

MORE POWER GIVEN TRADE COMMISSION

Senate Committee Decides to Leave Definition of "Unfair Competition" in Hands.

COURT REVIEW PROVIDED

Federal Body to Order Cessation of Practices Found Unlawful.
Holding Company Section of Clayton Bill Undecided.

WASHINGTON, July 17.—Senate committee took another grip today on the administration's anti-trust legislative program and made some progress on the Clayton bill, the measure to regulate securities of common carriers and the trade commission bill.

While the interstate trade commission bill was under discussion again in the Senate, vigorously criticized by Senator Works, of California, the interstate commerce committee had it under advisement and practically agreed to amend the section which would make unlawful "unfair competition." Much criticism, even within the party, had been made to the vagueness of this section, the contention being advanced that it is too general in its terms, and that it would result in endless court action for interpretation.

Power Given to Commission.
The amendment proposed and, according to Senator Newlands, chairman, practically agreed on in committee, would authorize the proposed trade commission to determine what constitutes unfair competition, and to order it stopped when determined. In each case there would be a full court review as to the facts and the law.

While the committee made some progress on the bill which would give the Interstate Commerce Commission power to regulate the interstate securities by common carriers, the question whether the Commission should be empowered to determine to what use funds realized by carriers from issues of securities had been used still is undetermined.

Report Will Be Delayed.
It will be several days before the bill can be reported to the Senate.

The judicial committee, in its consideration of the Clayton bill, decided that the section of the measure relating to holding companies, which had been tempered by the committee several days ago, should be made stronger, but it has not been able as yet to amend the section to its satisfaction.

COURT AIDS MRS. NELMS

Telegrams Exchanged by Mrs. Dennis and Innes to Be Produced.

ATLANTA, Ga., July 17.—Court action was taken here today in connection with the mysterious disappearance of Mrs. Elsie Nelms Dennis and Miss Beatrice Nelms, who are a nationwide search is being made.

Judge George L. Bell, of the Superior Court, signed an order directing telegraph companies to turn over to Mrs. John W. Nelms, of this city, mother of the missing woman, all telegrams which may have passed during the last three months between Mrs. Nelms and Victor E. Innes, former Assistant United States District Attorney in Nevada, and any other telegrams which might aid in solving the mystery of the disappearance.

The court also appointed Mrs. Nelms temporary receiver of the estate of Miss Beatrice Nelms, who has large property holdings.

FENCE BARS BEACH TRAVEL

Volunteers Build New Road When Railway Cuts Off Old Route.

RAY CITY, Or., July 17.—(Special.)—Twenty-five men responded to the call for volunteers to build a new stretch of road to connect the short strip cut off from the main road at Ocean Lake. The road, now being built, will be a track for a few hundred feet, and the company decided to stop traffic there, and fenced off the road running along the right of way. This stopped all vehicle traffic on the upper beach and made it decidedly inconvenient for those coming to their summer homes in autos.

After a few hours' work the volunteers completed a temporary road around the piece fenced off and traffic was resumed.

TILLAMOOK FISHING GOOD

Big Run Expected and Fair Prices
Are Predicted.

RAY CITY, Or., July 17.—(Special.)—Midnight marked the opening of the fishing season on Tillamook Bay. Almost every fisherman who intends to operate during the season was at work after an enforced idleness of several months. Several fair catches were made.

Present indications are that there will be a big run this season. A ready market was found for the first fish at the summer resorts in the immediate vicinity of the bay.

Several concerns are in the field this season for the purchase of this year's catch, and it is probable that a fair price will be paid.

ROSEBURG WANTS RAILWAY

City Willing to Bond Itself for $300,000 to Get Sea Line.

ROSEBURG, Or., July 17.—(Special.)—With a view of furnishing an incentive whereby capital can be induced to construct a railroad between Roseburg and Marshfield, the city has decided to call a special election here in October to issue bonds in the sum of $300,000.

These bonds, according to the agreement among the voters, are not to be sold until there is absolute assurance that the road will be built. As soon as any responsible individual or corporation will furnish the people here a sufficient bond that the road will be constructed the amount of $300,000 will be turned over as part payment for its construction and equipment.

ASYLUM OFFERED HUERTA

Mexico to carry at least some of the party to Jamaica.

Senora Huerta and Senora Blanquet were aboard the Bristol and did not see their husbands.

Huerta in Working Mood.
Huerta appeared tired and bored, and was in no cheerful mood. His chief of staff piled before him and Blanquet a great stack of telegrams, and they plunged into work, with their secretaries at their side.

Huerta was in one of his working moods, and with coat again off, settled down to his task much as if he were back at his desk in the palace or at home.

He had greeted his sons earlier in the evening, but not in any demonstrative fashion.

All arrangements were made early in the day for the reception of Huerta and Blanquet, and the stage was so set that they could enter the city and board the Bristol or Bristol and put out to sea so quickly as to rob their flight of all dramatic elements. Tracks were laid so that the special train could pull along the wharf close to the water, and the ex-president and ex-minister of war would thus be enabled to reach a launch in less than a dozen steps.

Plans Not Indicated.
None of the messages sent to Huerta's wife or to General Camarena commanding the special guard here indicated Huerta's plans. Not even the captains of the German and British vessels had definite instructions. They were to leave the decision to Huerta himself. It is generally believed, however, that Huerta and Blanquet will go aboard the Dresden, and the other refugees, including Senora Huerta and Senora Blanquet, aboard the Bristol, and that both cruisers will proceed for Jamaica or Havana.

It was a day of sharp anxiety for the older members of the party, especially the wives of the two men who were passing through a country where a considerable number of revolutionists are known to be operating. They could not rid themselves of the fear that the revolutionists would in some way seek revenge on their husbands. Both were downcast and unresponsive to the efforts of the children and others to arouse their spirits.

LYNCHERS' CLEW BARED

SACK TIED TO MOB'S VICTIM GIVES IDENTITY OF OWNER.

Residents Sympathize With Slayers, but Are Reticent—Dead Man's Name Still Is Mystery—Child Says It's Walter.

BAKER, Or., July 17.—(Special.)—Evidence which may result in the arrest of the men who were in the lynching party near Audrey yesterday developed today at Whitney at the Coroner's inquest over the body of the lynched man, who still is unidentified.

The slain man was cut down from the limb of a tree 20 feet above the ground. His feet were found to have been tied with a grain sack. On this sack was painted some letters indicating the ownership of the sack, and the hands, tied behind the back, were found to be tied with a rope bound with a brass handle which it is believed can be traced.

Witnesses at the inquest were Bart Hardman, father of the little girl on whom an alleged criminal attack was attempted, George Tureman and John Hardman, District Attorney Godwin, Deputy Sheriff Jackson and Coroner West were present. The body was taken to Whitney.

Residents of the district sympathize with the lynchers and are reticent to give evidence.

The child said at the inquest that the man who tried to attack her gave the sack to her father and said he was from Washington. At the ranch he had told, on applying for work, that he was from Michigan.

The father of the child, who took part in the lynching is not known. Mr. Hardman saw one man, his daughter saw another standing upright and other Deputy Sheriff Jackson and Coroner West were present. The body was taken to Whitney.

EX-IOWANS HAVE REUNION

More Than 100 Gather at Albany
Chautauqua on State's Day.

ALBANY, Or., July 17.—(Special.)—More than 100 former residents of Iowa living in and near Albany held a big reunion at the Albany Chautauqua this afternoon, for this was "Iowa day" at the assembly. It was a reunion and reception for the young men and women composing the Glee Club of Simpson College, of Indianola, Ia., which gave a program.

H. M. Crooks, president of Albany College, gave the principal lecture of the forenoon session, talking on "The Theater and Social Problems." The remainder of the forenoon was devoted to class work.

The feature of tomorrow's session will be the appearance of the Portland Ad Club Concert Company.

FURNITURE TO BE MADE

Albany Plant to Be Taken Over and Reopened by Portland Man.

ALBANY, Or., July 17.—(Special.)—Fletcher Linn, a manufacturer of Portland, will take over the plant of the Union Furniture Manufacturing Company, of Albany, it was announced today, following a meeting of Albany citizens who invited Mr. Linn to take the plant. The factory has long been idle.

High-class furniture will be made from oak, maple and ash grown in this part of Oregon. The original company, which went into bankruptcy, was a cheap grade of furniture unsuccessfully.

BRIDGE BOND BIDS ASKED

Clarke Commissioners Order Advertisment of $500,000 Issue.

VANCOUVER, Wash., July 17.—(Special.)—The County Commissioners today ordered the advertisement for bids for the $500,000 worth of bonds for the building of Clarke County's share of the Columbia River interstate bridge. The advertisements will ask for bids for the entire issue and for $250,000.

The bids will be opened September 14.

Since the bonds were voted, August 12, 1913, the Hon. Marshall, clerk of the joint bridge commission, has received inquiries from more than 50 different bond buyers, and from some of them as many as a dozen times.

250 VOTE RIGHTS FIXED

Board's Action Upheld by Court
Relative to Large Tract.

SALEM, Or., July 17.—(Special.)—State Engineer Lewis announced that the largest and most important adjudication made by the State Water Board, which comprises 25,000 acres of land and water rights valued at more than $1,000,000, had been confirmed by the Circuit Court of Crook County.

The adjudication comprises about 250 rights to water of Crooked River, a number of which were initiated more than 50 years ago.

By the use of steel instead of brass in rifle cartridges the Germans are increasing the number of rounds of ammunition that a soldier can carry from 120 to 160.

KNOWLES IS EAGER FOR LIFE IN WILDS

Battle Facing 'New Mowgli' in Strange Forests Real Test of Nature Man's Career.

OREGON PLANTS UNKNOWN

Possessed With All Subtle Instincts of Indian, Intrepid Man "With Mission" Will Find Food Problem Is Most Serious.

GRANTS PASS, Or., July 17.—(Special.)—Joseph Knowles, another Mowgli, is ready to lose himself in the wilds of Southern Oregon and begin his month-long struggle with nature. He is eager to commence his battle with a strange wilderness under never and harder conditions than he ever faced before.

His resources will be his knowledge of woodcraft and such primitive weapons as he can fashion with his bare hands. He must find subsistence and clothe himself during his exile, which will last one month. If, for any reason, the test is inconclusive at the end of that time he declares himself willing to prolong the experience.

Start Alone Occurs Monday.

He will plunge into the forest next Monday, alone. Professor Waterman, of the University of California faculty, will see that he complies with all the rigorous conditions agreed upon.

Joseph Knowles faces a much harder task in his attempt to live without weapons, fire, food or clothing than he did a year ago, when he spent two months in the Maine woods for his book, "The Life of a Hunter." He does not know their trees and edible plants, save those that also are common on the Atlantic shore.

He was born in the Maine woods and never had shoes on his feet until he was 14 years old. His mother taught him all the lore of the Indians. He is an expert at rifle and deer for food, and he knows the uses of the deer for thread with which to sew skins together for clothing. The use of plant fibres to make snares and traps for animals is known to him. He can make moccasins, and start a fire by means of sticks rubbed together. He prides himself that he can make wigwag of bark better than any Indian.

Strange Plants Are Problems.

If he fails to find proper plant materials in the woods, he will face a more serious handicap than a failure to find game. For he must seek snare for animals, as it is his life to keep a man out of a deer. He must outwit the animals if he is to keep his promise to clothe himself and keep well fed. Strong legs are needed to keep him from being found an old friend in the cedar, from whose bark he can strip long ribbons, light and strong, that will serve many purposes.

The nature man expects to send out messages to the newspapers from his wilderness. He said he would write them on bark back with a sharp stick, and leave them where they would be found by those keeping watch of his movements. But he will not find the birch tree there, as he has no substitute. Perhaps he can scratch letters on the big fungus which grows on decaying tree trunks, or else he may find a leaf that will provide a leaf-like wrapping of the spruce of the Maine woods.

Man Inured With "Mission."
Knowles has the idea firmly fixed in his mind that he is a man with a mission. He hopes to impress upon people everywhere that they are missing the most important education in neglecting nature. He says he believes his work will lead people, choked by city smoke, back to a saner life.

He hopes to return to the world the things which people have forgotten as they have advanced from the days of savagery. He has found that what he learns in not found in books, although, from his point of view, it is of greater value than most bound volumes contain.

Knowles makes the assertion that he knows the woods better than any living man in the civilized world. He says instinct guides him almost as truly as it does the hunter, which he styles our lesser brothers. Nor does he kill for the fun of killing. Only for necessary food and skins will he kill while in the Oregon woods during the coming month.

Birds and Beasts His Friends.
Wild animals, he says, are his friends. He hopes to tame a few while in the mountains and bring them out with him when his self-imposed exile from civilization is over. He boasts that he can sit down under a tree and in an hour birds will come to him, so that he can teach them and they will not fly away in fear.

So Knowles expects to unfold the simple story of nature for a people who have forgotten it. He looks forward to the start with impatience and declares he will win.

"I will show that I am as good as the man of the stone age," he declares. "And nature has spread the same table."

TIMBER FIRE IN HAND

Conflagration Fought by Loggers
Burns Trestle but Forest Saved.

MARSHFIELD, Or., July 17.—(Special.)—A fire which had been burning for the past two days in the McDonald and Vaughan logging camp, in the Blue Ridge country, is said to be under control.

None of the camps was destroyed. About 700 feet of ties on a long trestle were burned.

The loss is estimated at several thousand dollars, and the full force of both camps was employed two days and nights in fighting the flames. No timber was damaged.

INMATES GET POSITIONS

Training School Teacher Finds Work for Charges.

SALEM, Or., July 17.—(Special.)—Miss Clara Ahlgren, a teacher of the State Training School for Girls, has obtained positions in Portland for both inmates of the school. She also is negotiating with a Silverton family for a position for one of the girls.

Miss Ahlgren has obtained positions for a number of former inmates of the institution.

Man Seeking State Police Job.

Replying to a letter from W. A. Shaffer, of Medford, asking if he intended placing motorcycle police on the Pacific Highway, Secretary of State Olcott today wrote that he had nothing to do with policing public highways. It was the second inquiry received recently by the Secretary of State regarding his having public highways policed. Mr. Shaffer wrote that he would like to be appointed a "motorcycle cop" in case Mr. Olcott planned putting a check on "speeders."

BEGGAR ATTACKS WOMAN

Mrs. Scott, of Salem, Beaten Unconscious at Door of Home.

SALEM, Or., July 17.—(Special.)—Mrs. W. R. Scott, wife of a well-driller, was attacked by a man last night at the door of her house and beaten until unconscious.

Hearing someone at the door and thinking it was her husband, Mrs. Scott opened it. The man asked for money, and when it was refused he struck her. Mrs. Scott struck back with a stick of wood, but the man overpowered her and escaped.

She was found by her husband about half an hour later. Her injuries are not serious, a physician said. Nothing was taken from the house.

ALBANY, Or., July 17.—(Special.)—Three men were taken from a freight train which the man who attacked Mrs. G. E. Scott, in Salem last night, is believed to have boarded, and are being held here on the suspicion that one may be the man wanted.

A charge of stealing a ride on a freight train has been preferred against the three and they will be held until Mrs. Scott is able to come here to look at them.

FEDERAL CHARGE IS MADE

Companion of Supposed Victim of Disaster Accused as "Slaver."

SAN BERNARDINO, Cal., July 17.—Federal officers today took charge of E. A. Hensen, of Toronto, Canada, who was arrested yesterday by the county authorities on the charge of bringing Mrs. Willets, supposed to have been a victim of the Empress of Ireland disaster, to Ontario.

R. J. Donohue, District Attorney, dismissed the charge in the County Court against Hensen, who was taken to Los Angeles. The Federal officers asked that Mrs. Willets and H. K. Hosen, third member of the party, be held in jail here, pending investigation of the alleged violation by Hensen of the Mann white slave act.

The police assert Mrs. Willets deserted her husband and four children in Toronto, telling them she intended to take passage on the Empress of Ireland, but coming to California instead. She said today her husband was to blame because of his treatment of her.

SALES ALONE TO GOVERN

Butter and Egg Board Restrained
From Publishing Prices.

CHICAGO, July 17.—An injunction restraining the Chicago butter and egg board from publishing prices was granted today by Judge Landis in the federal court. The board is forbidden to fix prices above the market price for butter and eggs.

The government contended that by publishing prices on the commodities the butter and egg board artificially created prices higher than the market price and violated the Federal law prohibiting all acts in restraint of trade.

The government suit against the Chicago board is similar to the recent action against the Elgin Board of Trade, which resulted in the entering of a decree directing that actual sales alone should be quoted and no attempt to fix prices should be made by what was known as the price committee.

STAVE WHISKY HARD HIT

Court Upholds Revenue Collector's
Prohibitory Requirement.

CHICAGO, July 17.—The future manufacture of whisky from the staves of barrels in which the liquor had aged was handicapped today by Federal Judge Landis, who dismissed the federal law prohibiting the Western Extraction Company against the Collector of Internal Revenue.

"Barrel stave" whisky is made by extracting from the staves the whisky which has been absorbed and adding alcohol. Two years ago the Internal Revenue collector ruled against making this kind of whisky would have to prove a tax was paid on the whisky which the barrels contained or pay a second tax. The order virtually forced the companies out of business. It said, and an injunction restraining the government from enforcing the order was sought. This petition was denied today.

TWO COMPANIES IMMUNE

Hardwood Concerns Not Under Compensation Law Is Ruling.

SALEM, Or., July 17.—(Special.)—Attorney-General Crawford, in an opinion asked by the State Industrial Accidents Commission, has held that the Belcher Hardwood Company and the Portland Hardwood Floor Company, of Portland, do not come within the act making the workmen's compensation act, the work of their employees not being hazardous and not being in connection with machinery.

Mr. Crawford in another case held that the owner of a building in the course of construction was the real contractor and automatically liable for the operation of the workmen's compensation act.

COUPLE WED SECRETLY

MISS EVE STINSON BRIDE OF WEALTHY EUGENE MAN.

Former Instructor in Vocal Music at Oregon University Surprises Parents With Wedding.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 17.—(Special.)—Newman I. Fitzhenry, a wealthy lumberman and rancher of Eugene, Or., today married Miss Eve Irene Stinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Stinson, 2527 Le Conte avenue, Berkeley.

The marriage took place in this city and was not made known to the bride's family until they received a telephone message from Mr. Fitzhenry today.

Miss Stinson formerly lived at Eugene and in 1908 was married to Loris M. Johnson, son of the first president of the University of Oregon. The marriage was kept secret for five years and became generally known only last August, when she sued Johnson for divorce. The divorce was granted in September and Mrs. Johnson resumed her maiden name.

Members of the Stinson family said the bride and bridegroom were old friends and that the engagement had continued for some time.

EUGENE, Or., July 17.—(Special.)—Newman I. Fitzhenry is a man of independent means who has lived in Lane County the past eight years. His marriage is a surprise to his friends here and also a surprise to the friends and relatives of the bride. Mr. Fitzhenry recently told a friend that he was leaving for Canada. The courtship began in Eugene more than a year ago. Miss Stinson was instructor of vocal music in the University of Oregon school of music for several years and is prominent in Eugene and Portland society.

Mr. Fitzhenry came here in 1906 and bought a 200-acre ranch on the McKenzie River, 30 miles from Eugene, on which he lived as a country estate. Two years later he sold it at a profit and bought another ranch of several hundred acres on the McKenzie near Coburg. He is an active sportsman, an enthusiastic horseman and hunter and a timber expert. As a good roads enthusiast, he was one of the organizers of the Eugene Road Builders' Association. He made good roads a leading issue in a recent campaign for the Republican nomination for County Commissioner, in which he was unsuccessful.

The meeting will be held at the office of the Non-Partisan League, Northwestern Bank building, at 10 o'clock.

Each organization has voted to make a thorough investigation of the present county administration. Today's meeting is to arrange for joint work.

Members of the committee from the Taxpayers' League are Dr. J. G. Gray, Leo Friede, C. D. Mahaffie and Paul Seely. The committee from the Non-Partisan League is composed of Amedee M. Smith, George Lawrence, Jr., D. A. Pattullo and George Mason. A joint chairman of the two committees probably will be named today. The investigation probably will be started next week.

Action of both organizations in the investigation was taken at the request of County Commissioner Holman.

CHICAGO, July 17.—"Ministers can do more good for humanity by getting out on a back lot and playing with the boys, than by going to the suburbs and golfing with men," Rev. W. S. Fleming declared today at the preachers' forum at the Des Plaines camp meeting.

"Tear up the carpet in the church basement and get out there skating, playing and entertaining, inaugurate an employment bureau. There are a hundred things the church can do to help humanity and gain thereby."

The speaker is pastor of the Lincoln-street Institutional Church.
