CROP PROSPECTS GOOD

World's Yield Promises to Equal That of Last Year, but Carry-over Will Be Less—Conditions in England.

There are no signs of activity in the hop market in any quarter. Buyers on the Coast and in the East are in a waiting mood, and exporters show no interest.

Crop prospects generally are from fair to good. Conditions in Europe and foreign, are almost identical with a year ago. It cannot be said, however, that the crop is safe, as there is opportunity in the next six weeks for material changes to occur.

Taking a broad view of the situation, it may be said that the world's yield promises, at the present time, to be the same as in 1913, and requirements will also be the same, but the market has this advantage over last year, the fact that the carry-over is only a third as large.

The Oregon yards are making a fine appearance. Very few vines have been found and there is hardly any spraying, except on the low lying lands.

The English crop, in the main, is doing well, according to the following detailed reports in the Kentish Observer, of July 2:

Asb-Next-Sandwich—The brilliant sunshine and higher temperature have greatly improved the crop which now looks like reaching at least an average quantity of very fruitful quality. Lice are kept under control by successive washings. The situation is still critical, as a heavy dew is expected until the leaves begin to show honey-dew. Barley can be found in the Early Whites and forward Bramblings. No mould as yet to be found.

Surveys in the district—The bine has made rapid development since the hot weather set in, and the burr is already coming out on the Early Whites. All the best cultivated plantations are giving excellent promise, and there should be an average crop of very fine quality. The bine is now practically clean, but washing has still been going on in some grounds during the present week.

Good-hurist district (Wend)—The drought and tropical heat are proving rather too much for the weaker bine, and the best cultivated grounds the bine is doing remarkably well and looks like growing a large crop. Vermis is still troublesome and some growers are especially anxious to get rid of it.

Madway Valley—All the well-established bine throughout the valley continues to look full of vigor and is evidently thriving in the hot weather, the weather has been undoubtedly benefit by rain. There is not so much washing being done now, though some fly is still found.

Fetham and Where the hops have been so thoroughly washed there is enough vermis to cause anxiety. The cultivation is very good in most grounds. Rain would do as much good, more especially in the young ones, which are beginning to show the effects of the drought.

Sturry—Hops show far too much honey-dew, the leaves and a typical honey-dew lack of vigor. The weather has at work continually. Rain is wanted at the bine law at a standstill and makes no progress. They do not look at all promising.

Surveys in the district—the grounds in the Farnham district the bine is progressing very satisfactorily under the influence of the hot weather, but in others there is not such a good appearance, which is also apparent a week ago, and rain is very much wanted. Washing was still in operation at the beginning of the present week, but in a good many grounds the bine has been so light that it has not been considered necessary to go to the expense of washing.

Worcestershire—The brilliant weather is having good effect on the bine, and the bine in the Worcester hop yards, and the Mathons and Bramblings are looking particularly well. Fugias, however, appear to be in want of more rain, especially in the young ones, which are beginning to show the effects of the drought.

Sturry—Hops show far too much honey-dew, the leaves and a typical honey-dew lack of vigor. The weather has at work continually. Rain is wanted at the bine law at a standstill and makes no progress. They do not look at all promising.

BOND PRICES ALSO DROP

Depression of These Issues Has Adverse Influence on General List. Shorts Help Along Declining Movement.

NEW YORK, July 15.—Unsettled, which at times verged upon demoralization, overtook today's stock market. New Haven was again the storm center, declining 5 1/2 points on steady offerings, individually small, but in the aggregate large enough to make that stock the most active of the day. New Haven dropped 9 1/2 points and the 4 1/2 of the New York Westchester, Boston, under New Haven's guarantee, were again weak.

It was not until the latter part of the day that the general recession set in, beginning with New York Central, which rapidly declined on what appeared to be bear selling. That stock also recorded its lowest price to date, the market at the close turned firm.

The bond market naturally reflected the weakness in stocks, with new low records of a few of the speculative issues. Total sales, by value, $1,028,000.

RUST IS SPREADING
Wider Wheat Area Is Attacked by Plague.

APPEARS IN MINNESOTA

Reports Cause Advances in Chicago Wheat Market Ranging From 7-8 to 1 3-8 Cents—Cables Are Also Bullish.

CHICAGO, July 15.—Black rust reports, more ominous than at any previous time this season, formed one of the leading causes for an advance in the price of wheat. The market prospects from 1 3/8 to 1 1/2¢ net higher. Corn gained 1/4 to 3/8¢; oats finished 1-16¢ out. Wheat up 7/8 to 1 1/2¢. The market was freely admitted that Minnesota fields, as well as those in South Dakota, showed serious inroads from black rust. Ad- vices were that the plague had traveled to within 50 miles of the border of North Dakota. The ravages in some places were said to be worse than in 1904, when the Spring crop throughout the Dakotas and Minnesota suffered widespread ruin. Bulletin cables helped keep wheat trading on the up grade from the start. Uneasiness in regard to threatened railroad strikes counted against the bears.

Failure of predicted rains and Argentine weather reports were also factors. Enlargement of country offerings tended to check any decided upturn for oats. Provisions followed the course of the hog market. There was a dip at the outset, but later it was noticeable that stockyard receipts had taken to the buying side.

The leading futures ranged as follows:

Joe Knowles, Without Matches, to Plunge into Forest.
NATURE MAN TO REMAIN 60 DAYS IN WILDS, Gaining Food, Shelter and Clothing With Sole Aid of Two Hands.

GRANTS PASS, Or., July 15.—(Special.)—Joe Knowles, artist-nature man, and party returned here today. They are enthusiastic over the outlook for the ideal locality and conditions under which Knowles shall attempt again to show to the world that man can live in the woods in a primitive manner and did not procure food and protect and provide clothing for oneself with only such weapons as nature gave him.

Knowles claims to know the woods and the wild animals that inhabit them better than any other living civilized man. He claims to be able to gather, prepare and eat a wide variety of herbs, roots and plants, all of which practically are unknown to the ordinary man or householder.

Knowles believes his experience, if successful, and he fully expects it to be, will prove of great scientific benefit and give the younger generation a valuable object lesson as well. The entire party will return to the vicinity of the Josephine County caves, from where the start is to be made Thursday, when supplies and equipment are to be packed and put in a breechcloth, without so much as a match with which to kindle a fire.

Walterman, of the University of California, will be the nearest man to Knowles during the stay in the woods, for the purpose of the work is to determine in properly carried out, at the same time remaining far enough away to not interfere with Knowles in any way, while continuing to work their primitive man, but to be in the event of the party from the haunts of the woods. The remainder of the party will remain in camp, near the starting place.

Mother, Ill, Would See Son.
COTTAGE GROVE, Or., July 15.—(Special.)—Inquiry was received yesterday by H. Bigelow for Joe Hill, a former employee, stating that Mr. Hill's mother is ill at her home in Georgia. Mr. Hill is thought to be in Portland, and Mr. Bigelow will endeavor to locate him. Money was inclosed to pay Mr. Hill's fare to his mother's bedside.

After studying the subject of the suppression of noises in dwellings for several years, the market has decided that the more solidly buildings are constructed the more quickly they will convey sounds.
