Portland cannot possibly displace the Angels as league leaders this week, even by winning a clean sweep of six games, but the locals can bunch the first division crowd if they play tight ball, and that's what McCredie is anxious to accomplish.

Portland's pitching staff holds up in the performance of the past fortnight, local fans can expect a corking series. Last week the flingers did nobly, holding the Seals to two runs per contest.

Happy Hogan attributes his recent slump to the slipping of his pitchers, but apparently his batting staff could also stand a few shots of strychnine.

Humphrey, Outclassed, Gets Only One Game of First Set—L. K. Richardson, Star of Last Meet, Defeats McAlpin.

BY RALPH J. STARKILL

The annual Oregon state tennis tournament opened yesterday on the Multnomah Club courts with the most representative list of entries in many years.

A generous representation is from outside the city, something which the officials have desired for years.

The California boys jumped to the front in the first matches.

Richard Roberts of San Francisco, simply outclassed Humphrey in a two-set match, which went to Roberts with Humphrey getting only one game of the first set.

The boys have everything. The semi-finals probably will be well spattered with young Californians.

Johns, who is Roberts' partner in the doubles, also has a fine record.

Richardson, the star of last tournament, started on the front by a decisive victory over McAlpin, whom he defeated 6-4, 6-0.

Richardson showed flashes of tennis which mark him well up in the ranks.

Roberts and Johns combined and played a startling doubles match with Lieutenants Hobson and Lentz. It was an easy victory, 6-1, 6-2.

Brother and Sister Play. A pretty mixed doubles match was that in which Misses Fordling and Callahan passed a critical point.

Callahan passed a critical point because he thought he had the umpire wrong.

Callahan all off his game and the Frohmans were kept out of all except one game.
