Notwithstanding this humiliating surrender, which was more than Europe expected of the little nation, the Austrian government today gave the Servian minister his passports which may be construed as a virtual declaration of war. Austria also committed an act of war by arresting the chief of the Servian general staff, General Putnik, near Budapest, but he was soon released by the Emperor's direct command.

Armies May Be Closing In.

A formal declaration of war is not expected, because Servia is not a party to The Hague convention, which requires this. The suspension of all parliamentary and judicial institutions have been decreed in Austria and an ironclad censorship has drawn a cordon of secrecy around the country, so that the outside world is in complete ignorance of everything happening there, except what the government wants the world to know.

Even now the Austrian army may be closing in upon Servia and delivering a sudden blow, as Japan did when she sent her fleet against the Russian ships without warning.

Austrians Ordered Home While Austria announces a "partial mobilization," the Austrian Ambassador at London has issued a significant notice to all Austrians liable for military service to return home.

The only possibility of averting war is that at the eleventh hour Servia shall reconsider her reply to the Austrian note and bow to all the demands. Even then Austria proposes to exact payment for all her expenses in connection with her military measures.

Russia's Attitude Crucial Feature. The question whether Russia will take up arms to save her Slav protege from a crushing blow is the crucial feature of the situation on which the peace of all Europe hinges. The same degree of secrecy which Austria has imposed has been estab-lished in Russia also; therefore it cannot be known what military preparations are in progress there. they would forward the request. In return, Germany invited the Cabinets of London and Paris to do their utmost to keep Russia in check. An official St. Petersburg message says that hopes are still entertained there that peace may be preserved. TROUTDALE, Or., July 26 .- (Special.)-Campers thought they had extinguished an open fire near the east end of Troutdale today, but were mistaken and at 5:30 o'clock tonight the fire spread into the brush and for a time menaced the bridge over the Sandy River, threatening to gain a hold in the brush timber.

Passersby on a motorcycle discovered the spreading flames and reported it to Jean Larson, in charge of the tele-phone office here, and Mr. Larson immediately telephoned Sheriff Word at Portland. The Sheriff rushed 17 prisoners from Kelley Butte and within PUBLIC an hour the flames were controlled The prisoners had to work hard and fast, however, to check the flames, digging trenches, throwing up dirt banks and otherwise blocking the path of the King's Own Scottish Borderers, Sent to Capture Arms, Shoot Tormentors and Are Now Confined as Protection From People.

DUBLIN, July 26 .- Three men and one woman are dead and more than 60 persons are in the hospital wounded as a result of a battalion of the King's Own Scottish Borderers' firing into a mob in the streets of Dublin today Seven of the wounded are expected to die. Among them are three women and a boy of 10.

The affray came as a consequence o a gun-running exploit of the Nationalist Volunteers, who were being aided by a mob composed largely of women and youths. A consignment of rifles, said to number 10,000, was landed last night at Howth, nine miles from Dublin, from a private yacht.

Nationalists Stop Travel on Roads. The Nationalist Volunteers cut the telegraph wires and stopped travel on the Dublin roads, and according to reports, sent away most of the rifles, together with 79,000 rounds of amnunition, in motor cars.

A battalion of the King's Own Scottish Borderers was ordered to capture the arms today when the authorities heard the Volunteers were bringing them into the city. The soldiers encountered a detachment of volunteers at Clonmel Bridge and an outbreak resulted, but there was no shooting. Soon a great crowd collected and SAN FRANCICO, July 26.—Madame followed the troops, jeering them and Montesorri, the Roman authority on cheering for John Redmond, the Nationalist leader, and home rule.
