves on the other side of the earth. There is romance in that journey to Chinatown. Many a troth has been pledged at its teakwood tables. It is the proletariat that is chiefly given to hanging from the Chinese bars. Its crowds are composed of commoners. Its foods are not expensive, and its patrons are not exclusive.

Marion looked about her and saw clerks and shop girls, maids on rare outings in gaudy, tasteless finery, sprinklings of many nationalities gleamed from the motley East Side. Much bottled beer was being consumed. Loud laughing came from some of the tables.

"Not much like the Edgewood Club," smiled Barker.

"Hardly," said Marion. "Coming to a place like this once or twice a year does me good."

"It usually makes me giddy," returned Barker. "Reminds me of a very dear friend of mine who used to get sudden cravings for chop suey. My fiancée," he added, "poor girl, she used to ask for it at the hospital, where she was, for many weeks preceding her death."

"Oh," put in Marion. "She died?"

"I'm sorry," said Barker, searching Marion's countenance with dreamy, memory-haunted eyes.

"I see now why you have never married," observed Marion, sympathetically. "Despite your benevolence, you are a lucky man. Death must have fixed a stern lesson. There must be a tremendous satisfaction to you in having remained genuinely in love with this woman. Marriage, you know, is the best of love-cures. As a remedy for being in love, there's nothing like it."

"I've often thought that I might have made a great mistake had I married Jeanette—that was her name. As you say, love is often just a boy-and-girl affair that can't stand the test of marriage," demanded Barker, puzzled.

"Surely. But a woman usually marries because it's the only way to earn a living for both herself and her children. And even her training for that is invariably pitifully inadequate. A man hasn't even the excuse of the economic necessities of life. He merely yields to a passing impulse, shuts his eyes tight, disregards his own best interests, and plunges."

Barker laughed. "An ingenious description, but you don't mean all that," he said, shaking his head. "I wish Barker was right; she didn't. She had merely resolved to throw a number of cards on the table that might add interest to the game which had been played."

"Mean it!" she echoed. "I mean every word!"

It Is Not Price Only That Counts

Sift to the bottom any proposition which seemingly offers a Piano or Player Piano at a price below its value. Underneath every "phenomenal price reduction" lies future regret for the purchaser. By no magic can good material and high-class workmanship be turned into good pianos and sold at prices altogether out of proportion to their cost of production.

Our Pianos are worth no less this month than last; no more next month than this; they are built right—by the foremost factories in America—priced right and the greatest inducement for you to purchase here lies in their un-failing quality and the fact that every dollar invested with us buys One Hundred Per Cent in Piano Quality, Efficiency and Service. Easy Payments.

How to Beautify a Summer Soiled Face

It's really a simple matter to renovate a face soiled by sun, winds or dirt. Ordinary mercurized wax, used like cold cream, will transform the worst old complexion into one of snowy whiteness and velvety softness. It literally peels off the outer veil of surface skin, but so gently, gradually, there's no discomfort. The worst skin comes off, not in patches, but evenly, in tiny particles, leaving no evidence of the treatment. The younger, healthier under-skin forming the new complexion is one of capillary and tissue. One ounce of mercurized wax, to be had at any drug store, is enough to remove any tanned, reddened, pimpled, freckled or blotchy skin. Apply before retiring, washing it off mornings.

Many skins wrinkle easily with every wind that blows, with heat, worry, etc. An excellent wrinkle-remover, because it tightens the skin and strengthens relaxed muscles, is a wash lotion made as follows: Purplish salicylic acid, 10 grains; salicylic acid, 1 pt. This gives immediate results.—Adv.

How to Rid the Skin of Objectionable Hairs

(Aids to Beauty.) A simplified method is here given for the quick removal of hairy or fuzzy growths and rarely is more than one treatment required: Mix a stiff paste with some powdered delatone and water, apply to hairy surface and after 2 or 3 minutes rub off, wash the skin and every hair has vanished. This simple treatment cannot cause injury, but care should be exercised to get real delatone.—Adv.
